Yeah, darn shame about that form of cancer effecting music/rhythm games. And online stores are still region-locked and an pain in the ass anyway.

I kept wishing for some "next-gen" compilations for the PS3(region-free)/360/etc would get released but that never seem to really happen.

At least the DS ones didn't suffer from this and worked quite well.

Still these days I just don't trust Namco much at all...

DLC in rhythm games aint that bad since it is new music that you can pick which ones you like and leave the rest you don't like, instead than buying a whole new game with songs you might not like at all, its a safer approach for both the customer and the publisher, and it only fucks with compleionists

Forgive my total ignorance of Vocaloid culture, but what the fuck is with the utter hate for IA? I was listening to some Umetora on Nico and in 2 or 3 of the songs they just shit over any part IA sang.

As far as I'm aware there's nothing wrong with her. She has a nice design, too.
