10 Commandments for National Socialists

- 1) America is your Fatherland; love it above all and more in deeds than words.
- 2) America's enemies, internal and external, are your enemies; hate them with all your heart.
- 3) Every fellow countryman, even the lowliest, is part of America; love him as you love yourself.
- 4) Ask not what America can do for you, but what you can do for America. In doing so, America shall become great.
- 5) Be proud of America! You have a right to take pride in a Fatherland for which millions have given their lives.
- 6) Those who abuse America, in word or deed, abuse you and your deceased. Treat them as an enemy, for they made the first strike.
- 7) Repay like with like and then some. If you are denied your just rights, remember: you can only secure them again through your own political action.
- 8) Do not be a hooligan racist, but do not fear taking pride in your race and your people. Your ancestors made this country the envy of the world and you now bear the responsibility of continuing that legacy.
- 9) Live your life in such a way that one day you will not need to stand ashamed before a new America.
- 10) Have faith in the future; only thus will you win it.

vote. However, do America's political parties and the disappointment at their endless lies and rampant corruption need to be synonyms with despair of our future? If the parties are no good then let's leave them and go against them!

Oh, no! It is too late for that. We no longer have the faith or determination to proclaim our willingness to fight for America's very life - not under these conditions we are found with today.

You would do well to say "I" not "We". We have the courage, the faith, the determination and strength to do it. And you? How do you imagine the future - your future? For your country's future determines your future.

The Economy and Politics

There is one factor in which I still see a spark of hope - our economy. I believe the indestructible industriousness of the American people will triumph in the end. Work and the economy is what decides our fate. We must work more - both toward achieving our cause as well as boosting the economy. Less talking, more doing!

Very good! I suggest you go and preach to our 100 million unemployed² and preach to them, like some voice crying in the dark: "We must work more and do less talking!" Maybe then someone will show you the folly of your claim.

² As of 2015. This value includes the amount of people currently unemployed (9.7 million) as well as those "not in the labor force" (92 million) per the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

politicians produce. True politics result from the collective will of a unified nation. When is the last time a politician did anything for his people?

Politics may be defined as responsible activity in the service of the people. Its goal - creating for these people such conditions as enable them to preserve and defend their existence, as well as their cultural identity, in this harsh world. To see that they multiply, and to ensure liberty and a living for themselves and their descendants.

This is what our politics seeks to do. We hope that the older among our fellow countrymen see the wisdom in this belief and that the young will rally around it with a fervor that only the youth can muster.

On Youth Involvement in Politics

So that is the political idea you want to practice with your movement? With youth who have barely got a whiff of real life? With riots and insurrections? With street fighting and intimidation of anyone who thinks differently than you? With this unscrupulous fight against the government and its national foundation?

Yes indeed! We want to practice these politics because no one else does. Neither the experienced mature leaders of the people, who can't complain enough about us right-wing "extremists" and "Nazis" - we have heard it all - nor the intellectuals of education or the timid, sickly, pale stay-at-home would-be politicians! Neither the government nor those who make its "politics".

a humiliating end. We will protect our people from that fate. They shall grow strong in will and spirit; they shall not be humiliated like a pariah among nations.

We want our rights, and those rights are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness! We want to keep our heritage, have bread on our table and a nation for us, our children, and our children's children to call home! If we are denied these rights, we will fight for them.

This fight for life, liberty, happiness and our nation is everyone's business; the highest citizen as well as the lowliest. It is a matter for the entire nation. The united power of 300 million Americans determined to survive will go a longer way towards ensuring peace than any lie about human rights.

America's Freedom

And what will be the end result of all this?

The end result will be the freedom of the American people on American soil. This freedom will ensure a life, and a good one at that, for every working American. It bears within itself those moral and spiritual strengths with which we will shape this new century. We want to achieve more by means of this freedom than just a new system. We want to achieve the new man who, within the conditions of the better world view that we will have attained, can progress into the future. This future will be ours, or it will not be at all.

Liberalism will die so that socialism may live. Capitalism and Marxism will die so that nationalism may live. Then, we shall shape the new America - the national socialist United States of America!

The Class Struggle

The middle class is the backbone by which our nation has the ability to stand up tall and proud. Destruction of the American middle-class will surely mean the destruction of America. No more can those who put their blood, sweat and tears into this nation of ours allow themselves and their country to continue suffering at the hands of those who sold their country and its people for their insatiable greed. The middle class built this country and this country was built around the dream of everyone's right to a middle class life. As long as we condone a system that allows a few to have inconceivable wealth when so many more live in the streets, the class struggle will be a real and pressing danger to America and her people.

That means you have become a party supporting the class struggle! You call yourself a laborer's party - that was the first step. You then called yourself socialist - that was the second. Now? You're talking about an entirely middle-class nation. That is the third and final step! To me, it seems you are preaching communism!

There is truly nothing more hypocritical than a well-fed citizen protesting against the idea of class warfare in regard to the working class.

You yourself made it through the winter all snug and comfortable. Your very position is provocative of class struggle. What gives you the right to put yourself on such a high pedestal, all swelled with the pride of national responsibility, against the struggle of the working class? For the last seventy years, has the middle class been anything other than a single class that claims membership of nearly all Americans? And has this class

Chancellor is the one who matters and you can be sure that we'll see to it that he is a man of courage and integrity; the likes of which this country hasn't seen in a long, long time.

War and Pacifism

You are your kind are always trouble-makers! You don't want peace and order, you want conflict. War will be the last pearl of your wisdom!

You talk of peace, but I ask - is what we are given today peace? Is it?!? Is it peace when millions are either out in the street, out of work, or without food? Is it peace when young children have to go hungry, when so many of our people work themselves to the bone only to die worn out and tired, having nothing to leave their children, nothing to say I accomplished that? Peace is not being forced to watch your morals, culture and fellow people decay around you and watch your once great and thriving nation slowly rot away from all the corruption that both fills and is continually pumped into it.

What we have faced since the end of WWII has been pointless war after pointless war by a government that cares more about "helping" foreign countries than it does its own people! We have had forced mass immigration in order that our cultural heritage might be destroyed so that our puppet masters can have the slave labor force they so desperately want! Drug use is nothing short of an epidemic and drug wars from Mexico are now spilling over our borders. On top of all of this, tiny asocial counter-cultures such as homosexuality, feminism and marijuana supporters are being legalized, encouraged and pushed onto us despite the majority of Americans being disgusted at such Finally, we speak of a middle-class one class nation. Why? Because this majority middle-class nation has already turned into a complete one-class nation. We speak of this because this is a system under which value is no longer placed on achievement and will, but rather only on frivolous education in fields such as "gender studies" or "LGBT studies" and wealth are now the highest pillars of achievement in our country. While this is a problem in and of itself, it is worsened by the ever-growing wealth gap which, to me, seems to obey the idea that the harder you work, the less you have to show for it. We speak of a middle-class nation because this system has taken a nation's greatest good - the love of the nation and its people - and has perverted it into a venal love of possessions, thereby excluding 150 million American-feeling and American-thinking workers.

What the middle class wanted is irrelevant. What it achieved it what is important. If the people want a strong America, what did they achieve to attain this goal? So far, it would seem they achieved a nation of slaves who have less hope with each passing generation of providing good lives for themselves and their children. Now, we have a nation that indoctrinates children into materialism, the sexualization of anything that can be sold, and a culture that promotes - and legalizes - drug use. As if this all wasn't bad enough, we have the sacrificial altar of "equality" that demands our culture accept feminism, homosexuality, transgenderism, multiculturalism, and a plethora of other asocial elements that the majority of our nation does not want and which many other countries outright ban!³

guided by self-confident responsibility, the preconditions that were requisite for the complete conquest of the State and its infusion with the new ideas.

It will be no different in our case.

Once we have captured the nation, that nation is ours. We and we alone will be its responsible representatives. Even if today, in the battle against a corrupt system, we are and must be a party - not of course, in the sense of a congressional party - the second in which that system collapses, we will be the government. Then, we will immediately set to work remodeling that government according to our own principles.

We want to liberate America, that is all. Sadly, a large part of the American people have already become so materialistic, cowardly, and - how should I say - spiritually drained, that what is good and in their best interest can only be achieved against their will.

That's all well and good but even you have to admit that a dictatorship can't be a permanent state of affairs. Something has to come after!

Of course something does! We have considered that too, and made our intentions known: by no means do we want to exclude the people from power. We only want to achieve and consolidate those conditions which alone will allow our people to ensure their continued existence on this planet. Once those conditions are achieved and consolidated, our work is done. Then we will have the national socialist nation that we want seeing over and over that the politicians care only about money and the few interest groups who give them millions each election. After four or eight years, the majority will then vote for the losing side, giving them their turn to fill their pockets and further sacrifice the American people. This cycle continues ad-infinitem until the people either cast off the sickly parasite or succumb to its ravenous thirst.

And so, where would we get the moral justification for going up against our greed-driven government if we did not seek to tear it down to its foundations - those necessary for the comfortable survival of the American people - and replace it with a new, Socialist structuring of American society?

Muscle and Intellect

So, who is to help you tear down the old system and build up the new?

For that, we rely on the healthy instincts of the American workers. The day will come when even the last of them will see the light. Someday, both muscle and intellect will rise up together in protest; and then it will be our turn to bring changes and to judge. We will do everything in our power to see to it that the time comes soon.

Then, the workers of muscle and intellect will find each other. Then it will become clear who truly loves his country, beyond party and social class. And then, the working youth of the future will build up the new United States of America.

guarantees that every productive person, whether his means of output be muscle or intellect, is given the largest possible share in the goods and profits arising from production.

3) Finished goods, which are essentially complete and thus require no further strength, talent, inventiveness, enterprise or ingenuity - things such as transportation, communication, trusts and syndicates - are returned to the State.

With this, the sequence of production comes full circle and once again incorporates each and every worker responsibly into its cycle. By putting this system into effect, we free productivity from the shackles of wage slavery. The result will be a free people with a free economy, in a free country: the national community.

Congress and Political Parties

And all of that requires a new party? Why didn't you just take this platform so some existing congressional party? Surely one would have been willing to support it!

Ha! - You might be right. Certainly any political party would have supported it, if it could have gained a million votes that way. Unfortunately for them, we don't have much faith in votes and Congress. We don't want to just "support" our platform in Congress - we want to put it into effect. That is where we are different from all other parties. The others advocate platforms, talk, debate, take a vote, and collect their hefty paychecks. We, on the other hand, want to turn our platform into reality.

work. The government is now refusing to deport illegals, thus further straining the welfare system so that non-US citizens can claim their undeserved welfare check. Our government continues to use an ever increasing amount of tax payer dollars to support programs that the American people overwhelmingly disapprove of. America's "capitalism" is now but a tool for the super-rich to further engorge themselves while forcing a more and more Marxist-like political-economic system⁵ upon the people. This "capitalist" Marxism, if you will, with its theories destructive of peoples and races, is the exact opposite of socialism.

2) Capitalism was never the American worker's ideal of the State. He accepted this jumble of Jewish ideas⁶ only because there were no other choices open to him in the struggle for the freedom of his class.

3) Capitalism is the graveyard not only for national peoples but also particularly for the one class that fights whole-heartedly for its realization: the working class.

It is therefore not the workers right to give up on socialism, but rather, to give up on capitalism. The sooner he does so, the better for him. Capitalism's usefulness is at an end and its physical death is drawing ever closer.

⁵ Under the Obama administration alone, the US has passed laws increasing the estate tax as well as the number and scope of regulations regarding national communication outlets. These laws relate to the abolition of inheritance and state control of communications and transportation, respectively; both of which are tenets laid out by Marx in his Communist Manifesto for the implementation of communism in capitalist societies.

⁶ Capitalism is built around the principle of "return on investment". Usury, a decidedly Jewish invention, is the only way by which capitalism can achieve this.

Nature loves diversity, not uniformity. It does not want a homogenous porridge of mankind - it wants a mankind composed of many different peoples and races, among which the strongest will ever hold its own over the weak.

We have recognized this fact and are willing to act accordingly in order to help our American nation forge the weapons it needs in the struggle of existence on this Earth. We do this so that our nation can assert itself in this world of struggle and triumph of the stronger over the weaker. That is what we call being nationalistic!

Production and Nationalization

That is all well and good, but all this has only been talk. Now, the pivotal point: how do you envision the solution to the social problem?

To get to the bottom of this question: what is the nature of the social problem? 100 million workers are either unemployed or under-employed. All of them are unconditionally at the mercy of capitalism which has complete control over all the methods of production. Thus, they are forced to sell their own, their only capital - their power of work - at the lowest possible price. This problem is further compounded by all the illegals - that the government wants to legalize, by the way¹⁰ - who work for an amount that the average American simply ¹⁰ In 2014, President Obama stated that he would take unilateral action to "give illegals some path to become legal citizens". This created much public outcry as it was seen as a refusal to enforce US immigration law and reward those who ignore it with US citizenship. Additionally, many agree that legalizing four million illegals would further strain the social security system which is already near its breaking point.

3) Certainly, there are also white Jews and there are more of them every day. But, that is no argument in their favor, but rather against them. The very fact that we call scoundrels among us Jews is proof that being a Jew is something inferior; otherwise, one would call the swindler a yellow Christian or, perhaps, a rotten Buddhist! That there are so many "white" Jews proves that the subversive Jewish spirit has already contaminated large numbers of our people.⁸ It is just one more admonition for us to take up the fight against the global Jewish plague in every possible way.

4) It is not a bad sign for us, but rather for you that 300 million Americans would fear 3 million Jews. We don't fear the 3 million, we fight against them. You however, are too cowardly for this fight and only ever beat around the bush. If those 300 million Americans would fight as hard as we do, they would no longer need to fear them; it would be the Jew's turn to be afraid.

Dictatorship or Republic?

Now, you will have to come clean. Are you dictators or republicans?

Neither one or the other. This is because:

1) The question of an organizational structure of a state is a minor one today. A people wasting away under the forced destruction of their culture, nation and livelihood by their own government have more safe in international banks like those in New York City. But, these papers in and of themselves are worthless - they don't roll on railway tracks, yield coal or oil, nor do they produce any kind of food or other goods - they don't maintain value. They only serve to be manipulated by the thieves who run Wall Street so they can skim off the interest. If we had a real American Nation, it would declare all US stocks stashed in international banks null and void and treat them as the scraps of paper that they are. In their place, we would proclaim a monetary system of national labor in America. But, since we do not have such a system, we must continue to put up with usury and the unnecessary debt slavery that accommodates it.

National capital and national wealth, that is, wealth and capital belonging to the people and the nation, does not exist; instead, everything is under the management of an international syndicate of banks. National capital does not work for us on the international scene, but rather, the hyenas of international finance use it to work internationally.

2) The fight against this world power does of course have to be fought internationally, and it would indeed be very short-sighted of us if we were not to support, in all countries, each and every movement which fights on the same front as us. But the goal of this fight is never, by no means, a World Republic of Socialism - there has never been such a thing and there never will. Such a thing exists only in the minds of those who deny the differences of the world's various peoples and those who ignore reality in favor of idealism. The true goal is the establishment of new nationalistic socialist states. We also place little or no stock in a united international struggle of nations against that of international finance.

allow this nation of ours to decay and die, a new symbol common to those who rise up from the ashes to restore this nation may take its place. Ultimately, whatever movement rallies the American people in defense of their home and future and achieves the national unity that we desire will decide what symbol unifies the people under a common cause. We are confident that we will be that movement but whether or not the American people will join us in time I cannot say.

Our Platform

Every party has a platform. What is yours? If you want to win the American people over to your side, what do you offer them?

If we were big shots or "politicians", we would spell out a long list of promises - Nothing is easier than that. Telling the truth is what's difficult and it is even more so to listen to and understand it. We tell it nevertheless, knowing that it alone shows the way to salvation.

Certainly, every party has its platform but no party has ever put its platform into effect. None could, nor will they, because all platforms set out to date have been unworkable. Our platform is concise: the liberty of the American people. The way to achieve it is clear and simple - the liberation of the American worker and his reintegration into the national framework.

We will do anything its takes to achieve this goal. We will not back away from social revolution if the liberty of the nation requires it. We do not fear to burst the chains imposed on this nation if that is what is

We want an America of the working class. What does that mean? It means that we want an America in which work and achievement are the highest moral and political standards. That is why we are a worker's party in the truest sense of the term. Once we have gained the power of the government, America will be a nation of labor of the mind and body, a working-class state.

Those are grand words for sure but tell me, what is behind them? Or rather, do you intend to use empty phrases to gloss over unthought-out half-ideas?

Not at all my friend; don't misunderstand me. The America of the future will be reorganized to its very foundations. It is wrong to believe that the middle class could affect this rearrangement, considering that it is at the same time the pillar of the nation against which this rearrangement will be directed, namely the middle-class Americans of today. That of course does not mean that members of the middle class cannot help build the new America. But, the historical role of the middle class is at an end and will have to yield to the creative force of a younger, healthier class. It will be replaced by the younger class of - we don't say "laborer" as that has arguably become a slander on the American workers - the working class. This working class includes everyone that works for America and towards her future: muscle and intellect.

Muscle will be guided by intellect and intellect will ensure the consistent support lent to it by the creative power of force in order to build up this new American Nation. This inter-reliance of intellect and muscle will fundamentally unite the workers of both sides. However, for as long as the American worker's leadership is made up of those who work only for their own greed, both liberty and happiness by the many for the greed of the few.

The Middle Class

Aren't your opponents perhaps right when they say national socialism is just a petty movement of the far-right whose leadership consists of bigots, racists, neo-Nazis and those who can't obtain stable lives? How is a worker to believe that these could possibly liberate him? You won't be able to convince them that workers can only be liberated by these types.

That is a lot of nonsense, and all in one breath too! Listen:

1) National socialism is not a petty, far-right movement but rather, on the contrary. It is a protest against the widening gap between the rich and the poor that is championed as proof that our capitalist system is working just as it should. It is a protest against the destruction of the American culture and its morals and beliefs. It is the result of a unified people demanding an end to the spending of their hard-earned money on foreign peoples when so many of our own are suffering. It is a movement meant for a nation that believes the welfare of its own people should be of the highest priority for its government. A strong and healthy nation can only be so for as long as a strong and healthy people make it that way.

2) Name just one racist in our leadership! You see, my friend, if a racist, bigot, or outcast is at the head of any movement that opposes us, and I could name a hundred just like that - then he is a leader of his people, a champion of social justice. However, if he is at the head of national socialism, then he is a racist and a bigot
