

Portrait of Makhno, 1922

The wounded Makhno in 1920

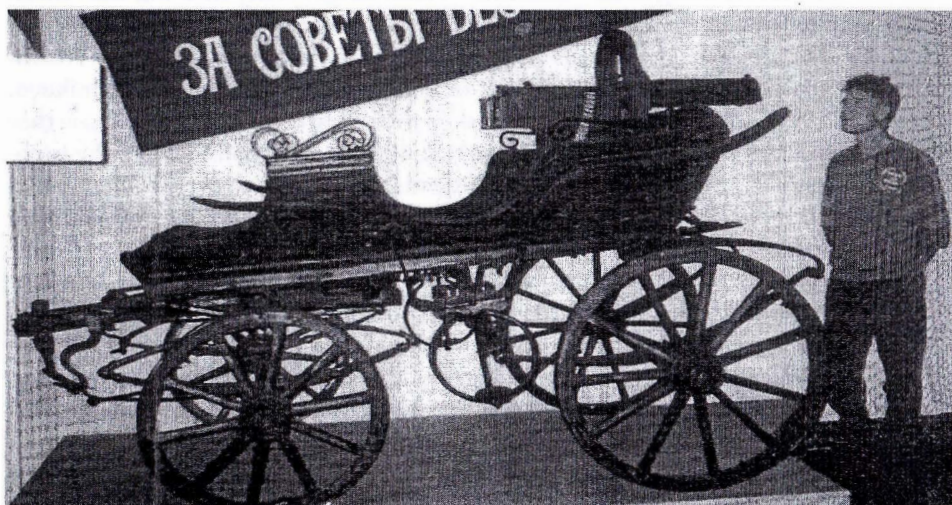

Group of wounded Makhnovists (left to right) Karetnik, Petrenko, Makhno, an unnamed nurse, Kurilenko

Makhnovists poring over the draft of the second alliance with the Reds, Starobelsk, September 1920.

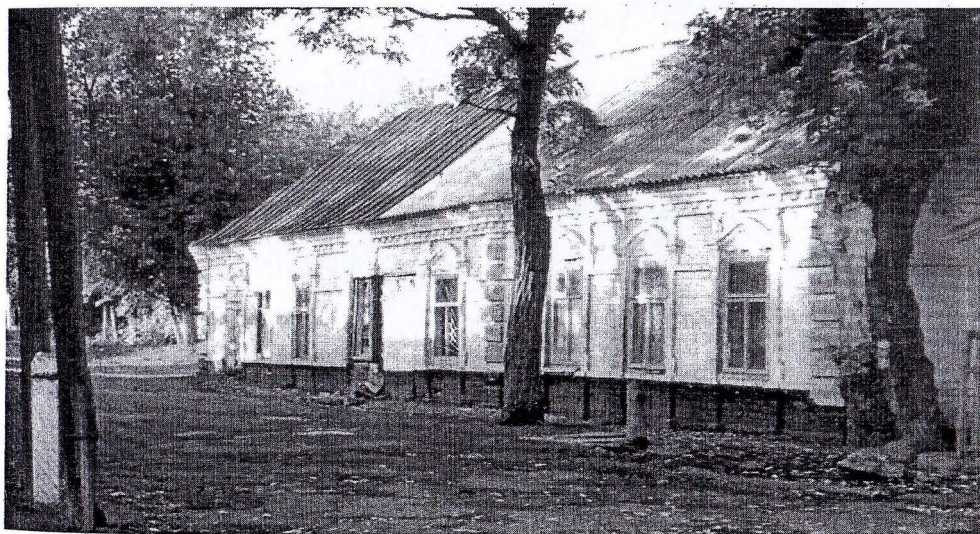

Series of seven stamps commemorating the Makhnovschina, issued in Gulyai-Polye in 1993

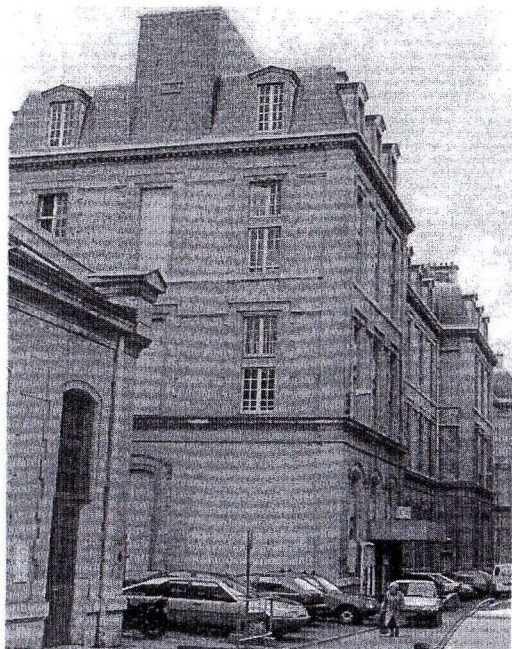

A tatchanka (Photo by J.P. Lagarde)

Unveiling of commemorative plaque marking the 110th anniversary of Nestor Makhno's birth on November 15, 1998, outside the house where he was born. In the center, Makhno's great grand-nephew Viktor Yalansky; behind him, the son of Leon Zadov. Foreground, a kobzar (Ukrainian minstrel) sings Makhnovist songs.

House in Gulyai-Polye used by the Makhnovists as their headquarters.

A wing of the Ténon hospital in Paris where Makhno died.

N. Makhno's funeral urn in the Père Lachaise cemetery in Paris.