Nickelodeon is airing a show, created by a cuckold pornographer, with cuckoldry elements hidden therein.

For those who yet don't know, a new kid's show on Nickelodeon, Bella and the Bulldogs, was created by someone responsible for cuckold pornography (and co-created by a you know what).

The show has many allusions to cuckoldry peppered throughout, as shown in the infographic. The pornographer creator's Facebook page shows his true behavior. His interests include porn stars responsible for interracial cuckold pornography.

The infographic is under 5 megabytes, so it can be posted on Twitter and elsewhere.

>those quotes

She's right, though - the show also crumbles from that kind of critique. For a show that's trying for a cover story of "muh diversity" and "muh equality", do you see a single black girl on the cheerleading team? Or anywhere that isn't the very back of the background? Hell, even the Asian chick has a Jewish last name! Do you see our little black bull being portrayed as clever or able to control his impulses? Fuck no, they write him to sound off in sanitised call-outs to the stupidest ghetto lingo you can think of. The females in the show are consistently vapid and talk about how they can't control their emotions or think rationally.

No, this is about keeping the races where they are wanted - being played off against each other. This is about putting the white girl on a pedestal as an object of desire, stripped of her agency while retaining its appearance. It's about showing black boys that the white girl is the objective. It's about showing white boys that they're nothing. It's teaching children to lie to themselves and set up openings into which control hooks can be sunk firmly later in their lives.

This is about laying the foundations for insecurity and control, as it always is.

As much as I like the idea, it probably won't fly on a kikestation. There's no subtlty to it. Plus, I think Schlomo would catch on if it were only white children, so I propose a boy and a girl for each of the four races(Black, Aryan, Asian, and Native American). All live their own lives in their cultures and with their people, but convene to learn from Aryan Man(I propose the name Aaron).

Just proposing ideas to make this more feasible.

I said this in a previous thread and I'll say it again, find every example of the white cuck being put down, humiliated and dominated over and mute the laugh track.

Normal people will be blown away that this is a children television show. It's psychopathic racist behaviour being promoted to children. There's no denying it at this point, if that white child was a visible minority the outcry over this show would be deafening.

That and the TWO posters of white babies with Xs over them.

That and the special section of the boys' locker room (which would have cost hundreds in stocking with all that crap and a thousand or so in building) specifically for the girl player instead of just having her stay in the girls' room.

But, then again, "boys can have vaginas" and "girls can have penises" these days, so we're just "bigots" for wanting genitals separated, I guess.

Could have to do with not having children as well. It's the reason why homosexuality has been promoted so much in mainstream culture.

Here we see the full gamut run in casting.

White male: punching bag, disgustingly effeminate behavior, feminine, scratchy voice, subservient milquetoast
Black male: "cool", leader, confident, able to bully responsibility onto others
White female: main character, "leader", tough and strong and independent quarterback, but still "cute" and "feminine" and "girly".
Jew: the tallest, also cool-like the black kid-confident, equal in team status to the black kid, but, again, taller and therefore better.

Try switching things around.

The black male as a punching bag for others? SLAVERY, YOU RACIST!
The white female as the effeminate, weak one? PATRIARCHY, YOU SEXIST!
The jew as the sniveling one (taking the role of the mustache kid)? HOLOCAUST, YOU ANTI-SEMITE!

Nothing but this current setup is "acceptable" these days. What the fuck ever happened to Leave it to Beaver or the Andy Griffith Show?

>with a Feminism focus

It's not even actually feminist, even by insane third-wave standards. When you look at how pretty much every female character in the show - even Bella - is actually portrayed you can see it's very much making girls live down to the corrosive, weak, irrational stereotype.

The feminist angle is slapped-on camouflage, nothing more.

This whole monstrous affair reminds me of two postings, the first from old Yggdrasil http://www.whitenationalism.com/yj/yj-13.htm

Beyond Freud - the Mapplethorpe Card

"Modern times produce new pioneers. Indeed, in the 1990's Sigmund Freud seems a bit like old hat. For special enemies Freud's tactic is too "civil".

As we mentioned before in a series of earlier posts:

"It is a sad fact that our social sciences, most particularly sociology and political science, devote much effort to the study of average people, with a view toward controlling their thoughts, votes and attitudes."

"Far more interesting and important is the study of the motivations of our elites. Such studies are seldom, if ever, done outside the field of economics."

And indeed the latter half of the Twentieth Century has produced new images which hold a much more powerful sway over our elites than do the theories of Sigmund Freud.

The most powerful of these images are the photographs of Robert Mapplethorpe.

These, dear reader, are photographs and other artistic representations of male genitalia. These works attract large numbers of our cosmopolitan sophisticates to exhibitions in galleries from New York and Chicago to LA. and San Francisco.

Most of the pictures are of what our press, lapsing as it must into "code", calls "homoerotic art."

They run the gamut from a relatively mundane phallus protruding from the center of a flower, to men copulating, and on to a man with a bullwhip protruding from his rear end.

So powerfully do these images resonate with our predominantly heterosexual elites, that Yggdrasil has seen prints decorating the walls of the world headquarters of a client. (And indeed it is at such times that one appreciates the ego on patrol against the dark "id" preventing any inadvertent "slips" into aggression against the hand that pays the bills.)

Now I mentioned that our press must talk about these exhibits in code. It is not so much that the pictures themselves cannot be discussed; it is the gravitational pull these images exert on our elites that is troublesome.

It is not so much that the "art" might be described when a middle American city like Cincinnati bans the exhibit from its museum; but that in describing the court case brought by the ACLU to reverse the ban, the newspapers might have to explain its "redeeming social value" in the eyes of our elites. Now _that_ must be described in code!

The middle class American probably has no trouble understanding that homosexuals might hold a fascination toward these works.

But what about our heterosexual elites? What is in these photographs that excites them?

Let us no longer speak in code!

The centerpiece of Mapplethorpe's exhibit is a photograph of a black man urinating into the mouth of a white man on his knees.

Perhaps to a homosexual, this photograph could represent some sort of erotic play.

But to our elites it has an entirely different meaning. It is the ultimate triumph of their multiculturalist vision. It is a graphic image of the endpoint of their struggle for "tolerance" for "diversity" and to "right wrongs" and to procure "equal justice for all."

That endpoint is the ultimate humiliation of the White Male.

The centerpiece photograph and the entire Mapplethorpe collection become a symbol to our elites of their hope to accomplish with sly manipulation of cultural toxins that which could never be accomplished through direct confrontation.

The liberal frustration with half-way measures like employment quotas finds its release here in a photo of a white male on his knees in a position of degradation and subservience to one of the liberals' dark allies. It is an excitement that is heightened by the danger of its discovery by the masses. No freudian "slips" allowed!

And so it is not terribly surprising that in the fever swamps of alt.revisionism we should see the Mapplethorpe card appear, in defense of the Holocaust story and all else that is "just and true"

Holy shit, the more you dissect this show the more it resembles the perfect extreme of what has been going on at a lower burn for years, likely decades. The degradation and feminization of white men and often but not always men in general to a lesser degree. Bella and the bull is actually a pretty decent vivisection of an elite media apparatus that has thus far often managed to hide itself from accusations. It's an extreme really, possibly a sign post of endgame cultural rot if not a nice slap in the face for a populace weary of media shitlibs, globalist kikes and ridiculous American nogs. We just gotta make sure this fucking disgusting peak behind the curtain doesn't go down the memory hole (easy with the net) but we should really meme it and get it in peoples faces.

>She's right, though - the show also crumbles from that kind of critique. For a show that's trying for a cover story of "muh diversity" and "muh equality", do you see a single black girl on the cheerleading team?

It's funny, SJW black women are definitely on our side (though they probably won't take a side on gassing yids). I don't know if you've noticed but all the bm/ww shilling hurts the black women who prefer their own statistically.

We should extend a hand to them under a more moderate guise.

Almost every picture of him here it's always with his arms crossed in front of chest. Hands protecting genitals. Legs crossed. Bag used as shield. All signs of closed posture:

>Closed posture is a posture in which parts of the body most susceptible to trauma are obscured. These body parts are: throat, abdomen and genitals. Damage to the genitals prevents the transfer of their genes to future generations and is sometimes seen as being synonymous with death.[12] Therefore, both humans and animals try to protect these vulnerable body parts from injury. In humans, certain behaviors may signal closed posture: Arms crossed on the chest or abdomen, hands clasped in front of the genitals, and crossing legs. Clothing may also signal closed posture: a buttoned suit, or a handbag or briefcase held in front of the person. Closed posture often gives the impression of detachment, disinterest, and hostility. Research has also shown that these behaviors usually convey unpleasant feelings.[4] These feelings were evident when the participant had to observe the closed posture and when he or she was told to assume the posture.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Posture_%28psychology%29#Open_and_closed_body_posture

I don't think it's all acting. That actor has probably been abused sexually and this is how he is in real life. It becomes more apparent as the other actors are in dominant poses.

Alright, there are two romance plots in Episode 12 worth mentioning. I can't get sound WebMs from this episode, so you'll have to make do with stills.

The entire episode revolves around the "Homecoming Dance" (and all its dating shenanigans) and the "Homecoming Game". The Bulldogs are to play their big rivals, the Cobras. The Cobras are headed up by big, confident white boys who are portrayed as arrogant and overbearing - the usual "underdog gives established arrogant champions their comeuppance" plot.

Plot: Bella's Date
>just after the Cobras are introduced
>Bella is initially approached by a handsome confident white boy, is charmed >White boy asks her to "hang out", then to the homecoming dance, Bella accepts >turns out he's the captain of the Cobras, the opposing team >all other characters (both male and female) repeatedly express stern disapproval >Bella holds out anyway
>the Bulldogs beat the Cobras
>Bella excitedly goes up to handsome captain-boy with her "mum" (some kind of oversized corsage? Idk about American mutations of things) on, excited for the dance after the game >he can't handle that she beat him, breaks her heart on the spot
>Troy (black kid) swaggers up, asks her to the dance (after he talks at length about how popular he is and "I warned you about dating a cobra!") >they are both immediately crowned Homecoming King and Queen!

>dating the handsome confident white man was a mistake Bella should not have made >but dating the black man is immediately followed by recognition and success! awwwww
