A Treatise On Ethical Solipsism

by

J. J. Barger
We live in a time of great anguish, we entail more than enough food to go around, yet we consume too much and waste too much, where some feast like kings while others starve lower than paupers. We have information at our fingertips but cannot or will not apply it, or are unable, so to say, make use of it. Technology is useful and useless at the same time. Other times, we’re unsure of what to do with it or whether its in the hands of itself. The steering wheel is turning but nobody’s driving. we lose touch with our roots, in mother earth while reaching for unspeakable heights in the sky. Women are told "you do what makes you happy" while men are told "do the right thing". Aristotle and Schopenhauer would scoff at such a world but for different albeit somewhat similar reasons.

But who am I kidding? Live for today, the hippies said in the grand 1960s when everything was possible. The baby boomers took the bull by the horns but dismembered it with their bare hands. And we have to pick the pieces up. A wise man once said "A friend to all is a friend to none". But in the age of Trump and a democratic party that doesn't know its ass from a hole in ground, does reality even exist? what is today? what is anything? do friends even exist? does your family exist? or are we not only condemned to die alone, but live alone as well.

This is not a self-help book, this is not a solution. This is a means to an end, as Machiavelli saw the government, you should see it, as an individual. Stirner would see opportunity. Marx would see community. I see nothing, and everything at once. When you were a child, the world was full of possibilities. Now its drudgery, pain, suffering. But that’s what we live for? To fill a child’s mind with such damaging brainwaves would condemn him or her to sit in a corner, clutching their pearls as a dark shadow of the inevitable glooms over them. individualists have claimed (as Ayn Rand) that objectivity is important, Stirner was against such things but ultimately felt that as long as altruism was involved, no harm no foul. But we are none of either. Everything is a matter of opinion, and we, deep down, really only care for ourselves. Women, in particular, are victims of this mindset. What they fear is seeing this through their looking glass, the same they use to appeal to vanity, for social acceptance, though twisted as in the funhouse at your local amusement park on bright summer days, thrown back at them as if Alice fell down the well into a primitive state of being, the huntress becoming the hunted. Our roots reborn.

Chapter I:
The Prototype Prodigy

As A Young man, I was always a seeker of knowledge, particularly history, I loved playing devil’s advocate for any sort of reason. science, language, all interesting subjects. wasn’t much of a math person. As a student, I was a slacker and felt everything was limiting. Politically I was pretty humanist and liberal until the early 1990s when my father handed me Rush Limbaugh’s "The Way Things Ought To Be", It was the "Art Of The Deal” of the 90s, though not as well received. After all this was the 1990s, where Social Justice in the form of identity issues rather than rocky old economics started to rear its ugly head. Also there was Waco, yeah about that. I went through a weird, and quite offputting phase which coincided with my burgeoning conservatism, a love of religious cults. and the ultimate red pilling: feminism. doomed to be a social outcast I hid it from my peers.

So lets fast forward to the present, where Socialism has become part of my vernacular of political thought, a love for simultaneous accelerationism and deep ecology, but with a social conservative outlook that hasn’t changed since then. If individualism backed itself into a corner, its become in and of itself, a tool for radicals. No longer is anyone bound by ethnicity, class (although the latter is somewhat quite precendent), but an overwhelming urge to rise above reality and escape to a world that suits our own minds, out of mental and spiritual hell, into a spiritual utopia.

with Sicilion valley feeding us dopamine via electronic codes, where can we escape. we're no longer social in the traditional manner, bustling cafes, schoolhouses, workplaces, but locked into the prison of technology. We don't have to believe in anything that doesn't suit how we feel, in fact, the opposite, we must take advantage of this and use it to our own ends, even if that means people disappear, for better nature takes over and leaves the survivors behind to rebuilt. To kill useless people, to create chaos, so that maybe, just maybe our world can reduce the number of consumers and providers to a small minority so that humans can actually "live life" instead of just merely existing.
As Be Jesus Christ, who saved the world from sin, we must save ourselves from ourselves. the sin of today is that of commerce, vanity, validation, not too disimilar to Jesus' time. but with Technology being such a large factor, the professionalism of prisons, albeit as corrupt in twine, a never ending nervous system that is succeeding yet failing, barbed wire communications, it entagles every inch of our daily lives we don't give it much notice. we don't notice we are slaves. in the United States alone, you can't have a house without money, but you can't work if you don't have a house, college is expensive but even the lowest paying jobs require degrees. The Baby boomers will tell us, if we try, we will succeed, but this system is complex, the physicians can't operate the physics. How to be free is another task. We have prisons for those that break the code only to transfer to the jail of life, an open air conundrum.

Many men strive to be great only because we assess ourselves to the fairer sex so we can further our lives and carry on our genes. Few can support themselves, fewer yet a relationship and only a small percentage can manage family & marriage. Women want it all, but they soon will find themselves grasping at the spectre of the invisible man, a man who does not exist. Erich Fromm was correct in assessing a lot of the issues of romance, but got it wrong. neither either or is a substitute for either. How do we suppress the tyranny of women? by acting in our own self-interest, but not for anything objectively correct, and not for altruism because when have women have been either?
The problem lies in our essentialized nature to be violent. But this is not a bad thing. Violence is progress, says Hegel, the everychanging landscape is due to violence, violence due to protect our families, our women or to gain the trust of conquered women. But women are just beings, we are doings. We make history, they reap the rewards. But hence, what if we do us to reap our own rewards instead of handing it over to women, and never ending cycle of targeted violence, because as women are barers of life, we must take some away. overpopulation and stress kill humanity. Lets deduce those numbers, shall we?

To Begin, we see technology as the head of Medusa, which in Greek mythology was beheaded by Persius, Freud incorrectly saw his act an act of castration, by lord almighty, women may be life givers, but they can take away life just as easy, so this is not an apt metaphor in modern day society. If anything, Technology and cosmopolitanism is inherently feminine, Diogenes aside who took shit from no one and consumed little of its poison as possible. What we need to do is sever the cords, the snakes of her hair, the wires which bind us to a life of servitude. Any sort of cyberattack into the nerves and barbed wires of snakes of the every reaching technological serpents to send that into a shock, every little bit counts, to sap the power of the head, before we can claim the head as our own trophy for destroying the society that has been wrought upon us, the demon temptress.

Nowadays, organizing publically is no longer feasible, the attack is within this assumed reality we now live in, that consumes our lives and jobs and lays down our determined path of existence. We alone must deem what is truthful for men on an individual, not group basis, and act unilaterally, behind anonymity, whenever possible, each passing of man into another dimension births another to nip at the snakes like ants on a dying corpse of feminine, cosmopolitan energy.

Many will lament the apologetics of "cops are comrades, military servicemen are comrades" but they too suffer from being sucked into vaginal cavity of being assimilated into the machine. We must keep our wits about us, but lest it not be said "nothing is true", but "I and I alone dictate what is true" casualties are a means to an end, to eat the disease of technology from within and without, unilaterally but in consanance not dissonance, but changing the tactics so to keep the system second guessing the motives (or lack thereof) of Hegel's "war is progress" motto.
I always irked at Nick Land's idea of the godhead A.I. and preferred more natural methods. Who's to say an A.I. doesn't become self-aware and devour its servants, machines are imperfect, just as man, as they are not God or your idea of God/Gods. If one must command it must be a natural God, of Earth and soil, sky and space. A merger, if you will. God is a man. God is immutably omnipotent. We did not create him, as some say. He is in and of himself. To reach his level we must start at the lowest level of act, Ethical Solipsism, to reach higher planes of existence but we must entangle ourselves from Medusa's snakes and deal with the material before the spiritual.

Chapter III:
Humans Must Be Forced To Get Along

If humanity is worth salvaging, we need a newer more benevolent master from above, that is not of technology but of blood and soil. One thing that always bugged me about Europeans is how inbred we but also how we are mutts. That makes not one iota of sense. You may have your chauvinism of perfect ethnic lines but we have the chauvinism of turning ourselves into creatures of monstrous proportions. Let say I, continue down the path of degeneracy into deformity, pure Lovecraftian abominations of superhuman strength and filth and violence. Democracy is a failed system as much as water is wet. That needn't be said. the will of the people, though is valuable, but we must choose when to act in unison or unilaterally, and adjust our tactics to the current situation, the turgid worm turning itself into the never-ending ourborous of devourment and rebirth, to infect a system that a virus itself.

Last few months I've been seeing tech companies turn on its users for "wrongthink". To believe CEOs are smart is one thing, clever they are not. the abortion bans throughout the south is damage control, to create criminal monstrosities that will tear asunder the non playing character’s reality through the green screen. If the South is to rise, it will be mutated into something gross, something turgid, something filthy, to rip through America until it reaches the plasticity of California's Silicion valley. surely the American empire will fall, but in the aftermath, what can be built upon it? take what lessons we learned from the process and apply them to the coming state, state employees used as manure for plants and vegetation, to bring life to a prison of steel and wires and bolts and the artificial, cosmopolitan effeminate world of technology and corrupt bureaucracy

Women! want control of your bodies? you've had that too long. voting rights? that's a definite no. you are incubators for mutant production, a pig for criminal enterprise, to rip a new asshole into this artificial, hypergamous idiocy you created for yourself. Under women, there can be no communism, there can be no state, there can be no true authority. Even businessmen, lawyers, cops, military, they all answer to you and your multiple emotions (personalities?) and unstable mindset that changes more than your underwear. You are failures, as Aristotle put it bluntly.

The European feels they have a sense of moral superiority, but when has morality mattered to them at all, they were the colonizers. And its just desserts that Africans, who are unable to grasp human decency to invade them and rape their women. Only the brave survive. it will cull them as it culls us, the Brazilification of the modern world. Those that fight, win, lest they get devoured by the hordes of migrants. but the Swedes are a special kind of stupid, for the love of God, we have them here in the liberal enclaves of Minnesota and Wisconsin. they are the real poison of the whites. not the Irish Appalachians, or the Germanic middle Americans. at least they know that keeping out invaders is important. Heismann correctly identified them as pests, not because they intent to be but because the Determinism of their peoples from the bronze age got exploited by globalism. They deserve as many Africans as they desire, for they are genetic failures. As I say, only the strong and willing survive. But who is brave enough to fight back without caring about societal retaliation?

The answer lies in our mentally ill community, downies, the schizos, the depressed, the autistics, who care not for social graces and will combat anyone without a care in the world of authority, they care not for the law, they care about self-preservation. Its called retard strength, not mensa strength. the same guy you bully in school if he knew his power he could kill a 1,000 men and women and not care as long as he gets his snack at the end of the day with his favorite teacher. He is our savior, and why? in the next chapter I will state as so.

Chapter IV:
The Truly Oppressed

Ever notice how everything is "autistic" these days? the butt of jokes, the stuff of legends. megacorporations care more about preventing workplace sexual harassment, gay rights, trans rights but yet have people working for less than a penny in sweatshop conditions. You could see this in other countries where child labor laws have 11 year olds assembling iPhones for a small pence a month. Where is the justice? Nobody cares because they can't be bought, they aren't "sexy" enough for consumerists. Hand us guns and we're dangerous. You could never expect us to act unilaterally or uniformly in any given situation which is why that very fact may help us. unpredictability. Anything to speed up corporate into handing their very last penny with bullets in his chest because Jimmy decided to play with guns and was giggling the entire time. See that? no cares. not for himself or others. We must strive to be that way, their reality is not ours and vice versa. There is NO SUCH THING.

Same goes for the incels, the "involuntarily celibates". I celebrate every time something goes wrong at a school when the lowest of the pecking order takes out his frustration on the game and the players. Life might as well be a video game. But lets not get carried away, whether the guy gets put in jail or not is matter of them being the Continue screen as the countdown goes down like at New Years Eve, every new year being a new beginning. "New year, New me" says the girl who never faced hardship. Until she becomes a bullet sponge one day for the boy whose had enough.

As history goes forth, both Hegel and Schopenhauer are right (the latter in a Buddhist sense) that while history is a cycling and recycling of new and old ideas, every inch of time is a rebirth into a new reality, a new conscience. the system reboots, the circuits connect, we enter the matrix. though through violence we can accelerate (Nick Land/Sorel) change to the point that we enter "meta-tradition", old world ideas in a post-apocalyptic utopia.

Nobody realizes this more than Land, Linkola, and Foucault, who came to different conclusions about the human condition. for Land, the tech world would continue man's frontier aspect, for Linkola, a culling of humans would lend to better life for all of us, for Foucault, a release of chains of command that would entail liberty. They are all right, for different reasons. to object is to synthesize the objectives into a new subjective reality (Fichte), where we are free from an existence that is empiricist, overpopulated, and imprisoning so we can truly live.
Chapter V:
Journalists and What To Do With Them

I recently came across an article (not sure if its truthfulness because I and I alone know truth) that deepfakes (videos with other peoples' faces put on to talking heads) were at a truly professional level. Another pointed at an A.I. that generates so-called "fake news". For the technology-savvy generation of today, this is a potential weapon against those that rule with corruption. any of this can be exploited with those at least a modicum of programming knowledge, liberal presidents' faces put onto the faces of dictators giving speeches and passed around as vines (a term in the tech world as viral videos). startup pages that can pass themselves off as legit newsagencies to trick blue pill liberals into believing their heroes were monsters. artificial intelligence to be used in the information war to subvert what Moldbug termed the "cathedral". Moldbug, while intelligent, seems to place too much faith in this notion that it can't be beat with anything other than pragmatism. If he only knew that in our hands this is hand subversion. a friend of mine said the neoreactionaries were doing what the '68 Situationists were doing and using it against these red liberals, and at a much more effective pace. Lets step things up, a little idealism can't hurt. but as said before, constant disorganization and re-organization is the key. keep them guessing always.
Create staged drama. after all, the world is a stage, though everyone’s stage is different, and we all have divergent opinions. in the age of young boys getting abused by mothers trying to turn them into women, the gloves are off, we don't play nice and won't place nice, lest we become a constantly mutating monolith that subverts and devours the information world with disinfo, no one could tell the difference between the liberals and the anti-globalists. except those in-the-know.

I stated a theory being there are three kinds of individuals during a time of strife: the idealist, the conservative, and the agnostic. the idealist can come from any group wanting change, the conservative stands to maintain the status quo, and the agnostics are the meat shields used by both sides in any historical determined path. I see free will in action, so I'm not completely determinist. those free will actions determining (if only slightly) the path we are currently on. in lieu of being accused with "sleeping with the enemy", the ever present Nietzschean struggle between both sides could trim the population down to manageable size. Some will state gays and transgenders "self-regulate". some claim "they always will exist". either way their intense level of xenoestrogens will make them easy prey, keep tossing them around in the struggle between the idealists and the conservatives as pawns and meatshields they will soon find themselves afraid to exist. feminists should be treated in a similar fashion. pawns of us or pawns of the state. in a public struggle between those on either side, we can trick the conservative globalists into becoming meatshields themselves turning the entire affair on its head. some deep ecologists claim that people with disabilities are useless people. in most cases they are not, they tend to work hard and do what is expected of them, despite being exploited for corporate profit. that's the corporation's problem, not theirs. other special interests groups happen to be oversexed, oversocialized and histrionic. last time I checked Billy with down syndrome didn't spread AIDS or was Patient Zero. I likely would have less problems if the community wasn't so promiscious, unfaithful to one another and weren't disease carriers. one could make a case for mental illness for being a disease unto itself but those are pre-existing. in most cases (save for children of promiscious mothers who couldn't help but bring AIDS babies and crack babies by her own selfish volition, I feel sorry for them), autism and other "mental disorders" are not things that kill people, though I digress, HIV is good population control. its not evil, nor is it good. it sits in that Nietzschean hotspot of being "beyond good and evil"
As stated the virus of news media is the same thing and can be used for similar purposes against those create 24/7 outrage culture. show them how outrageous we can be when the very shit they propagate is mutated (like viruses often do, even in computers) and turned on those people in scary, Lovecraftian ways. make the liberal question their sanity. Now they’re in our world. Welcome to hell. Hell and Heaven is what ever you or your idea of God/Gods created for you. Liberals never question anything thats given to them, so why would I expect them too. if anyone is truly stupid its not the local downie who works his ass off at the local McDonalds, it is you, Liberal. mental illness is a gift. stupidity is when you accept whats given to you by your boss, your leader, and you take it as gospel truth. We're on to you.

Chapter VI:

Empircism As Low Rent Humanism

As a teenager, often times you might have questioned the existence of God. Science was your favorite subject and you loved Dawkins and Hitchens. I know I did. But there comes a time when chasing science to the point of using it for self-identity becomes an issue. The late Lyndon LaRouche had issues with this. In the Eastern world, religion, philosophy, and politics never divided, in the degenerated West, it deterministically did. I bet you quoted Nietzsche too. "God Is Dead" was a lament and you took it out of context. Silly you. Now that Atheism is New Atheism, your rebellion is a consumer brand, your lack of faith is a religion. You can't go on one day without talking about God yet don't believe in him. You probably hate him, because if you really were an atheist, you wouldn't talk about something you don't believe in, now would you? Since our lives are merely subjects of our conscience, the minute you believe in "reality", you're dead. Or braindead. You stopped questioning things and base every thing on your notion of God "not existing". The reason you are atheist is because God hates you. You turned off the switch, as did God to you. God gave you knowledge and you used it against him. So it goes...

Original sin was a duality in women, a unity in men. God and Satan tried to make women for Adam but both failed because women are a glitch in the system. That's why you hate God, because you can't make peace with the notion that the absurd circuitry that denies you a wife. But I digress, I feel pity instead of anger because women are ineffectual. You love Nietzsche but will instead bitch about rape culture and how much of a "good ally" you are to women who won't sleep with you. Embrace Godliness and use your strength to give yourself a woman, because as long as they are under your boot, Christ reigns.

As stated earlier, Medusa's strength is not in her head, for she is weak in the head, but in her hair, her snake circuitry. One thing women like is sex. Believe or not they do, but they love to play the masochist, some even like their hair pulled during sex, choking them. Unfortunately for you the system is a setup, they do this because not only do they enjoy being dominated, but would just as quick send you to the prison, the only way to escape all this prisondom is to dismantle their dominance over you in the first place. But to get to Medusa, you have to pass her guardians.

The penal system is rigged against all men, but particularly white men. Don't pay attention to black gangsters. That's second nature to them and its just a part of their life cycle. But you don't belong there. The day the goddess of Technology hangs by the rope, the system is down, all bets are off. You are free to be the ignoble savage, Rousseau turned on its head. Society doesn't move forward with female domination, and certainly lacks the function, the animal kingdom knows this aside from a few prey species, but humans got rational and empiricist. Now pay the piper. You refused Church so God forsake you.

Chapter VII:
Industry for war and authority only

I'm sure by now you get the idea about how industry fucked us. Industry brought in labor laws, exploitation of children, capitalism, lower life expectancy, longer work hours. In the olden days, a feudal serf could slack off for hours as long as the kingship got his goods. So what of now? I encourage people not to work, to slack off as much as you can and not pay taxes, be a NEET. engage in violence whenever the opportunity arises. be a hooligan. because of capitalism, people slave away for a meagre pence while existing, but not really "living". Quit your job, buy guns, and act in your own interest, take hikes in the woods. This is an Aristocracy of Plastic and not Steel and Stone. if liberty, true communalism, and true aristocracy existed the average worker wouldn't have his life exploited instead of being part of a true community. We must build elsewhere and where else but into a new frontier. Forget you exist for a moment, and live. capitalism has taken over the world, as Camatte stated, so just "retreat into the forest". Appalachians, with all due respect (I must add I am one) get a bad rap for supposedly being inbred, well off the grid lets make the urbanites nightmare come true. We can be inhuman and inhumane, we don't have to be a part of a system that disrespects us, and as we march on to the cities, we will be ugly, armed and dangerous. "The Hills Have Eyes Nationalism" as memers would put it. Mankind has become so domesticated he has forgotten how savage he truly can be. as the Beatles put it "let it be".

Cities can be festering piles of dung, and most of their residents could be used as fertilizer for crops. the ineffectual liberal urban snob, who probably frequents Whole Foods but would never give your podunk family market a second glance for reasonably priced vegetables and fruits who looks down upon the hills of the rust belt won't be looking down when we've literally become Godzilla. any building higher than two stories will be stomped into the ground or wrecked. depending on the degeneracy level of a given city, it can be turned into a plantation or a crater. Nukes probs. their choice. their bodies, our choice. Welcome to the corn fields, motherfucker.

But after it all, only the highest levels of authority should use tech, for military and statecraft, to maintain that what happens post revolution doesn't get too cocky and the cycle begins again, but I digress, that's human nature, as God and Hegel intended it to be. the wheels of change are treads on a Tank. what becomes too degenerate for its own good must be crushed and restarted.
Epilogue

As you know this book was intended for a specific audience to those into the minds of the Ethical Solipsist methods, whether anarchist, socialist, communist, fascist, archreactionary, we all need to break the prison of post-modern society, In turn, I hope that we fight for what's right even if it's all subjective as the means, the ends should be an objective society that is miles away from this tyranny of the majority. I may have used some rough language that might scare off high-minded readers and I apologize. God didn't make perfect people, he made people, not evil, not good. People. just people. We have the capacity to be evil, and that's why the culling is needed, we have the capability to be sucked into technology, so let's exploit technology. Lastly, we have chains, but we can always break them. Choose wisely. and always keep the enemy second guessing themselves.
Perennialism, Communalism, and Frankfurt School As Right-Wing Praxis

By

J.J. Barger
Preface

As we all know depending on your opinion, the Frankfurt School was either a great critique of consumerism or a death knell for the Aryans at the hands of jews, in this book I’ll explain the reason for Integral Traditionalism and the importance of communal, anti-capitalist structure is important for a future society and why the Frankfurt's tactics can be used against themselves to bring about a society such as this.

As noted in my previous book, this is sort of a continuation of what I stated in my book on Ethical Solipsism. for any sort of revolutionary society, we need a priori to undermine the current system, so that a posteri, can be established upon its ruins, its decayed, impotent, weak pre-civilization that existed before but could not bring about anything worth mankind being proud of.

Proud of what? a consumerist hellhole that while the Frankfurt School lamented, it is well known that the Zionists play both sides, because some of the biggest proprietors of capital are under the grasp of the same people. Hopefully I will begin to illustrate what is to be done in the following chapters.

Chapter I:
Frankfurt's Hell On Earth

Many of the Frankfurt accolades were immensely correct in identifying the problems of consumerism and free market capitalism and its effects on society, save for the works of Reich, who was a mere associate, and Fromm who got it all wrong and was ousted from the school for being revisionist, one must think of how the tactics of such a school can be used against the Sigil of Zion itself, in a psychoanalytic manner much similar to how they used it on unsuspecting non-jews.

One of the worst was William Reich, a known homosexual and pederast who not only used his power as a child psychologist to manipulate young boys and destroy their childhoods through genital therapy and psychological torture methods I need not state here, I have come to the conclusion that most gay pederasts are the way they are because they got beat up as children in grade school, and rightfully so, because they were flagrant homosexuals, so as adults they were not man enough to come to terms with their state of being with adults so they targeted impressionable children because they were in fact cowards. One may state, "Why Justin, you are ok with heterosexual ones" Well that's a different story, considering before the rise of feminism as long as Church and state were involved, as a priori to marriage, An older man could marry a much younger woman because, intrinisically, that was the way of the old order, and nobody batted an eye at that because homosexuals are incapable of producing children and therefore lack a moral compass thats incompatible with religious doctrine, in any, be it Islam, Christianity, even classic Judaism forbid such things. But Talmudic practices imply that its ok to lie to non-jews and subvert any culture they enter, they no longer have a real home so they must spread their poison into every part of the corporate structure.

Feminism, which was a psyop that women so readily grasped upon, because women, mentally, are permanently adolescent. Freud would assume I have mother issues, which may be true but a person such as Freud, would not be able to judge anything because jews do not have a moral compass, they do whatever they can, and they have the corporate, capitalist backing to do so, like encourage feminism and other such garbage to infiltrate the minds of women, and lately of men. But early on, it was just women, because they are easily manipulated, essentially easily conquerable as Herodotus spoke of Egypt stating that the Egyptian Empire had an essential feminine character. And who was the rulers at most in Egypt? women. that's why it fell to Rome later on. A worship of the divine feminine is an act of worship towards satan, as it was stated in both the Apocryphal teachings that Lilith was the devil's daughter, and Eve, was a listless moron who followed anything anyone told her. It was Adam's fault for not seeing through her poison.

Adam, therefore, was a victim of circumstance, as Aristotle put it "they are incomplete men". and why has man fallen so hard, because, he wants to get laid, his penis guides his movements. Women are wonderful works of art but internally lead men into sin. Therefore nowadays the Satan, or the god of the jews, has his talons firmly into the skin of humanity. So how do we remedy this? A look upon the tactics of Frankfurt, we can assume that a lot of these thinkers loved to get high off their own supply and arrogance. Hit them where it hurts. Tell them they protest authoritarianism because they are faggots in need of rape, that they promote homosexuality in and outside of Zion because they are weak and divisive and want humanity to sink to their level of anti-humanity, not to be confused with anti-humanism, as while they are humanist on the surface, its a mere shield to cover for their love of money. Every one of them knows this but chooses to lie. If those such as Adorno, Horkheimer, Fromm, Debord, hate consumerism so much why does their tribe worship gold instead of God? because they know they can't win unless they fight without playing fair, proxy wars, realpolitik is their game. There are the slut at your local bar who flashes their tits and complains when some man beneath their standards touches their mammaries. Lets rape Mammon.
Chapter II:
The Exclusion of Judaism from The Perennial Tradition

So You May ask, why is this important? because in order for a integral traditionalist society to exist, the grand subverters of culture must be excluded from any sort of religious unity among the belief of your God/Gods. They will tear asunder the fabric of any perennial tradition by refusing to assimilate. Why? because it is essential in their nature to act politically as jews first, and what ever host tradition, culture or volk they inhabit, is inconsequentially secondary. Therefore any attacks against them from defending a perennial mindset is greatly encouraged. they are Hegelian for the wrong reasons, changing their tactics and adopting whatever guise they can so that they can, and this may be for also good reasons as well, to pick off "Weak believers" from "True believers", as they do this, any that defect because of phony humanitarian reasons can be used as meatshields against them in the coming holy war of the Perennialists vs. the Judaic establishment. an acceleration of this depopulation true vs. false will trim us down to a sharpened blade to cut through the heart of Zion with precision. If we must play their game, we must keep them guessing as to whether we are supporting them trimming us down, or what will happen when the stone and steel blade is impenetrable against us. They are not clever and not smart.
As stated in my previous book I spoke of agnostics. This can also mean fence sitting non-believers who can be cast to the fires of hades itself, any sort of rational humanism and humanitarianism, the golems of Venice, Hitchens, Dawkins, etc etc. can be used as cannon fodder, as the monolithic machine moves forth and devours anyone not living or dying by the blade. "God doesn't exist" yells the atheist, as the hellmouth opens and devours his soulless corpse into the fires of hell, never to be seen again. For those claim to have empirical knowledge of non-existence will be crushed into the mud for what is a claim but just an act of sophistry. I too practice that, and act against those who say you cannot prove a negative. but you can divide by zero, you can split an atom, I can split you in half you insufferable peon of atheist dominance. for someone who doesn't believe in the existence of God/Gods you sure love to talk about him as if he does exist. If this is the case you don't really have a disbelief in him, and you are just as bad as the Jews because you hate him. It can be the only reason for your diarrhea filled mouth of anti-religious diatribes.

A lot of philosophers were atheists but it doesn't mean their doctrines can't be useful to disprove them or reach towards a certain society. Many of the pessimist schools likely did believe in God, they just though he hated them, and gave them bad genes on purpose to make their self-esteem go down, Dostoyevsky was correct in assuming that humans are madly in love with suffering. We suffer not because we can but we are condemned to suffer on earth so as a way to be free of suffering in the afterlife. Now many Christians would see this as heretical but even if Christ suffered for our sins how do many people still suffer? because I tend to believe, of my own volition, that Christ wants all of humanity to feel his pain, to crucify themselves during life so as to be free of pain in the afterlife.

It doesn't matter if you're an attention seeking, depressed little girl (across the road for attention, down the road for results, missy) or a victim of rape, or a PTSD ridden soldier. We suffer to live, as Cioran put it. the Jews do not suffer, they have continued to beat every Empire in existence through out history. But isn't time they really did? If they think the Holocaust was bad, the end times will be worse as to meet their maker Satan, who predeterministically set man on a path towards ruin.
Can you imagine there was a time before currency? Many cannot. The world revolves nowadays around the capital market, a dominion of megacorporations hell bent on world domination. Who do they think they are? To dominate the human mind through the worship of Satanic money? To control the masses through consumerism instead of communalism? While the Frankfurt School was correct in assessing this issue, we all know their tactics are being used by big corporations to turn people into cultureless drones. Obviously there is nothing wrong with being against consumerism, the plasticity of the modern world yet why use their methods? Because to be against capitalism, we must strive to separate ourselves from the urbanite mentality of consume and destroy and instead built societies free of money, away from civilization, and live self sufficient. I knew of one hunting village in central Siberia that was much like this, they are still going (Thank heavens), and seems to be what we should strive for. opposing consumerism (Frankfurt School), retreating into the forest (Junger, Linkola, Camatte), and building our own world (Ocalan). albeit, I will touch on why I despise Rojava in a second.
Rojava is not what it seems, they are female dominated pillars of sodom, while a lot of the theorists behind them, Bookchin and Ocalan, et all, have their reasons, a society of women is not a society at all. As stated, Women make 85% of consumer spending. Basically the reason why our earth is polluted is because of women’s trash. Go ahead and call it "incel ecology" but I jest not, its serious. Linkola was correct in assuming any war that attempts to reduce the harmful effects of combat must strike the women and girls, so that consumerism becomes a thing of mostly the past. We cannot get rid of all garbage. That is impossible. Give Rojava enough time and it will become the same wretched shitpile the west has become if they continue existing.

As for Turkey and pan-Turkism, they are despised, and often because of the Byzantine empire falling to pieces. We can learn from that, and yes the Saracens can be blamed but do you not think its time that Christianity and Islam buried the hatchet on such matters? a mutual aid between all religious cultures, excluding the Jews as they will not accept as to subvert that mutual aid for their own gain. a Perennial society can only function without satanic money exchanges or as little currency as possible, decentralized and a supranational structure of mutual exchange of consumer properties, as Gold is not the highest standard of man. God Is.

In recent times, most wars are fought because of an eyesore in the middle east known as Israel and their deluded, most female protestant backers here in the states, as Protestantism has continued its rise in dominance, capitalism has flourished simply because Protestants believe, "if I work hard without time off, God will love me". This is an act of Stockholm where people work themselves to live a life of brutish shortness and never actually live, they just exist. To destroy the capitalist structure is to destroy the spirits of baby boomers, people that went and hated capitalism as young hippies but now support it. though a wise man once said "he who is not a rebel when young has no heart, but he who is still a rebel at old age has no head", it would seem this statement has largely been rendered moot considering those in charge seek to destroy the world over end-time prophecy. They, the Protestant baby boomers, must be destroyed along with the jews in the middle east. God’s time is not our time, and these Protestants have no business playing God. Any attack against either or within the U.S. or elsewhere is justified.
Chapter IV: Frankfurt Unraveled

The same listless women will cut off their son’s foreskin but also refuse vaccinations. Its my inclination that women, who make up most of healthcare and psychiatry, are the truly mentally ill, for the Frankfurts have subverted their pea-sized brains and now they are taking it out on men (and boys alike), no fault divorce, anti-vaccination movements, cutting of foreskin, believe women nonsense. The jews of gender, as Roosh called them, the biggest consumers. Roosh, even a christian now, I still agree that his "rape on private property" rant was a bit much even for me but if no such thing as private property exists these women will meet the ignoble savage who will tear their grip on society as a whole asunder. Men wouldn't be driven to violence, as its being increasingly seen if women weren't controlling the reigns. and the golems of Zion perpetrate their insanity. Any sort of control against men, We will find a way around it, be it poison the water supply, bombins. It doesn't matter. Stop controlling men and men will not repeatedly lash out at you. Our corrupt government is scared that if they defy women they will not get what they desire most: sex. Not knowing that they're stronger, and if they come to this self-realization they will get the society so many men want deep inside. But many of these men sit listlessly because a lot of them are corrupted by capital. any distraction, i.e., "If I'm rich why would I fight, I got what I want" Money is evil, procreation is not. Just because you are rich does not mean you are free, that you have liberty, because ultimately, a piece of paper, or a sliver of copper controls your life. Life is not what you earn life is family, community, and because capitalism blinds you to the men that are beneath you, you say "I got fine, I don't care if you don’t have yours". Free yourself from this. Many men do not have what you have, look past the worship of money and inspire insurrection and collaboration, for while you are comfortable with your material gains, your wife is running around behind your back, getting it where she can, from wealthier men than you. Can you imagine if women’s pussies were not backed by currency? they would hold no value, and be redistributed among men as a good leader, one who is of good character and knows that a society controlled by men, not one of money and women, is what entails less corruption, and a more Godly society. Pol Pot was someone who did this and the evil Vietcong, who were puppets of Russia, decided to ruin what could have been the perfect society. But take what you will from what has been written and spread it far and wide as to know he knew things more than anyone else and has been painted as a villian by revisionists worldwide.

Epilogue
In closing I hope that many will read this for years to come to realize that a Syndicate of religions cannot exist with Zion, and that Syndicate cannot be maintained with an open market. The Frankfurt School may have been dastardly in giving ideas to the wrong people, but any of those can be used against those golems to subvert the change we see today in the form of cosmopolitanism, consumerism and lack of true community, despite a lot of their anti-family attitudes, for the mostly Jewish Frankfurt School never had a home, or family. Just stolen land and subverted cultures.
Many have seen over the last several years the prominence of exclusionary spaces for those of transgender, gay, female, and racial minority groups. In this essay, I will determine what the issue is and why its a tool for accelerating change. Many people will assume the worst, that I, by all means, am defending its prominence and wish to continue such prominence into the future. I will explain as to why the eventual destruction must be wrought up on its existence and why each group plays an integral part of this eventual destruction and why it matters.

Throughout the years these groups have had one thing in common, the exclusion of heterosexual white men from its circles, not knowing that is precisely why its self-destructive, creating outliers that will do anything in their power to attack it. But we must find other methods for undoing Medusa’s web of hair. The snakes that bind these ideas together and why we must accelerate its undoing.

Chapter I:
The Feminists
Most of what started this in recent times was feminism, though in the previous era it was the minority civil rights movements, though I will get to that in future chapters. For now, the main focus is females. A lot of liberals, and to the most gratitious extremities of marxist feminism, say that the patriarchal establishment has been keeping them "down". Because nothing says you’re free like leaving your husband for the government or your boss, most of what this can be blamed upon is the industrial revolution, which may have liberated some people and gave ideas to people not suited for manual labor, as almost all labor exclusively was centuries ago, some seem to forget that men, the givers of life and the workhorses of society's rise to power, the civil society, never really had it good, they have broke their backs supporting their women, so in turn, life could prosper.

Life though, cannot prosper if women are sent out to be wageslaves, or pay taxes, or give free reign to command over her supposed superiors, men, albeit, the ones who created society. That is not to diminish the role of women as bearers of life. But I digress, men have worked hard for something that is no longer theirs and its accelerating the cause for men's disposability. Most of the men right's activists will claim this is a recent trend. It, a priori, is not. Many men still face hardship but because of society's rampant disregard for our pleas, We are seen as oppressors because intrinsically, it appears we possess power, even though we have been mules for the progress of society, through war, and conflict. As Stalin had stated, "1 death is a tragedy, a million death is a statistic". This can be applied to the condition of men vs. women. That one mother dying is more important than millions of men dying for war as to march the machine forward to a societal point where we are no longer needed and have "served our purpose".

Though, can society progress with just women? Women, though bound by a secret, if no so secret, preference for their own peer group. Women intrinsically care not for men, but for each other, and I bet you any amount of money, if I were a betting man, that is, that they secretly want us gone. Because we are violent, because we are ruthless. But women's passivity post-male, if Hegel is correct, will stagnate and they will pick each other off in grand displays of claims to the throne of "who is most oppressed". Its in their nature to be conniving, its in their nature to gossip and often times, instead of using what men normally used, which was honest, face-to-face aggression to solve differences between tribal relations, hence why one society can usurp another, women will let other people do their dirty work for them, invoking the law. They are indirect, passive-aggressive creatures that will slowly rot a culture away, a stinking pile of yeast infections, periods, and other such disgusting abominations. Society cannot move forward without men's directness. Albeit this has probably accelerated our decline, as our directness has adjusted the speed of the world to progress too quickly.

Females, though, it will be a slowly stagnating process. But unlike men who create the Hegelian determinism of history, in a post-male world, who will be the movers and shakers, you ask? Well, no one, and women need to be reminded that because men have always suffered, as Cioran put it so bluntly against the Jews in his book, that a society cannot move without suffering being put into action, So we are stuck suffering to keep this ball rolling, this planet earth spinning.

Everything men have done, even pre-Feminism, was to appease women, so that life goes forward. To suffer is to live, if women are the only ones left, life will stagnate. in this sense, women are more nihilistic. Hell, women are the ones that can end life in more ways than men can through the abortion process. Have you ever heard of the phrase coming from a mother "I brought you in this world, I can take you out just as easily" Because women are eternally life-hating, harbingers of Satan. But as long as they are under control, despite the suffering and turbulence to roll that wheel up the hill, as Albert Camus, put it, "We must imagine Sysiphus happy". Women are not suited to trade their freedom as housewives, away from danger to deal with the toils of workplace sturm und drang. And its about time they realized that, even if force needs to maintain that. Iranians have had laws against free assembly and that's why it should be applied here, to keep them from ganging up and formulating a way to end history and put its ruins in the turgid wastes of hades.
Chapter II:
The Gays And Lesbians

Ever since the rise of the civil rights movement, Gay men, particularly, have played a sideline role in the rise of liberalism and cosmopolitanism. Lest we forget that Diogenes of Synope was the first to declare himself, a priori, a "citizen of the world", hence, a posteri, the first cosmopolitan. But this isn't about him, but those of the inclination that men are sexually more desirable than women.

In days of such rulers as the Caesars of Rome or the Greeks of Antiquity, many men were wrought into the sexual ambiguity of not mattering whether it was a man or woman they were going to fornicate with on any given day, It was an act of dominance of the other, to show the masculine fortitude of the former, than anyone was to bend to their dominance. While I particularly have no issues with homosexuals or the queer community, it must be stated, on a pragmatic level, that the rise of technology and modernism has caused this virus to spread far and wide, to cultures that look down upon such acts as a strike against God or their idea of God/Gods. Many indigenous cultures have seen this globalism of homosexuality an attack on national liberation and the over reaching aspect of colonialism. Lest we forget that some tribes had couples that practiced this behind closed doors and sought to see themselves as being more "pure" than the wretched Europeans.

However, venereal diseases have existed before this rise yet technology has done nothing to combat this, nor the rampancy of homosexuality, the former because of business reasons, the latter because of the morality (or lackthereof) or moral code of doctorates in the modern era, because either a cure for either would be bad for a public business model. Many food dispensaries, "hobby stores" and other non-medical businesses can do this because of a freedom of choice not to patronize such businesses, et al. But we all need medical help, do we not? To be givers of life, and to help those in death and all in between. A Part of me thinks that homosexuals, like the feminists stated in the first chapter, are inherently nihilistic, life hating people that want to kill themselves out of a high dopamine rush that involves not only sex but drugs as well. But they keep appearing, as your child who you though, as boy loved girls, he comes out to you and proclaims his love of men. Your heart sinks, because you know you will not have grandchildren but the social structure of today will go to great lengths to shame you if you do not accept his decision. Queer camps are seen as backwards, archaic religious institutions of societies of ages past and are mocked over it, and justly so, because other religions have us beat in combating their existence, because their societies are ruled by different morals, and our church is not as powerful and more susceptible to degeneration than they are since they place precendence as these institutions as rule of law. In the United States, and much of the western world, including Western Europe, do not want to be seen as barbarous because of modernism sapping their will to be savage. Whats the point of change when you want to be seen as a savior. We all can't be God but the West wants to see themselves as God, especially the more effeminate sectors of society when the will of God determines that women should stay silent and gays should be stoned. Playing God is heretical, yet you can't tell these mentally deficient sectors to stay quiet. They are prophesizing their own holocaust.

Lesbians, often seen as a subset of feminists, are a weird bunch who will often still have the desire to look like men but despise as much so, all while having the mental capacity of women, acting like adolescents and seekers of negative attention. They often experience "bed death" where sex is no longer important. Why is the use of sex toys so important to them? because they possess penis envy and either desire to be a man or because without a present man cannot bring themselves to full pleasure, and like themselves, being that they are women they desire, deep down, a man to give them what they really need. A man can flash a wad of money (explaining the Satanism of women, their love of shiny objects and brash displays of wealth) and suddenly they are bisexuals, because there is nothing women love more than money. They love money more than men, they love money more than each other. any sort of Machiavellian cut-throat way to achieve societal dominance. Moving on....
Chapter III: Blacks and Minorities

One of the first civil rights struggles was the emancipation of blacks and metizos out of discrimination, into the working world and social/civil life. This has not always been easy, considering that while they became free of the constraints the greater society placed upon them to align with a civil order, they have become zombies of consumerism themselves and you will often see the poorest strata of them buy expensive shoes (a very feminine trait), fast cars and custom-tailored outfits and their bodies decorated in gold from top to bottom. The global jew has seen this as a jumping off point to exploit them further, as many blacks in the highest social strata complain about how the "man" wants to feminize them. Of course I couldn’t overstate the importance of how a people so low on the bell curve could differentiate between a rich man or poor man, the latter of which has no control over their society, as a whole, but I digress, as people who were unwilling to give their higher educated brethren a chance because they were "learned", because that’s acting "white", nevermind that poor whites are more attuned to applying for welfare and being as uneducated as the lot of them.

Oh please, black man, there is a difference between being "intellectual" and the pursuit of intellect. I cannot bear the notion of them being as to feel that any sort of improvement on their culture as a whole is detrimental to their wellbeing. Oftentimes, a reason to be is the view that educated men are always white men, so in turn to act like vicious animals is the reaction to such perception. Yes, I said it, its "reactionary", nevermind the amount of BBC porn that gives them a false sense of superiority over whites, considering how jewed the porn industry is, and like lemmings they fall into the "trap", a machine, a Medusa, that devours them and spits them out in wigs and makeup and perverts their very being. You can see this in the promotion of soundcloud "rap" that shows rappers embracing a sort of androgyny and acceptance of all that's degradation. But as I said, I don't see them reading between the lines any time soon that they're being taken for a fool.

The eternally feminine jew, a concept put forth by a jewish man himself, one of the few Hitler lamented the suicide of, because its likely he knew too much, Otto Weineger, saw more truths about women and his own people than a man should ever know, for likely his suicide was his own self-realization of how his people drag others down to their level. Any sort of gaslighting and manipulation reveals how if they put up a fit enough, everyone can be just as neurotic as they are, as Cioran put it, they never faced hardships so they must project this sort of neurotic supremacy over those who are not of the tribe, subverting those, such as blacks and mestizos to be as degenerate as they are, through drug trafficking, feminization of their culture, manipulation of their decrees through the females of their given culture, a globalist, gluttonous creature not too disimilar to the Nurgle, a creature of Warhammer lore, to endlessly devour their culture and spit it out and back again. Its certainly a sad, albeit pathetic sight to behold. I must touch on Mestizos before I continue, that they are known for strong familial bonds and tied to the Church, although they are not exempt from degeneracy. drug use warps through their culture, and so does gang behavior, just as blacks. but at least they are people of honor.
Chapter IV: The Transgenders

Out of the most so-called "marginalized" groups, Transgender individuals are a mutation of capital excess, to see how far one can accelerate change, look at the forefront of it all, transgenders. Back in the 60s and 70s this was unheard of, considering that at the start of the 70s, gender-bending was new, thanks to the filthy hippies who wrought this upon us. Albeit even as being a fan of such acts as David Bowie and T. Rex, it wasn't until the explosion of punk and industrial music that a one Genesis Breyer P-Orridge came about, shattering expectations of the limits of gender. though I digress, Genesis never wanted to be seen as "normal", but rather a work of art vis a vis Salvador Dali, who, oddly enough was a supporter of Italian Futurism and fascism, a never ending project of self.

Nowadays, most transgenders want to assimilate and pass for "normal" when in fact they are anything but and should see themselves as such, but their Sophistry prevents such events from taking place, and capital encourages them through corporate promotion of months such as the one we are in now, which regrettable is my birth month, as gay pride month, as to accelerate capital gains and turn more people on the supposed "outside" of culture to get assimilated into the machine. It works, because I could never see a people with so many xenoestrogens to self-reflect. They never do. while Mao encouraged people to "self-criticize", and that may be important insoasmuch to my readers to engage in simultaneous "Reactionary Sophistry", to act against such mutations of capital by refusing to participate in their capital gains so much as long as they promote "abnormality for cash". Suddenly, being normal is abnormal. While George Orwell did correctly recall this as true in 1984, one must not forget his own hypocrisy in turning over supposed anarchists and communists in the United States after fighting alongside the CNT in the Spanish civil war. One can see this in transgenderism where they want acceptance but special treatment as well. You cannot have your cake and eat it too.

Recently there was a case where a gay pride parade marched through Detroit and the NSM, while I am not a fan of such "liberal" expressions of National Socialism combated them and there can be seen a picture of one of them urinating on an Israeli flag. I commend such tactics but cannot see such people as allies as long as corrupt, idiotic institutions such as the Federal Bureau Of Investigation or the Central Intelligence Agency continuing to exist, that is why any combative efforts towards this must, as stated in my previous extended essays, that one must use a) Anonimity and b) a mix of organization and disorganization as praxis. Many Christians and especially conservative ones wonder why such degeneracy takes place when they will not disavow the Star Of David as a symbol of Satan, holding on to something that will be their undoing. In the next chapter I will touch on Religion and its role in the "Virus Of Intersection"
Chapter V:
The Role Of Religion

In the olden days, many a doting mother and father would take their children to Church services, further back, religions such as Zoroastrianism, Islam, Christianity, Buddhism, and many pre-Christian Pagan traditions, even old school Judaism, believed in sacrificing one's self for God. But what do all, especially Christians, sacrifice themselves for?

The Answer lies in Moldbug's assumption that everything moves left, that the Reagans and Nixons of yesterday are far more conservative than the Tuckers and Shapiro's of today, the last 30 some years of unfettered wars in the holy lands have drawn lines in the sand, either you're with Zion or against it. Unfortunately many Christians, unlike myself, have sided with Zion’s enroaching platitudes that they alone are God’s chosen people, and that anyone who defies them, historical documentations such as Biblical scripture nonwithstanding, that those who defy such inclinations would be doomed to hellfire. But they are precisely why America, especially, falls victim to the lies that are given in exchange, per say, for eroding the actual Christian’s walls of their own Cathedral, the Church. Many will see that accepting female pastors and gays is just "God’s plan" even though the Bible strictly forbids either, many worship Zion as a way to accelerate the end times prophecy. They must be suicidal, for there is only hell on the other side waiting for them. But how am I to judge, I am not a man of the cloth. I'm just an outside observing noting the fact of how idiotically they defy scripture so that God decides their fate. I doubt, though, it will lead them towards any sort of heavenly body. And for fucks sake, I have been seeing other traditions be eroded by this same rhetoric. Overmen they are not, for they merely serve as cannon fodder for an accelerated struggle between good and evil, for those who are truly seeking betterment will transcend either, Never to be a part of the entangling Medusa of big corporations and progress and technology.

One of the Protestant (ahem, Heretical) Church’s problems lies in Sola Scriptura and the acceptance of the work ethic, literal interpretation of Puritan doctrines and an ever needing masochism to work ones’ self to death through manual labor, which leads to shorter life spans, and less of an ability to "read between the lines" of what's been given, hence why Zion infiltrates their pea-sized brains so effectively, But alas don't think that even the most perfected of religions, Islam, is immune to this, and oftentimes, Zion will use a core religion's women as a way to subvert their doctrines. Women were not meant to be bearers of culture because they do everything that can to appeal to human emotion, even at their own expense. Empires will fall because of these feminine cretins, for as one person, anonymously stated (though I am taking him out of context), "A free woman is a dangerous woman". Roosh V stated they were the jews of gender for a good reason, as subversive as the State of Zion themselves, and must not be given too much mind. A way to destroy a culture is through its female members, for they are the givers of birth, and without birth, no life, so their internal structure knows this all too well. Even the jews in Israel have fallen, since the streets of Tel-Aviv are wrought with decay. Jesus wept. The virus of progress will consume us all if not for us putting a lid on the cauldron of sinful, poe-faced women.
Chapter VI:
Capital and Culture

Theodor Adorno once stated, "Walt Disney is the most dangerous man in America" while simultaneously declaring "Jazz is castration". For it be the jew plays both the band and the fiddle, and this ability to multitask is inherently a feminine trait. For either that Walt’s promotion of family values and not to mention his inherent "anti-Semitism", to the musky jazz bars of the deep south with their cacaphonus saxophone wails and sexual incogruencies, that one must notice that, Adorno, while explicitly anti-Fascist, loved Richard Wagner and classical music, even though his tribe created the 12 tone serialist scale to create cacophony of their own, the Jew is hypocrite, loves and hates themselves at the same time because it serves them to subvert any opposition which truly opposes them. They can never stay unilateral on anything, and while I am a man of faults myself, at least I realize that, while the jew sits on a perch and never thinks he does anything wrong, while doing exactly that. During the Cold War period there was an information war between the Soviets and the West over culture and music, could McCarthy been in the wrong, lest the wrought gut punks of the 70s and 80s brough a whole new set of issues, lest they were just regurgitated western ideas held over from the Hippies. where is the real underground? Who dares subvert subversion?
A lot of the answer can be found in NSBM and the NBP of European cultures, which never made much of a splash here due to our aversion towards anything actually challenging our notions of "actualized rebellion" because most at worst were soft humanists. the Metalheads were masculine, yet still spoke of Liberty and other "freedoms". Some of the best music of the underground was Totalitarian in nature because it spoke to the beastial slumber in man asleep since the dark ages to wrought barbarianism over those who oppose, probably the first hints in bands such as Manowar and Bolt Thrower, albeit coming from different genres, showed what war was meant to be, and the masculinity transformed into different ideas, Manowar's idealism vs. Bolt Thrower's nihilism. The nihilistic idealist, the Kant cum Nietzsche of immeasurable porportions, coming to fruition with bands such as Blasphemy, Naked Whipper and Absurd, all which poised a danger to the humanist west, albeit almost all of them being western, was a new breath under the cloud of smoke that grunge wrought, grunge being the reserve of beta males and feminist ally types. Early on neither side interacted with the other until a one Kim Kelly decided to poison the well of metal by bringing in grunge era politics into a scene that not need be tainted by humanism and "inclusion". The early black metal scene sought to separate itself from scenes which may have been its undoing. Anything to poison any semblance of masculinity into intersection, and progressive politics under the guise of wretched corporate, capitalist influence and censorship. But we'll see, as many bands are getting sick of getting drug into the realm of playground politics and refuse to play nice lest we start bombing venues that dirty, dreadlocked cretins inhabit.

Epilogue
This was a six part essay in dissecting Intersection. As seen before, I have used references to Frankfurt and to show how their tribe plays both sides in an attempt to subvert the actually rebellious and dangerous and unco-optable parts of culture and ethics and codes. Take what you will from this and learn what you can because soon we may not be able to exchange freely without influence from the corporate overlords of "What Shall Be, Or What Shall Not Be". Take Care

Biaoism And Narodism
(For The American Volk)
by
J.J. Barger
Preface

For Those in-the-know, America is in a steep economic decline, our battles with China, those of overseas investors and the global bank. Let it be known that this is a call for action for those who ARE NOT in-the-know, who need to realize what this means for the average American worker, farmer and other people that are of non-well-to-do backgrounds to figure out the plans for when the time comes. To most Americans, terms like "Socialism", "Communism", and "Communalism" are dirty words to those who believe one must disarm for the state to take control. Fear not, for you are not the ones to worry. Its the urbanite, rich snobs who work off your hard earned labor and profit at your expense when you should well know that starving the beast, for personal and family liberty is your best friend.

To begin, we shall tackle the issues at hand that have put many of you into hardship, loss of family, loss of jobs, and loss of community security. Your small towns are seen as pittance for those seeking outsourcing your jobs to outsiders who will work for less and you will be left stranded, without a home, without a country or worse yet, dead. You must fight for every last penny you earn and sometimes, your boss or employer must be starved of his profits so that you can earn a better life. You are not your boss' lackey nor friend, you are the breadbasket of this country, you are the last white men, the bearers of American society you claim to love. If you love your country so much, continue reading on. Lest you suffer from your life being taken for granted because you are seen as a statistic on your employers' record.

Chapter I:

After the death of Mao-Zedong, Lin Biao was appointed as a transitionary officer to the new government of China, seen as a Feudal Socialist, or Feudal Fascist, he maintained order in times of transition so as to not upset the balance of the Republic, though as only a leftist on economics myself, very hardline right on social issues, an idea that would seem foreign to those in the West, bear with me here.

Many Socialist states always had transitionary powers as to keep order on things before a new leader was chosen to lead their reich, but how does one do such a thing when your country is high on liberalism? Well to start, those areas of the country are merely hub centers of American globalism and traffic and those seeking a better life, as Robert E. Lee did before the civil war, he propositioned to separate the country from the rest as to establish his own governance that would not interfere with the governance of the North, of course this was disastrous as war broke out anyways.

The middle American states, seen as the breadbasket of this country, has always been a source of domestic produce for the American peoples. So, lets trim the fat off the sides. To start, California is losing ground to hordes of migrants insoasmuch that the more conservative citizens are leaving in droves, allowing for a full-blown Mexican invasion, without the West coast, America loses one of its cultural hubs, and will assimilate, if by force into Mexico. Since there is a water crisis there and many forest fires, anyone east of there must refrain from helping them out and striking as workers to not help the citizens in need for they chose their own fate to bow to the false god of democracy. Your government can't afford to pay you enough as the Heartland to care for those that enroach on your personal liberty, so until enough suffering passes through the currents they must learn their lessons and know quite well as rich people, that they had it good until the after-effects of liberalism and capitalism enroached their values. the government can strike at any time, so be prepared. Always look around you for potential scabs and use your 2nd amendment right, for all intents and purposes this is what your government gave you that right for, and shoot to injure, not to kill and make sure they know you mean business. For in America we also have what is called states’ rights. Use that to your advantage.

Now what to do with the east coast, you say? Most in Washington will have to use their powers to figure out what to do with you so always maintain communications with your easternmost brethren, the liberal enclaves of New England can be picked off as journalists can be given a blockade as to not pass through. Likely they will try and outsource their labor to migrants, leaving the East coast to struggle with those who have lost their jobs, despite union management, that the government no longer cares and they will be forced to join us but they must be given an ultimatum that we provide their food, and if they lament being ordered around by a bunch of "Podunk rednecks" we can starve them just as easily if they do not obey as subordinates. Moving on...

Chapter II:

The Narodniks faced similar issues during the Russian Revolution as to give rural folks the reality of their exploitation. Needn't it be said that in the U.S. anyone needs to talked down to, considering I am a middle American of lower class status myself, not college educated. One of the main problems in America from upper middle class miscreants is that many complain about college debt but never realize that some never got that right because they were underpaid or just poor by birth. The same people that placate minorities and love Bernie Sanders would often castigate those in the rural American enclaves as being backwards or "retarded". This is immense classism on a grand scale as we should not give a time of day to these idiots who would talk down to the very people that provide them with better quality food & produce that is not only natural and organic and homegrown just because most of us are white.

Since most Millenials are bluepilled simpletons that do not realize that open borders and socialism work, nor do as some redpill types believe that Nationalism and Libertarianism are somehow compatible, lest you be called an actual Nazi, pay no mind to the institutions that deem you as people deserving of slaughter. Seung Ho-Cho, the Virginia tech shooter, did not kill anyone of pertinent value considering most saw him as a privilege Asian idiot who got everything handed to him, yet suffered from social alienation as a result of the Gramscian nature of college institutions, The only solution is that any attack against higher education, either through independent media, or shall I say, violence is completely justified. Many of these institutions want to tear down the monuments of those who created a country based on the values of America’s heartland and do this out of arrogance and penis envy that they will never amount to much except a job as a Barista in a coffee house environment so they can be assholes to those who are not of their class even though they have accomplished little. The system is mostly rigged for jobs requiring one to have a college degree to work at, even at the lowest level of labor so they can feel a false sense of superiority towards those who are unemployed lower class whites. When people do acts of violence towards corporate environments I can only laugh but sometimes I get the impression they are not targeting the right people and only hitting bystanders. Though I digress, its not that I advocate violence towards institutions of societal imprisonment of the structure of capital, I just find a lot of darkly humorous that society’s downfall has brought America to this point. In the next chapter I shall discuss a lot of the religious implications of end time prophecy as I have before and also might make some points that average middle Americans might find a bit hard to digest.

Chapter III:
Most people who say "Jesus was a socialist" are mostly liberals, those that say he was "A Jew" are mostly neoconservatives. The problem lies in the fact that middle Americans often get things mixed up over the truth of the matter. As one myself I often wonder why Liberals will say this when the very system they support would never support someone like them being the fact that Jesus chased the money changers out of his Father's house for practicing the worship of money instead of the worship of God. Most of these liberals are oftentimes, but not always, rich, privileged snobs who would rather spit on the poor than advocate for them because we have a problem here where if people have it all, they don't need any sort of revolution and will talk the talk but not walk the walk and its assumed there are just doing it to be edgy. Conversely, no one is more dangerous than the poor middle class or working or peasant class man who lost his family and home because his boss told him to pack his belongings and leave. When you have nothing to lose, you have everything to gain.

The issue with the Jesus being a jew concept is that he might have been by birth but absolved himself of their culture as the messiah, a concept that was predicted by Plato in the era of Greek old age history. Time and time again, he spent most of his time with the poor when the Jews of his time would scoff at such a notion preferring to spend time with nobility and the worship of cash exchanges. Jesus might have been a jew, but behave like one he did not, as time raged on God would grow increasingly tired of them going back to their old ways and the only reason they self-prophesize as God's chosen people is because they are deluded into believing that God never lost his patience with them. God is slow to anger but eventually, since God's time is not ours, it is clear he did since even the ones who inhabit the place of Jesus now are engaging in some of the worst sins imaginable. As far as I know most of the birthrates of Israel are mostly from non-Jews because places like Tel-Aviv are pillars of sodom, at least nowadays. This might be hard for some to digest but bear with me, I was born in the heartland and raised here, I read the bible a lot as a child, and I am not perfect and I too, once lost my way, through the empiricism of atheist scientism I eventually came back. But most people who return to God, tend to go for post-reformation Christianity whereas I was led towards a more traditional path. For its not work ethic as worship but rather good deeds as worship, not faith alone but faith and works, for even with Socialist principles, one can do charity with a strong state aiding the rest, a combination that is preferable to either full blown communism or a total market economy.
Chapter IV:

Some of my readers may not be Christian, be it known that Nietzsche was against Empiricism and was not an atheist, agnostic in the religious sense he might have been but never was one who celebrated the death of God, as it was a lament of his death, not a celebration. Many pagans and non-Christian religious types have their own set of principles but one can see those of say, Zoroastrianism, Tengriism, Islam, Buddhism, Taoism, and many other folk religions must and should make peace with the Christians as any anti-Empricist thought and a strive towards heavenly unity must be achieved against the pillars of sodom, such as Godlessness and Jewry, for as I said in my treatise on my essay on Perennialism, councils of religious unions should drive an empire to be free of self and sin, to make sure that if America does fall, a new, post-America can be established above the ruins so as to keep, as we are a multi-ethnic enclave, a mutual union of aid and charity, though I would contest that any sort of this from above must be maintained with strong autarky and a separation from the outside world as we have seen previously that sticking our fingers into the international pie has caused much grief for the rest of the world and it would better off, sans Wall Street or Hollywood, a return to a more agrarian, farm based commumalist life would be probably for the best. Many would point to Ocalan and Bookchin for these ideas but they had it wrong when they believed that such societies can exist without a strong.
state apparatus or a culture unifying the confederation would somehow work, if we cannot base our country on ethnic lines we still have the advantage of using religion in its place but not because we’re trying to use it as a means to an end but to keep the nation spiritual and connected to the soil without engaging in drugery of using the God/God’s as our slaves, for we might anger them and it may work against our state.

As far as the usage of strong state and military apparatus, everyone knows that a confederation without law & order and too much liberty can turn a country upside down. this does not mean the average citizen cannot be armed, for all reasons it would be detrimental for any citizen to give up any personal liberty for a state that is well intentioned on enforcing that you are allowed to be free, it would mostly be used internally to make sure nobody tries and sells us out. we are not a country to be bought and sold, we are post-Americans.

Epilogue

Many of my readers will know that I do this because I enjoy writing and providing ideas for people that in times of great strife such as these need something to inspire them to action, however I do not condone extreme violence for the sake of violence, for me, at least there must be a spiritual or economic reason as to undertake such a deed and be done in times of great emergency. we are headed for dark times and I hope you will take what you have learned and applied it accordingly. Take care

Preface
This is the final part of a five part essay series on post-truth political philosophy and metaphysics. I hope you have enjoyed reading and will continue to fight the good fight as these final ones will tackle Frankfurt further, in a less combative way, the false principle of education and professionalism and the military/police issue (as a class issue). Many will see how each of these tie into one another, our own Medusa to replace the old tattered one of subjective information that can be used against one's enemies, state or economic.

Chapter I:

One of the main criticisms of so-called Cultural Marxism is that many in Neoreactionary circles will claim that cultural marxism is an actual product of Karl Marx and The Frankfurt School, while I disgress such accusations are not unfounded, most of them do not appear to realize that many in the school of Frankfurt would vehemently crictize it as a perversion of capital, so what is this "Cultural Marxism" they speak of?
Well its mostly due to corporations trying to exploit capital gains through appealing to race and gender fetishism as to "keep face" and "keep with the times" because apparent to them, these are the pillars of progress. Most in the school would see this as an appropriation of racial and gender based assessments as a tool for capitalist exploitation. Many of the companies that push mixed race propaganda are not doing it to destroy society but because they want higher profit margins to appeal to dunderheaded fence sitters as this "Brave New World" of society, to show how backwards it is to appeal to your own kind and instead "sellout" for consumer goods to sell you a product. The average person would be as such 'If I buy this, I will look better to greater society" but hence they are doing this as a disservice to their own values, buying products they do not need, nevermind such the fact that many who work in the lowest realms of these corporations, in a structural manner are having their labor outsourced to third world countries for pennies on the dime, working long hours for little pay. But I wouldn't expect people, your average citizen of the world to notice this because they got their brand new product and want to show off how cutting-edge they are to people that intrinsically wouldn't care otherwise, considering most people are self-centered and look for validation through consumer goods.

Many of the race and gender fetishisms in such realms as pornography are only a niche product sold to the most debased of humans, most of which who should not exist as to not take up space in a world that has enough of us already, to make a profit gain at the expense of minority labor practices who do not see that their fetish is being sold at a bargain price for their bodies in motion, a notable perversion of the modern world where in the past such things were not a part of civil society and kept behind closed doors, hence the judgement of their peers and members of said society. Before the capitalist pigs saw a way to exploit any human insecurity for money they have accelerated the Hegelian determinism of humanity's decline into moral poverty. What passes for high art now would be consider the area of paupers and low rent human beings that make up the riff-raff and criminal class of the world at large.

Some say that many Frankfurt accolades were anti-family. They were heavily critical of many things tied to the free love movement, and definitely saw how any subculture (even ones not based on gender or race) could be co-opted by capital. see how fast punk became a commodity, or how rap started as an underground phenomenon only until idiots in suits saw how they could market being anti-social as a cultural value. mourning the loss of old ideas to be replaced by more easily exploitable commodities as the Hegelian determinism of society crumbled. To be honest (as a musician myself) I always sought its best to be against all, and not be a part of a scene but an outlier (Camatte would nod at the suggestion). That’s truly what it means to be a sovereign individual as Junger put it, a struggle internally as well as externally, to be free even when marching in stride. Everyone has their struggles within and without themselves, this Nietzschean eternal social struggle is what progress is made of and Adorno even saw that in him (Nietzsche not Junger). Moving on...

Chapter II:

Through the writings of Ivan Illich and Foucault one can see how education as an institution only serves to corrupt individuals, professional bureaucrats giving ideas handed down in chains of humans and Gods alike, that why is objective truth even a matter of contention anymore? We cannot seek knowledge unfettered without commuting with the divine, so any sort of structure imposed by capitalist institutions of state education cannot give us objective answers in the age of post-truth. While I disagree with Bob Black on a leisure driven society as idle hands are the devil’s work (Bob would disagree as he’s irreligious, more on that in a bit), that in a truly free society, those who would seek knowledge would likely commute with divine Gods or your idea of God/God’s, one would try as, Guenon or Evola would, to make use of useful skills instead of centralized institutions that force one to be useful, instead giving man the tools to use at his disposal, as free will in action is an absolute, those unlearned would perish. A man does not need a profit motive to survive, he needs a will, a priori, to survive. That's not to say technology is a bad thing, as public transportation and certain structures would be needed as to move a country forward on an economic basis, paired down to trucking, welding, and public transport. Cars are an environmental hazard that cause our earth to die and to get rid of unnecessary equipment, to a bare minimum for a state to survive without the aid or as little aid as possible through exports and imports should be feasible.

Education systems often give us distorted truths about the world that would be better off studied on one's own, to seek one's own truth outside of "accepted truth", what society deems "absolute truth" even at an age of propaganda where nothing is as true as it seems. To be a free individual is to seek truth outside of this realm. An issue that might be of importance is that you might not know whether you were a boy or your parents are real but at least take solace in the care that if you are being taken care of, it should be the least of your worries as long as your caretakers, as you as a young adult, before leaving on your own, if they are not abusing your right to individual liberty of thought, it is important to keep track of potential outliers that might be serving against one's interests as to get along with society or the state or those who might be serving against the state as per a credit system, now most of my ideas are based on Clifford Douglas' ideas of economic credit and dividends but if the state needs to expand its interest to social credit in case of a degrading society or even without a state, a community, it should be gradually implemented as to not cause too much of a furor with local authorities, a zen like balance between the subjective and the objective. for a balance is necessary to keep all parties safe but enough liberty to live.
Chapter III:

Once seen as a protectorate of state interests, the internal corruption of police and military personnel through international exploitation of resources and internal structures have seen disastrous consequences, but most felt in the United States and Brazil where one not sees them as of the people but a class higher onto themselves as a way to reinforce capital interest in a borgeouise state. A decentralized military is much more effect on a state level as all people should be prepared, at the youngest ages, to fight for national liberation against those who have unjustly colonized our powers that be, on a local level as vigilantes out of voluntary service to keeping order. This ties into the idea of social credit as citizens are accountable for one another instead of a separate class of those who control prison architecture to benefit a state that sees its citizens as potential enemies of the state since the class distinction between police/military and citizen should be given one and the same, to ensure that all between all are protected, and while I do not certainly place most value that people are inherently good, this will eventually level out as all citizens should be accountable for the decentralized state, with the apparatus of a leader and its people maintaining constant contact to ensure fair and equal treatment, those whose records are kept by the state to be accessed at all times by the citizens to ensure those who are doing well, to expect well, those who rail against to be denied service. Of course such records will constantly be scanned for those who try and alter the given data and reported to the citizens at any cost as a way to denote one's status in the system. Armed resistance is only to be used for protectorate from the state of invaders and any use of it against common citizenry is strongly discouraged. While I have stated the pairing down of technology, any that is useful to the state at the lowest level possible to avoid environmental damage is preferred, to create, a closer, volkisch idea to the nation state.
Epilogue

This set of three essays is a continuation of my previous set of doctrines set forth that may be of assistance to society and while some of it contains some memory, it's a collection of solutions and free will to determination for any given society to move forward as the post-truth era is upon us to ensure the survival of at least a modicum of what exists as now to pair down humanity to liveable levels, to merge tech with ecology concerns and both traditional and futurist solutions for modern day issues. Take care.
