Hitler & WWII

By Anon

MAIN ARGUMENTS:

HITLER'S legacy is highly exaggerated and often wrong. Hitler's policies and beliefs are not as evil or unfounded as most people think. Arguably, the Allies should have fought with him as an ally, instead of an enemy.

First counterargument:

Hitler systematically killed six million Jews. He is an evil person.

Rebuttal 1:

Hitler had good reasons to hate the Jews as a group back then.

Reasoning:

Many of the primary forces behind economic exploitation and far-left political influence, especially Communism, in the Weimar Republic (post-WWI Germany, http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Weimar_Republic) were dominated by Jewish individuals. It is important to note that Jews made up less than 1% of the population in the Weimar Republic (<http://www.ushmm.org/wlc/en/article.php?ModuleId=10007052>), yet their influence was far-reaching.

The Nazis didn't hate the Jews "just because". The reasoning behind the Nazi's actions is seemingly never presented in history lessons (excuses like "they were a good scapegoat" are hardly a true representation of the actual situation at the time). Jews have been expelled from regions many, many times throughout history (even as recently as 2014: <http://www.aljazeera.com/news/americas/2014/08/jews-expelled-from-guatemala-village-20148305238923957.html>) (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Timeline_of_antisemitism). You don't get forcibly removed from a region as a group so many times in history "just because" or because "they make good scapegoats". There are numerous examples of why rulers throughout history might not have been fond of Jews, and later in this document you will see why these preconceptions have continued all the way to the modern era.

The Nazis were never secretive about the reasons for their anti-Jew campaigning. The Nazi government even overtly spelled out their reasoning in English pamphlets such as "Jewish Domination of Weimar Germany", which analyzed pre-Nazi census population statistics (<http://www.amazon.com/Jewish-Domination-Weimar-Germany-Eckhart/dp/1492991961>). The main arguments behind the Nazi's dislike of the Jews are related to:

- The fact that many Communist leaders and promoters were Jewish, and often had ties to the Soviets;
- Extensive post-WWI Jewish immigration into Germany, and the tendency for these Jews to live strictly in their own closed, nepotistic groups in cities (especially Berlin) instead of properly assimilating into German society;
- Extreme overrepresentation of Jews in top positions of medicine, the press, education, theatre, and art in Weimar Germany, who promoted their own (often communist, politically far-left, and/or sexually-charged) principles instead of those of the German people at large;
- Extreme overrepresentation of Jews in top positions of banking and business profiteering, who were highly exploitive of the German people and the German economy for their own interests.

Some quotes from notable historians of the time period give a better picture of the situation:

"Jews were especially visible in private banking in Berlin, which in 1923 had 150 private Jewish banks, as opposed to only 11 private non-Jewish banks. They owned 41% of iron and scrap iron firms and 57% of other metal businesses. Jews were very active in the stock market, particularly in Berlin, where in 1928 they comprised 80% of the leading members of the stock exchange. By 1933, when the Nazis began eliminating Jews from prominent positions, 85% of the brokers on the Berlin Stock exchange were dismissed because of their 'race'. At least a quarter of full professors and instructors (at German universities) had Jewish origins. In 1905-6 Jewish students comprised 25% of the law and medical students. In 1931, 50% of the 234 theatre directors in Germany were Jewish, and in Berlin the number was 80%."

—Sarah Gordon, 1984, Hitler, Germans and the Jewish Question

Sarah Gordon's Hitler, Germans and the Jewish Question from the Princeton University Press has been quoted as a source in multiple Wikipedia articles related to WWII (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Association_of_German_National_Jews; <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Denazification>; <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kristallnacht>; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Responsibility_for_the_Holocaust).

"In the all-important administration of Prussia, any number of strategic positions came into the hands of Hebrews. A telephone conversation between three Jews in Ministerial offices could result in the suspension of any periodical or newspaper in the state. No one who lived through the period from 1919 to 1926 is likely to forget the sexual promiscuity that prevailed. Throughout a town like Berlin, hotels and pensions made vast fortunes by letting rooms by the hour or day to baggageless, unregistered guests, throngs of child prostitutes outside the doors of the great Berlin hotels and restaurants. Most of them (the night clubs and vice-resorts) were owned and managed by Jews."

—Edgar Mowrer, 1939, Germany Puts the Clock Back

"In the Berlin of pre-Hitler years most of the theatres were Jewish-owned or Jewish-leased, most of the leading film and stage actors were Jews, the plays performed were often by German, Austrian or Hungarian Jews and were staged by Jewish film producers, applauded by Jewish dramatic critics in Jewish newspapers. The Jews are not cleverer than the Gentiles, if by clever you mean good at their jobs. They ruthlessly exploit the common feeling of Jews, first to get a foothold in a particular trade or calling, then to squeeze the non-Jews out of it. It is not true that Jews are better journalists than Gentiles. They held all the posts on those Berlin papers because the proprietors and editors were Jewish."

—Edgar Mowrer, 1939, Disgrace Abounding

Edgar Mowrer was a Pulitzer Prize-winning American journalist (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Edgar_Ansel_Mowrer).

"Even in November 1938, after five years of anti-Semitic legislation and persecution, they still owned, according to the Times correspondent in Berlin, something like a third of the real property in the Reich. The banks, including the Reichsbank and the big private banks, were practically controlled by them. So were the publishing trade, the cinema, the theatres and a large part of the press all the normal means, in fact, by which public opinion in a civilized country is formed. The largest newspaper combine in the country with a daily circulation of four millions was a Jewish monopoly. Every year it became harder and harder for a gentile to gain or keep a foothold in any privileged occupation. At this time it was not the 'Aryans' who exercised racial discrimination. It was a discrimination that operated without violence. It was exercised by a minority against a majority. There was no persecution, only elimination."
—Sir Arthur Bryant, 1940, Unfinished Victory

Sir Arthur Bryant was an influential writer and historian whose works were particularly well-read by government and ruling elite. He was the favorite historian of three British prime ministers: Winston Churchill, Clement Attlee, and Harold Wilson (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Arthur_Bryant).

"The Ullstein group was a kind of super-trust; the largest organization of its kind in Europe, and probably in the world. They published four daily papers in Berlin alone, among these the venerable Vossische Zeitung, founded in the eighteenth century, and the B.Z. am Mittag, an evening paper with a record circulation and a record speed in getting the news out. Apart from these, Ullstein's published more than a dozen weekly and monthly periodicals, ran their own news service, their own travel agency, etc., and were one of the leading book publishers. The firm was owned by the brothers Ullstein – they were five, like the original Rothschild brothers, and like them also, they were Jews. Their policy was liberal and democratic, and in cultural matters progressive to the point of avant-gardism. They were antimilitaristic, antichauvinistic, and it was largely due to their influence on public opinion that the policy of Franco-German rapprochement of the Briand-Stresemann era became a vogue among the progressive part of the German people. The firm of Ullstein was not only a political power in Germany; it was at the same time the embodiment of everything progressive and cosmopolitan in the Weimar Republic."
—Arthur Koestler, 1949, The God that Failed (<https://rosswolfe.files.wordpress.com/2015/05/the-god-that-failed.pdf>)

Arthur Koestler, himself Jewish and affiliated with Communism in Germany, was an influential journalist (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Arthur_Koestler).

Even Winston Churchill had his own thoughts about Jews at the time:
(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jewish_Bolshevism#Outside_Nazi_Germany; <http://www.fpp.co.uk/bookchapters/WSC/WSCwrote1920.html>; http://en.wikisource.org/wiki/Zionism_versus_Bolshevism)

"...And it may well be that this same astounding race may at the present time be in the actual process of producing another system of morals and philosophy, as malevolent as Christianity was benevolent, which, if not arrested would shatter irretrievably all that Christianity has rendered possible..."

"...From the days of Spartacus-Weishaupt to those of Karl Marx, and down to Trotsky (Russia), Bela Kun (Hungary), Rosa Luxembourg (Germany), and Emma Goldman (USA), this world-wide conspiracy for the overthrow of civilisation and for the reconstitution of society on the basis of arrested development, of envious malevolence, and impossible equality, has been steadily growing..."

"...It played...a definitely recognisable part in the tragedy of the French Revolution. It has been the mainspring of every subversive movement during the Nineteenth Century; and now at last this band of extraordinary personalities from the underworld of the great cities of Europe and America have gripped the Russian people by the hair of their heads and have become practically the undisputed masters of that enormous empire..."

"...There is no need to exaggerate the part played in the creation of Bolshevism and in the actual bringing about of the Russian revolution by these international, and for the most part atheistic Jews. It is certainly a very great one; it probably outweighs all others. With the notable exception of Lenin [subsequently revealed as Jewish], the majority of the leading figures are Jews. Thus Tchitcherin, a pure Russian, is eclipsed by his nominal subordinate Litvinoff, and the influence of Russians like Bukharin or Lunacharski cannot be compared with the power of Trotsky, or of Zinovieff, the Dictator of the Red Citadel (Petrograd) or of Krassin or Radek – all Jews. In the Soviet institutions the predominance of Jews is even more astonishing. And the prominent, if not indeed the principal, part in the system of terrorism applied by the Extraordinary Commissions for Combating Counter-Revolution has been taken by Jews, and in some notable cases by Jewesses. The same evil prominence was obtained by Jews in the brief period of terror during which Bela Kun ruled in Hungary. The same phenomenon has been presented in Germany (especially in Bavaria), so far as this madness has been allowed to prey upon the temporary prostration of the German people. Although in all these countries there are many non-Jews every whit as bad as the worst of the Jewish revolutionaries, the part played by the latter in proportion to their numbers in the population is astonishing.”

Far from being an unusual phenomenon in German politics, even the final Kaiser, Wilhelm II, held similar thoughts:

“A Jew cannot be a true patriot. He is something different - like a bad insect. He must be kept apart, out of a place where he can do mischief - even by pogroms, if necessary. The Jews are responsible for Bolshevism in Russia, and Germany, too. I was far too indulgent with them during my reign, and I bitterly regret the favors I showed to prominent Jewish bankers and business men.”

—Kaiser Wilhelm II, as reported in the July 3, 1922 Chicago Tribune in an interview (<http://archives.chicagotribune.com/1922/07/03/>, see pg. 4)

Communism:

Many major proponents of Communism were Jewish. For example, Karl Marx was Jewish, and many of his relatives were rabbis (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Karl_Marx#Early_life). Leon Trotsky, born as Lev Bronshtein, was Jewish (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Leon_Trotsky#Childhood_and_family_281879.E2.80.931895.29). Vladimir Lenin had Jewish heritage and married a Jewish woman (<http://content.time.com/time/world/article/0,8599,2077413,00.html>; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Vladimir_Lenin#Childhood:1870.E2.80.931887).

Other influential Communists from the time who were Jewish include:

Each person's Jewish ancestry is clearly stated in each individual's Wikipedia article.

In 1918-1919, just after WWI, a major Communist revolution called the November Revolution took place in the Weimar Republic. The revolutionaries carved out a portion of the country and formed it into a short-lived Communist state. Eventually the movement was repressed by the government and military, both of which were still struggling from WWI. Nearly every leader of the movement was Jewish; both presidents of the Communist state were Jewish.

Vladimir Putin has stated that the original Soviet movement in Russia was mostly Jewish (<http://www.haaretz.com/jewish-world/jewish-world-news/1.530857>, <http://www.timesofisrael.com/putin-first-soviet-government-was-mostly-jewish/>).

The Swedish-Jewish banker Olof Aschberg financed the Bolsheviks in Russia and became head of the first Soviet international bank.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Olof_Aschberg

This by no means demonstrates that every Jew at the time was a Communist, or vice versa. However, there was a definite Jewish influence in Communist leadership at the time, and this was noted by the Nazis. (The rise of Communism as a popular worker's movement and why the National Socialists were so strongly against it are discussed later.)

Finances and banking:

The Jews were active in moneylending throughout European history. Catholics and Muslims discouraged or forbade usury (interest) on loans for religious reasons (<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Usury>), allowing Jews to dominate moneylending (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Court_Jew; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History_of_banking#Court_Jew). Even the Magna Carta, drafted in England in 1215 (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Magna_Carta), included provisions offering protection to the families of deceased individuals who owed interest to Jews (<http://www.bl.uk/magna-carta/articles/magna-carta-english-translation> - sections (10) and (11)). Notably, Jewish law forbids making loans with interest to other Jews (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Loans_and_interest_in_Judaism).

The nature of Jewish lending practices is spelled out in the Torah (<https://www.jewishvirtuallibrary.org/jsourc/Bible/Deuteronomy.html>):

"15:6 For the LORD thy God blesseth thee, as he promised thee: and thou shalt lend unto many nations, but thou shalt not borrow; and thou shalt reign over many nations, but they shall not reign over thee."

"23:19 Thou shalt not lend upon usury to thy brother; usury of money, usury of victuals, usury of any thing that is lent upon usury: 23:20 Unto a stranger thou mayest lend upon usury; but unto thy brother thou shalt not lend upon usury: that the LORD thy God may bless thee in all that thou settest thine hand to in the land whither thou goest to possess it."

"28:12 The LORD shall open unto thee his good treasure, the heaven to give the rain unto thy land in his season, and to bless all the work of thine hand: and thou shalt lend unto many nations, and thou shalt not borrow. 28:13 And the LORD shall make thee the head, and not the tail; and thou shalt be above only, and thou shalt not be beneath; if that thou hearken unto the commandments of the LORD thy God, which I command thee this day, to observe and to do them."

Unfortunately, for many European nobles and rulers, the allure of Jewish usury and banking to increase money supply in the short-term, for wars or other means, was irresistible. The case of Edward I is a good example (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Edward_I_of_England). Along with other English kings, Edward I benefited greatly from Jewish tax farming and banking (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Edict_of_Expulsion#Buildup_to_expulsion), even though he was a considered a pious Roman Catholic ruler. Resentment from the church and the public led Edward I to attempt to curtail Jewish influence through various means, including trying to make them convert and assimilate, but all of these methods failed to make a difference (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Edward_I_of_England#Finances.2C_Parliament_and_the_Expulsion_of_Jews). Finally, with assurances that seized land and debt payments would go to the king, Edward I expelled the Jews from England in 1290 (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Edict_of_Expulsion#Expulsion).

Jews continued to dominate banking well into the modern era as well. The Rothschild are a Jewish banking dynasty that has dominated world finance for centuries (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rothschild_family; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rothschild_banking_family_of_England). Their members have produced mantras such as the following:

"I care not what puppet is placed upon the throne of England to rule the Empire on which the sun never sets. The man who controls the British money supply controls the British Empire, and I control the British money supply."

—Nathan Mayer Rothschild in 1815 (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nathan_Mayer_Rothschild#Legend)

"Let us control the money of a nation, and we care not who makes its laws."

—A "maxim" of the House of Rothschild (<http://en.wikiquote.org/wiki/Money#Misattributed>)

A political cartoon from 1894 demonstrated the power that the Rothschild held over world finance, especially through national debts:

"We are a people of different religions, but we are one. Which faith conquers the other is not the question; rather, the question is whether Christianity stands or falls... We tolerate no one in our ranks who attacks the ideas of Christianity ... in fact our movement is Christian. We are filled with a desire for Catholics and Protestants to discover one another in the deep distress of our own people."

—Adolf Hitler (https://en.wikiquote.org/wiki/Religious_views_of_Adolf_Hitler)

Martin Luther, himself German, was highly critical of Jews (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/On_the_Jews_and_Their_Lies).

The phrase "Gott mit uns" ("God with us") was a popular phrase used in the Germany military until the end of WWII; Wehrmacht soldiers (the "Wehrmacht" refers to the combined Nazi military forces, <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wehrmacht>) wore the phrase on their belt buckles (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Gott_mit_uns).

Christian dogma in itself is quite anti-Jewish. Jesus regularly attacked the Pharisees, who were essentially the Jews as we know them today, since they followed the Torah and Talmud (<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pharisees>). The incident where Jesus attacked and whipped bankers and money-lenders in of the Temple is one of the more well-known New Testament anecdotes (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Cleansing_of_the_Temple). The Gospel of Matthew targets the Jews/Pharisees as the instigators who had Jesus put to death (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jewish_deicide#Historicity_of_Matthew_27:24.E2.80.9325).

Until the creation of Israel as its own country, Jews lived as scattered yet distinct and unassimilated minorities in countries throughout the world (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jewish_diaspora). It is easy to understand why nationalistic countries that prioritize their own culture and population first, rather than promoting foreign or minority interests, might have been unwelcoming to Jews and on the receiving end of ire from Jews as well. It is in Jews' best interest that countries be multicultural, and accepting or even welcoming to groups of minorities. This might explain why Jews are overwhelmingly supportive of liberal politics and immigration in their host countries today, although they are ardent about keeping immigrants out of Israel and maintaining Israel's Jewish identity. (This will be discussed in more detail later in the document.)

For example, in eighth-century Catholic Spain, the Jewish minority actively provided aid to Muslim invaders who eventually took over the region, with some historians claiming that the Jews directly opened the city's gates for the invaders in Toledo (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History_of_the_Jews_in_Spain#Moorish_Conquest; <http://www.judaism-islam.com/jews-opene-the-gates-of-toledo/>).

Decadence and liberalism in Berlin:

Post-WWI Berlin was dominated by Jews (<http://www.ushmm.org/wlc/en/article.php?ModuleId=10005468> approximately one-third of German Jews lived in Berlin in 1933), and politically left politics in the years after WWI. The deep poverty of the majority of the German population, and the exploitative affluence of a select few could both be clearly seen in the country's national capital.

Berlin had acquired a reputation as a decadent city after WWI. It was known as the sex capital of Europe at the time; drugs, prostitution, niche sexual fetishes, and more, were rampant and widely promoted (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/1920s_Berlin#Reputation_for_decadence; <http://www.amazon.com/Voluptuous-Panic-Erotic-Expanded-Edition/dp/0922915962>; <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fK1pWTOIEG0>). Post-WWI hyperinflation and the worthlessness of Germany's currency encouraged a rise in desperate sex workers and international sex tourists. Many popular actors and actresses in Berlin, such as Marlene Dietrich (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Marlene_Dietrich#Private_life) and others, had careers popularized by affairs and homosexuality/bisexuality.

From http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/1920s_Berlin#Reputation_for_decadence:

"Apart from the new tolerance for behaviour that was technically still illegal, and viewed by a large part of society as immoral, there were other developments in Berlin culture that shocked many visitors to the city. Thrill-seekers came to the city in search of adventure, and booksellers sold many editions of guide books to Berlin's erotic night entertainment venues. There were an estimated 500 such establishments, that included a large number of homosexual venues for men and for lesbians; sometimes transvestites of one or both genders were admitted, otherwise there were at least 5 known establishments that were exclusively for a transvestite clientele. There were also several nudist venues. Berlin also had a museum of sexuality during the Weimar period, at Dr. Magnus Hirschfeld's Institute of Sexology. These were nearly all closed when the Nazi regime became a dictatorship in 1933.

Artists in Berlin became fused with the city's underground culture as the borders between cabaret and legitimate theatre blurred. Anita Berber, a dancer and actress, became notorious throughout the city and beyond for her erotic performances (as well as her cocaine addiction and erratic behaviour). She was painted by Otto Dix, and socialized in the same circles as Klaus Mann."

The Jewish Alfred Kerr, nicknamed the "Culture Pope," was one of the most influential theatre critics of the time in Berlin (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Alfred_Kerr). The Jewish Karl Kraus was another influential writer/critic (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Karl_Kraus_\(writer\))).

Regarding sexuality in Berlin, one of the foremost influences was the Jewish Dr. Magnus Hirschfeld, a so-called “sexual scientist”, who made his career experimenting on and promoting sexual niches and fetishes, “free love”, homosexuality, transgenders, sex change operations, abortions, etc (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Magnus_Hirschfeld). His research and writings were assisted and promoted by other influential Jewish doctors such as Arthur Kronfeld and Felix Abraham. His “Institute of Sex Research” that was frequented by many noted individuals over its lifetime, the first of its kind in the world, included sexual experimentation and a “Museum of Sex” for the public that was even visited by school classes (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Institut_f%C3%BCr_Sexualwissenschaft).

Jews were influential in propagating this culture through the media. Ullstein Publishing, centered in Berlin, dominated the publishing industry in Germany before WWII. It was founded by the Jewish Leopold Ullstein. Ullstein publications were generally liberal and left-leaning. Ullstein was also notable in that they created the first German tabloid (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ullstein_Verlag; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Leopold_Ullstein; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Berliner_Morgenpost). In addition to Ullstein, the Jewish Rudolf Mosse was another one of the largest publishers in Germany at the time (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rudolf_Mosse; <http://www.mosse-lectures.de/web/index.php/en/content/family.html>). One of Mosse’s publications, the politically-liberal Berliner Tageblatt, had the influential Jewish Theodor Wolff serving as the editor-in-chief during the years before WWII (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Theodor_Wolff; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Berliner_Tageblatt). The Jewish Hans Hirschfeld worked as a journalist as a social democrat in Berlin, and came to head the Press Information Office of the Minister of the Interior (<http://www.transatlanticperspectives.org/entry.php?rec=146>).

When the German media regularly lied and ignored facts inconvenient to their agenda, German Nazi supporters popularized the term Lügenpresse, or “lying press” to describe them, a term which has been resurging recently in Germany (<http://www.theatlantic.com/international/archive/2015/01/the-worst-german-word-of-the-year/384493/>).

One example of the many war/business profiteering scams headed by Jews during the Weimar Republic included the Barmat scandal (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Barmat_scandal), where the businesses of the Jewish Barmat brothers took advantage of the German currency’s weakness to make immense profits, via currency speculation, intentionally exploitative import/export sales, and defaulting on loans from the Prussian State Bank. They were also highly connected with the ruling social democrat government, using bribes, kickbacks, and other financial favors to avoid persecution. Although the Barmat brothers were eventually convicted and sentenced, their punishments were extremely minor. Similar exploitative scandals by the Jewish Sklarz brothers, the Jewish Kutisker brothers, and the Jewish Sklarek brothers further drained German finances (<http://trove.nla.gov.au/ndp/del/article/58547922>; <https://www.google.com/search?tbm=bks&hl=en&q=sklarz+scandal>; <https://www.google.com/search?tbm=bkshl=en&tbm=bks&q=kutisker+scandal>; <http://www.jta.org/1931/10/14/archive/sklarek-trial-opened-in-berlin>). Other scandals perpetrated by Jews included the exploitation of successful businesses to bankruptcy for personal gain by Ludwig Katzenellenbogen (<https://www.google.com/search?tbm=bks&hl=en&q=Ludwig+Katzenellenbogen+scandal>) and the theatre ownership scandals perpetrated by the brothers Fritz and Alfred Rotter (http://translate.google.com/translate?hl=en&sl=de&u=http://de.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fritz_Rotter_\(Theaterunternehmer\)); http://translate.google.com/translate?hl=en&sl=de&u=http://de.wikipedia.org/wiki/Alfred_Rotter).

There are numerous other claims from historians that allege domination of most fields of life in Weimar Germany by Jews – the more well-documented cases here barely scratch the surface. Verifying all of these claims on the English-speaking internet and without more official records can be difficult, and certainly not all of them are true. Regardless: it is hard to deny that many of the leftist political ideologies, social movements, and political and financial scandals that the socially far-right Nazis fought against in the troubled pre-WWII Weimar Republic had at least some distinct Jewish influence.

Pre-WWII hostility by the Jewish population:

Just after Hitler came to power, and long before any events like Kristallnacht or the Holocaust, parts of the international Jewish community called for boycotts of German goods. Newspapers from 1933 contained headlines such as “JUDEA DECLARES WAR ON GERMANY: Jews of All the World Unite in Action” (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jewish_boycott_of_German_goods; https://www.google.com/search?q=judea+declares+war+on+germany+1933&espsv=2&biw=1920&bih=989&source=lnms&sa=X&ei=gkm7VKr8AYmTyATP44H4DA&ved=0CAcQ_AUoAA&dp=1). Even when the Nazis’ pre-WWII answers to the “Jewish question” were relatively benign, this hostility continued all the way up until the outbreak of war. For example, the Haavara Agreement (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Haavara_Agreement) involved the Nazis openly working with Zionists and supporting the economic growth of Jews in what would become Israel, and Nazi leaders such as Leopold von Mildenstein (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Leopold_von_Mildenstein) were open supporters of Zionism. Certain militant Zionist groups such as Lehi (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lehi_%28group%29) were openly supportive of the Nazis.

The catalyst that ultimately started Kristallnacht in the first place was the assassination of a German politician by a Jewish teenager (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ernst_vom_Rath).

Theodore Kaufman was an American Jewish writer who actively called for the destruction and even sterilization of the German people, well before WWII ultimately broke out (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Germany_Must_Perish!). His book was given a review in TIME magazine in 1941, calling it a “sensational idea” (<http://content.time.com/time/magazine/article/0,9171,884346,00.html>).

Counterargument to Rebuttal 1:

So maybe there was some distinct Jewish influence in many of the problems that plagued the pre-WWII Weimar Republic. But stereotyping the Jews of today through what happened before WWII is racist/anti-Semitic. Jews don't do those kinds of things today.

Rebuttal:

They absolutely do.

Reasoning:

First, it is important to note that Jews only make up 2% of the population of the US (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jewish_population_by_country). Yet, as in the Weimar Republic before the Nazis came to power, their influence reaches far wider than their representation in the country would suggest.

Media:

Ownership of the American mass media is highly overrepresented by Jews or open supporters of Jewish causes. This is the same Lügenpresse that enforces political correctness, supports foreign wars and American-catalyzed regime changes that have nothing to do with American national security, hides and ignores politicians and facts inconvenient to their agenda (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pF04cq1bzo>; <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gAyncf3DBUQ>), etc.

Examples:

Brian Roberts, CEO of Comcast, and chairman and former treasurer of the National Cable & Telecommunications Association (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Brian_L._Roberts; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/National_Cable_%26_Telecommunications_Association). According to Comcast's investor relations website, Brian Roberts controls 33.3% of the company's voting power (<http://cmcsk.com/secfiling.cfm?filingID=950159-04-860> "Brian L. Roberts has significant control over our operations through his control of BRCC Holdings LLC, which as a result of its ownership of outstanding shares of our Class B common stock holds a nondilutable 33 1/3% of the combined voting power of our common stock and also has separate approval rights over certain material transactions involving us. In addition, Brian L. Roberts is our President, CEO and Chairman of the Board.").

The Federal Reserve is a great subject of controversy. To cover it briefly, the Federal Reserve is a non-government institution that works above the rule and scrutiny of the government or the public (<http://thefreethoughtproject.com/list-senators-voted-federal-reserve-continue-operate-secret/>); it is dubiously constitutional because the Constitution only grants Congress/the government the ability to produce currency (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=iFDe5kUUyT0>); and it has been involved in numerous financial transactions/scandals that benefit big banks over American interests (http://www.huffingtonpost.com/robert-auerbach/the-federal-reserves-33-t_b_794155.html; <http://www.bloomberg.com/news/2011-11-28/secret-fed-loans-undisclosed-to-congress-gave-banks-13-billion-in-income.html>; <http://www.bloomberg.com/news/2011-11-28/secret-fed-loans-undisclosed-to-congress-gave-banks-13-billion-in-income.html>; http://money.cnn.com/2010/12/01/news/economy/fed_reserve_data_release/; <https://www.bloomberg.com/apps/news?pid=washingtonstory&sid=aGq2B3XeGKok>; recommended viewing: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Inside_Job_\(2010_film\)), etc). Our taxes are being used to pay just the interest for our national debt to the Fed, as the debt continues to grow ever higher, and bankers profit every step of the way.

The Federal Reserve has been headed by Jews since 1987: Alan Greenspan, Ben Bernanke, and Janet Yellen are all Jewish (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chair_of_the_Federal_Reserve). The current vice-chair of the Federal Reserve, Stanley Fischer, is an Israeli dual-citizen and former governor of the Bank of Israel (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Stanley_Fischer).

"A great industrial nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is privately concentrated. The growth of the nation, therefore, and all our activities are in the hands of a few men who, even if their action be honest and intended for the public interest, are necessarily concentrated upon the great undertakings in which their own money is involved and who necessarily, by very reason of their own limitations, chill and check and destroy genuine economic freedom."
—Woodrow Wilson upon signing the Federal Reserve Act into law (http://en.wikiquote.org/wiki/Talk:Woodrow_Wilson)

"And I sincerely believe, with you, that banking establishments are more dangerous than standing armies; and that the principle of spending money to be paid by posterity, under the name of funding, is but swindling futurity on a large scale."

Bernie Madoff's Ponzi scheme that collapsed in 2008 cost over $50 billion, and he was the head of the NASDAQ stock market; he is Jewish (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bernard_Madoff).

Sonja Kohn, a prominent accomplice in Madoff's scheme, was Jewish (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sonja_Kohn).

Sam Israel III was another Jew arrested and sentenced to federal prison during the 2008 financial crisis (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Samuel_Israel_III) - he ran a hedge fund that defrauded investors out of millions of dollars before collapsing.

Arthur Nadel was another Jewish hedge fund manager arrested for fraud, in 2009. He scammed over $350 million from investors (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Arthur_Nadel; <http://www.haaretz.com/jewish-world/u-s-prosecutors-seek-19-24-years-for-elderly-mini-madoff-1.319136>).

The originator of sub-prime mortgage lending that ultimately led to the financial crisis of 2008, the biggest recession in the US since the Great Depression, was the Jewish Roland Arnall, whose lending firm Ameriquest played a key role in causing the recession (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Roland_Arnall; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ameriquest_Mortgage).

Jordan Belfort, the banker and stock broker on which the book/film The Wolf of Wall Street was about, was Jewish (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jordan_Belfort).

The co-founders of Lehman Brothers, a financial firm that went bankrupt in 2008 (the largest bankruptcy in US history), were Jewish (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lehman_Brothers; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Henry_Lehman; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Emanuel_Lehman; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bankruptcy_of_Lehman_Brothers).

Many of the largest shopping malls in the world, including the Mall of America, are owned by the Jewish Ghermezian family (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ghermezian_family).

Education:

Jews are highly overrepresented in Ivy League universities, as White and Asian-American admissions are limited despite better academic performance (<http://www.theamericanconservative.com/articles/the-myth-of-american-meritocracy/>).

The “architect” of the current Common Core education system and all of its problems (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Si-kx5-MKSE>; https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=LQ8Nr3_2724), David Coleman, is Jewish (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/David_Coleman_\(education\))).

In East Ramapo, New York, a group of Orthodox Jews and their political machine have come to dominate the public school board, siphoning increasing amounts of money out of the public school funds for their own private Jewish schools. Lawrence Summers was the president of Harvard from 2001-2006 and has held major roles in banking, economics, and politics (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lawrence_Summers); he was a major culprit and source of corruption in the 2008 financial crisis (see https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Inside_Job_\(2010_film\))).

Government:

A significant portion of our government is made up of Israeli dual-citizens, and any enforcement against dual-nation participation has been extremely lax for Jews (<http://www.jewishvirtuallibrary.org/jsource/US-Israel/jewcong113.html>; <http://american3rdposition.com/?p=12767>; <http://www.viewzone.com/dualcitizen.html>). Dual-citizenship is a controversial subject for any nation, since the true loyalties of a dual-citizen are always in question, and it remains illegal in many countries around the world.

AIPAC, the American Israel Public Affairs Committee, is one of the largest, if not THE largest, lobby group in America (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/American_Israel_Public_Affairs_Committee), and has had its share of scandals and questionable political motivations, including passing of classified US information to Israel (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lawrence_Franklin_espionage_scandal; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jane_Harman#2009_wiretap.2FAIPAC_allegations; <http://www.npr.org/templates/story/story.php?storyId=4785888>; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/United_States_v._Franklin; highly recommended reading: <http://www.amazon.com/Israel-Lobby-U-S-Foreign-Policy/dp/0374531501>). Every foreign lobby in the US is required to register under the Foreign Agents Registration Act to signify that they are working primarily under the interests of their own country; AIPAC is the sole exception to this law (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Foreign_Agents_Registration_Act#Selective_enforcement).

The country that receives the most foreign aid from the US is Israel, receiving billions in American taxpayer money every year, not including additional military equipment and support (http://www.huffingtonpost.com/2012/08/30/us-foreign-aid-by-country_n_1837824.html; <http://www.timesofisrael.com/israel-asking-us-for-50-increase-in-next-defense-package/>; <http://forward.com/news/breaking-news/308895/israel-wants-45b-a-year-in-us-aid/>; <http://fas.org/sgp/crs/mideast/RL33222.pdf>; <http://www.haaretz.com/israel-news/premium-1.611001>; <http://www.haaretz.com/israel-news/premium-1.681683>; <http://www.reuters.com/article/2015/04/23/usa-israel-biden-idUSL1N0XK41320150423>; highly recommended reading: <http://www.amazon.com/Israel-Lobby-U-S-Foreign-Policy/dp/0374531501>). This is despite our own country's financial troubles, including one of America's most notable cities, Detroit, going completely bankrupt. Why aren't we using those billions in taxpayer money for our own country?

One-third of the current US Supreme Court is Jewish: Ruth Bader Ginsburg, Stephen Breyer, and Elena Kagan (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Demographics_of_the_Supreme_Court_of_the_United_States#Jewish_justices).

The U.S. policy document, "A Clean Break", written in 1996 by the Israeli government outlines expanding Israel's influence in the Middle East using American military power; it included policies that eventually came true including destroying Saddam Hussein's Iraq and isolating Syria through proxy warfare (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/A_Clean_Break:_A_New_Strategy_for_Securing_the_Realm). Notably, the document shows that the US and Israel were well aware beforehand that toppling Saddam's Iraqi government would bring chaos to the Middle East and thus work for Israel's benefit (<http://www.theguardian.com/world/2002/sep/03/worlddispatch.iraq>). The Wolfowitz Doctrine leaked in 1992 outlining US foreign policy among the government's highest officials expressed a deep sentiment for Israeli security (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wolfowitz_Doctrine#Middle_East_and_Southwest_Asia). The "Zionist Plan for the Middle East" authored in 1982 by Oded Yinon (making it known as the "Yinon Plan" for a Greater Israel) also contains some eerie similarities to American and Israeli actions in the Middle East today (<http://www.amazon.com/Zionist-Plan-Middle-Special-Documents/dp/0937694568>; <http://www.informationclearinghouse.info/pdf/The%20Zionist%20Plan%20for%20the%20Middle%20East.pdf>).

Israel has nuclear weapons (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nuclear_weapons_and_Israel; <http://www.haaretz.com/news/diplomacy-defense/.premium-1.613221>; <http://www.breitbart.com/national-security/2015/03/25/administration-declassifies-top-secret-doc-that-reveals-israels-nuclear-secrets/>; http://www.thesundaytimes.co.uk/sto/news/world_news/article237419.ece). They have been secretly developing nuclear weapons for decades, and have even been caught trying to sell nuclear weapons to other countries (<http://www.theguardian.com/world/2010/may/23/israel-south-africa-nuclear-weapons>; <http://www.telegraph.co.uk/news/worldnews/middleeast/israel/7757687/Israel-offered-to-sell-South-Africa-nuclear-weapons.html>). Despite this possession of nuclear weapons, they refuse to sign the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty (<http://www.reuters.com/article/2010/05/29/us-israel-nuclear-treaty-idUSTRE64S1ZN20100529>). As the US grinds down on Iran for trying to obtain a single nuclear weapon at all (with influence from groups like AIPAC: <http://www.npr.org/sections/itsallpolitics/2015/08/06/429911872/in-iran-deal-fight-lobbyists-are-spending-millions-to-sway-12-senators>), Israel continues producing the weapons without any scrutiny, all while continuing to receive billions of dollars in aid and support from the US. There are even US laws outright forbidding economic and military assistance to countries that don't comply with nuclear agreements, but there is an “informal exception for Israel” (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Symington_Amendment). Whistleblowers for Israel's nuclear program are drugged, kidnapped, and tortured in captivity in Israel (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mordechai_Vanunu). Israel also follows a “Samson option” stance on nuclear war, arguing that if Israel goes down it will take the whole world with it (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Samson_Option; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Samson_Option:_Israel%27s_Nuclear_Arsenal_and_American_Foreign_Policy).

“We possess several hundred atomic warheads and rockets and can launch them at targets in all directions, perhaps even at Rome. Most European capitals are targets for our air force.... We have the capability to take the world down with us. And I can assure you that that will happen before Israel goes under.”

The entire history of the formation of Israel is centered on seedy and secretive Zionists collaborating with governments behind closed doors, using the military might of Britain after WWI to take over and displace the natives on the land of what is now Israel (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Balfour_Declaration). Leftists have no problem pushing guilt for the American takeover of Native American land, or British colonialism overseas, but somehow Israel is always left off the hook.

In 1946, the Zionist group Irgun (whose then-leader, Menachem Begin, later became prime minister of Israel 1977-1983) bombed the British headquarters in Israel, which was situated in the King David Hotel in Jerusalem. 91 people of various nationalities died. The perpetrators dressed as Arabs when carrying out the attack.

Ovadia Yosef, Chief Rabbi of Israel 1973-1983, and longtime leader of the Shas political party in Israel which currently holds 11 seats in the Israel legislature:

"The sole purpose of non-Jews is to serve Jews. ...Why are Gentiles needed? They will work, they will plow, they will reap. We will sit like an effendi [lord/master] and eat. That is why Gentiles were created."

The term “melting pot” to describe America as a heterogeneous nation of immigrants originated in a 1908 play of the same name, which was written by Israel Zangwill, a Zionist Jew who campaigned for numerous liberal causes in his life (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Melting_Pot_\(play\)); https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Israel_Zangwill).

The poem on the Statue of Liberty, beckoning the tired, poor, huddled masses of foreign countries to come to the US, was written by a Zionist Jewish woman (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_New_Colossus; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Emma_Lazarus).

The Immigration and Nationality Act of 1965, which opened America to immigrants more radically than ever before (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Immigration_and_Nationality_Act_of_1965#Long-term_results: “Immigration changed America’s demographics, opening the doors to immigrants from Asia, Africa, and the Middle East. The Latin American population has also dramatically increased since 1965, though this was more due to the various unexpected results of this act rather than due to this act itself... By the 1990s, America’s population growth was more than one-third driven by legal immigration and substantially augmented by illegal immigration, primarily from Latin America and other parts of the developing world. Before passage of the Hart-Celler Act, immigration accounted for only ten percent of population increase in the U.S. Ethnic and racial minorities, as defined by the US Census Bureau, rose from 25 percent of the US population during the year 1990 to 30 percent in the year 2000 and to 36.6 percent as measured by the results from the 2010 census.”), was proposed and pushed by the Jewish U.S. Representative Emanuel Celler (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Immigration_and_Nationality_Act_of_1965; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Emanuel_Celler).

George Soros is Jewish, one of the thirty richest people in the world, and a philanthropist for progressive and liberal political causes (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/George_Soros). In 1992, he nearly destroyed the British pound as a viable currency (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Black_Wednesday). Among his recent work, he donated $33 million to the activists and rioters in Ferguson (<http://www.washingtontimes.com/news/2015/jan/14/george-soros-funds-ferguson-protests-hopes-to-spur/?page=all>; <http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2913625/Billionaire-George-Soros-spent-33MILLION-bankrolling-Ferguson-demonstrators-create-echo-chamber-drive-national-protests.html>). He was also a primary donor to the radical feminist group FEMEN, but stopped support after FEMEN began movements in Israel (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/FEMEN>; <https://www.facebook.com/731446533565306/photos/a.732386736804619.1073741828.731446533565306/744458202264139/?type=1&theater>). He has sneakily funded "conservative" groups that push liberal causes, including mass immigration into western countries (<http://www.breitbart.com/big-government/2015/11/20/soros-backed-group-launches-bid-to-keep-syrian-refugees-flowing/>; <https://americaisbetter.org/>; <http://www.milliondollarlist.org/recipients/national-immigration-forum>). Rebuttal 2:

The Allies were guilty of their own war atrocities.

First of all, it goes without saying that the outcome of World War I was extremely unjust with the Treaty of Versailles that was forced upon Germany

(https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6YJfOZkriyk&list=PLh_EHnOyU3dNBDuJ2FS8PhqW6i6XLnCX1). Germany was deemed as entirely responsible for the war by the Allied powers (even though it was started initially by Austria-Hungary and Serbia) and stripped of virtually all military and economic power. The monarchy of Germany was completely done away with and the country was turned into a social democracy, and was plunged into poverty and misery from its debts and concessions to the victorious Allies. (The reparations were so severe, that Germany only recently finished paying them off in 2010 (<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-1315869/Germany-end-World-War-One-reparations-92-years-59m-final-payment.html>)). Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations was the first step in trying to create a one-world international governing body. The Allies played with millions of lives as borders were wantonly redrawn across all of Europe.

As an example, Czechoslovakia as a nation was formed by the Allied powers after WWI. The formation of this country had no basis in ethnic or cultural borders, as Czechs, Germans, Slovaks, Hungarians, and Ukrainians all made up significant portions of the population (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History_of_Czechoslovakia_%281918%E2%80%93%E2%80%931938%29). About 20-25% of the population was German, and suffered persecution in the newly-created country (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Germans_in_Czechoslovakia_\(1918%E2%80%93%E2%80%931938\))). Forcing all of these ethnic groups together into a single nation on the whim of the Allied powers fragmented the country and it was cut to pieces by surrounding nations in the interwar years.

The Holodomor in 1932-1933 was the genocide through starvation of an estimated 2.5-7.5 million people in Soviet-controlled Ukraine (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Holodomor>). The Soviets systematically confiscated food and agricultural equipment in their fervor to remilitarize, control the populace through collectivization (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Collectivization_in_the_Soviet_Union), and eliminate the Ukrainian independence movement. The famine also caused additional millions of deaths in regions such as Kazakhstan, North Caucasus, and Siberia; the deaths were covered up by the government for decades, ultimately only coming to light when the Soviet Union collapsed in 1991 (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Soviet_famine_of_1932%E2%80%93%E2%80%931933). The Jewish Soviet Lazar Kaganovich had a leading role in causing the Holodomor and these related famines (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lazar_Kaganovich).

The 1929-1932 Soviet policy of mass murder and deportation of relatively well-off peasants known as "kulaks" resulted in deaths conservatively numbering 5 million (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dekulakization>). Later towards the war's end, in May 1944, Stalin would exile the Tartars from their native land in Crimea, in which over 100,000 died from starvation and disease (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Deportation_of_the_Crimean_Tatars).

The total number of Christian victims in the Soviet Union due to its state policies has been estimated to range between 12-20 million (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Persecution_of_Christians_in_the_Soviet_Union). (Meanwhile, although anti-

Semitism did exist in the Soviet Union (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Antisemitism_in_the_Soviet_Union; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Stalin_and_antisemitism), most Soviet leaders spoke out against it and persecution against Jews was minimal:

"Anti-Semitism is dangerous for the toilers, for it is a false track which diverts them from the proper road and leads them into the jungle. Hence, Communists, as consistent internationalists, cannot but be irreconcilable and bitter enemies of anti-Semitism. In the U.S.S.R., anti-Semitism is strictly prosecuted as a phenomenon hostile to the Soviet system. According to the laws of the U.S.S.R. active anti-Semites are punished with death."

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Population_transfer_in_the_Soviet_Union

In 1933, FDR, with ruthless authoritarianism you'd expect more from Hitler or Stalin, made owning gold in the US illegal and demanded all gold be handed over to the government through an executive action. Anyone who did not comply faced huge fines, forced seizures and other punishments. All forceful seizures of gold were upheld as constitutional by the Supreme Court. (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Executive_Order_6102)

The Supreme Court in general was under intense pressure by FDR to accept all of his actions as constitutional. This included legal threats to reform the Court to stack it with pro-FDR justices https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Judicial_Procedures_Reform_Bill_of_1937). One of the most infamous Supreme Court cases, the 1942 Wickard v. Filburn, also occurred under FDR's presidency. That case was the beginning of Congress exploiting exaggerated interpretations of the Commerce Clause (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Commerce_Clause) to regulate the economy with as much power as they please. In Wickard v. Filburn, the Supreme Court ruled that a farmer in Ohio growing grain on his own farm to feed his own cows had entered into interstate commerce, which meant that his farming activities could be regulated by the government (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wickard_v._Filburn).

(https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_switch_in_time_that_saved_nine;

Along with Germany and the Soviet Union's invasion of Poland in 1939 which ultimately kicked off WWII, plenty of other nations in Europe were involved in border disputes and forced annexations in the interwar years, including Poland itself

(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Polish%E2%80%93Czechoslovak_border_conflicts;

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Slovak%E2%80%93Hungarian_War;

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Polish%E2%80%93Ukrainian_War; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Slovak%E2%80%93Hungarian_War). Like Czechoslovakia, Poland was artificially created from the Treaty of Versailles, it had not been a nation since 1815

(https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Greater_Poland_Uprising_\(1918%E2%80%9319\)#Background#Background)), and was comprised of all sorts of ethnic groups making up significant portions of the population. In the interwar years, the Polish government pursued a policy of repression and forced assimilation towards the minorities http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History_of_the_Ukrainian_minority_in_Poland#Second_Polish_Republic). The Polish government felt so strongly about preventing minorities from having any political influence that they willingly offered extra territory to Soviet Russia after the Polish-Soviet War in 1921, so that non-Polish minorities would not make up more than one-third of Poland's population, even though that would have left hundreds of thousands of Poles living under Soviet rule (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Peace_of_Riga#Negotiations).

(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Polonization#Second_Polish_Republic_1918-1939;

Germany's land mass was split in two from the Treaty of Versailles, with Poland now holding control over the middle (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Polish_Corridor). The city of Danzig in this Polish Corridor became a city-state under Polish economic control, another border change enforced on the whims of the WWI victors, with the vast majority of its population being Germans (Danzig had been a part of Germany/Prussia for centuries)

(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Polish_Corridor; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Free_City_of_Danzig). In 1931, Poland threatened war if any attempts to revise the Polish Corridor border were made, and the Polish foreign delegate remarked that provocations could lead to a Polish invasion of Germany "in order to settle the issue once and for all" (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Polish_Corridor#Weimar_German_interests).

Hitler's invasion of Poland was spurred on by the persecution of Germans in Polish territory (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Polish_Corridor#Exodus_of_the_German_population), and the breakdown of diplomatic negotiations. Initially, Hitler greatly respected the Polish government and military leader Józef Piłsudski, especially because of his handling of the Polish-Soviet War in 1919-1921, and foreign relations were kept relatively cool (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/J%C3%B3zef_Piłsudski; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Polish%E2%80%93Soviet_War; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/German%E2%80%93Polish_Non-Aggression_Pact; <http://rarehistoricalphotos.com/adolf-hitler-attending-memorial-service-polish-first-marshall-jozef-pilsudski-berlin-1935/>). However, after Piłsudski passed away in 1935 and Józef Beck assumed the position of foreign minister, tensions escalated and the Polish government became increasingly hostile toward negotiations (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/J%C3%B3zef_Beck). Calls from Hitler for Poland to cease persecution of Germans went unheeded. Hitler's proposed negotiations for roadways and transportation through the Polish Corridor (in order to reach the isolated East Prussia) while still allowing Polish control of the land were shut down. Hitler's invitation to Poland to join the Anti-Comintern Pact against Communist powers (which ultimately formed the Axis powers) (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Anti-Comintern_Pact#Origins) was ignored. Poland then snubbed all German requests for diplomacy entirely after France and Britain entered a military alliance with Poland, promising declarations of war should Germany attack (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Anglo-Polish_military_alliance).

Probably, Hitler was confident after his annexation of the Rhineland, Austria, and the Sudetenland, almost all of which was formerly German land that was forcefully taken away by the Allies after WWI. At times, Hitler expressly went against the advice of his military generals when he took that land (especially the Rhineland), since Germany was still ill-equipped for a full war. The liberal governments of France and Britain allowed these land grabs to take place because their public was pacified and fiercely against war after WWI. If the other European powers had fought back at those early times, they would have won easy victories over Germany.

The Polish Corridor was thus just more formerly German land taken by an outside nation after WWI, where the Germans living there suffered persecution as second-class citizens. The staunchly anti-German Polish government refused to cooperate with any negotiations. However, the invasion of Poland was the straw that broke the camel's back and provoked countermeasures from the rest of Europe (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Phoney_War; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Saar_Offensive). Again, this is despite all of that land formerly belonging to Germany until the Treaty of Versailles. German occupation of Poland was also advantageous for the invasion of the Soviet Union a few years later – had Poland remained independent after 1939, Soviet invasion of eastern Europe would have been imminent and Germany could not have gone on the offensive. In my personal opinion, whether or not the invasion of Poland was a good idea for Nazi Germany is still up for debate.

What most people forget, though, is that the Soviet Union invaded Poland immediately after Germany (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Molotov%E2%80%93Ribbentrop_Pact; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Invasion_of_Poland; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Soviet_invasion_of_Poland). There is a lot of disgust towards Germany for invading Poland to start WWII, but hardly any for the Soviet Union which did the same. What could have ended as an isolated European border war ended up forcing millions of men from the US, Britain, France, and more to fight and die against the Axis nations.

“How horrible, fantastic, incredible it is that we should be digging trenches and trying on gas-masks here because of a quarrel in a faraway country between people of whom we know nothing.”

–Neville Chamberlain (Prime Minister of Britain 1937-1940) in 1938 (http://en.wikiquote.org/wiki/Neville_Chamberlain)

The Soviet Union continued further aggressive invasions of other European countries soon after its invasion of Poland (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Winter_War; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Occupation_of_the_Baltic_states; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Soviet_occupation_of_Bessarabia_and_Northern_Bukovina), with no meaningful diplomatic repercussions from the Allies. As we know, the US would formally ally with the Soviet Union and provide massive arms support later on; Roosevelt would affectionately call Stalin “Uncle Joe”; and Stalin would receive a ceremonial sword inscribed by King George VI from Churchill in 1943 (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sword_of_Stalingrad).

And ultimately, Poland ended up worse off in the end anyway, since it was taken over and absorbed into the eastern Soviet bloc after the war (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History_of_Poland_%281945%E2%80%931989%29#Stalinist_era_1945-1989; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Polish_Committee_of_National_Liberation; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Trial_of_the_Sixteen).

In the 1940 Battle of Dunkirk, the British and French forces had been fought back to the coast and surrounded by the Germans. The German advance was halted by Hitler and German commanders, allowing the Allied forces to escape through the English Channel; this saved the lives of over 330,000 men (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle_of_Dunkirk; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dunkirk_evacuation). Afterward, Germany offered peace to Britain and France, which included pulling troops out of France and western Europe – however, Britain and France declined these offers (<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2433733/How-Nazis-offered-peace-treaty-World-War-II-meant-selling-Russians.html>; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nazi_propaganda_and_the_United_Kingdom#Change_in_attitude). At the time, Hitler was much more focused on the east, including the secretive Soviet Union invasion plan; even in Mein Kampf, Hitler wrote that he had no particular qualms with the British and even admired their Empire (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nazi_propaganda_and_the_United_Kingdom#Pre-war).

Winston Churchill, after being appointed Prime Minister and after the Battle of Dunkirk, rallied viciously for war against Germany with no chances of peace (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/May_1940_War_Cabinet_Crisis). Churchill pushed for the US to enter the war, and Roosevelt was eager to oblige and well-prepared to do so (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/United_States_color-coded_war_plans); however, he was hampered by the US Neutrality Acts passed since WWI (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Neutrality_Acts_of_1930s). Ultimately, he circumvented the Neutrality Acts with the Lend-Lease Act, which allowed for massive military arms donations and sales to Britain and later to the Soviet Union (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lend-Lease#Historical_background; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Neutrality_Acts_of_1930s#End_of_neutrality_policy). The US lent billions of dollars' worth of military support (in 1945 dollars); the British only recently finished paying off the debts in 2006 (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lend-Lease#Repayment>). Roosevelt also initiated the first-ever peacetime draft in American history and increased the defense budget fivefold. At the time, the majority of the American public (especially Republicans) did not support involvement in the war; Roosevelt however was eager to get involved, just as Churchill was eager to push war over peace.

"In making our decision, this point should be clear: these wars in Europe are not wars in which our civilization is defending itself against some Asiatic intruder. There is no Genghis Khan or Xerxes marching against our Western nations. This is not a question of banding together to defend the White race against foreign invasion. This is simply one more of those age old quarrels within our own family of nations – a quarrel arising from the errors of the last war – from the failure of the victors of that war to follow a consistent policy either of fairness or of force.

Arbitrary boundaries can only be maintained by strength of arms. The Treaty of Versailles either had to be revised as time passed, or England and France, to be successful, had to keep Germany weak by force. Neither policy was followed; Europe wavered back and forth between the two. As a result, another war has begun, a war which is likely to be far more prostrating than the last, a war which will again kill off the best youth of Europe, a war which may even lead to the end of our Western civilization."

–Charles Lindbergh, September 1939 (http://www.charleslindbergh.com/pdf/9_15_39.pdf)

April-May 1940: Katyn Massacre. The Soviets carry out a systematic massacre of Polish officers, workers, doctors, engineers, etc, anyone perceived to be bourgeoisie. The number of victims is estimated at 22,000. The massacre is blamed on Hitler and the Nazis, even though Germany was the first to report on the graves of the victims at the time. The truth behind the massacre was covered up by governments for decades; only in 1990 was the truth formally released (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Katyn_massacre).

A few months after Germany's invasion of the Soviet Union was underway, in August 1941, Stalin issued Order No. 270, which ordered that anyone who surrendered or deserted their military post be executed on the spot, and that their families be arrested and imprisoned. Of the order, Stalin claimed, "There are no Soviet prisoners of war; only traitors" (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Order_No._270). This was further enforced through Order No. 227 in July 1942 ("Not one step back!") (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Order_No._227). Stalin utilized "barrier troops", who were situated behind the front lines and indiscriminately shot and killed any of their own soldiers who tried to retreat (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Order_No._227; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Barrier_troops#Barrier_troops_in_the_Red_Army).

The British and the Allies utilized a policy of "carpet bombing" in WWII against Germany, which meant the organized and deliberate mass bombing of German cities, including civilian targets (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sir_Arthur_Harris,_1st_Baronet; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Area_bombing_directive). They also followed a "target of opportunity" policy whereby any living, moving thing was considered fair game for attacking pilots (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Target_of_opportunity#Examples).

Examples include the "Operation Gomorrah" firebombing of Hamburg in 1943, "practically destroying the entire city", (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bombing_of_Hamburg_in_World_War_II; "In January 1946, Major Cortez F. Enloe, a surgeon in the USAAF who worked on the United States Strategic Bombing Survey (USSBS), said that the fire effects of the atomic bomb dropped on Nagasaki 'were not nearly as bad as the effects of the R.A.F. raids on Hamburg on July 27th 1943'"), and the firebombing of Dresden in the final months of the war (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bombing_of_Dresden_in_World_War_II), destroying the city and its countless cultural artifacts and architecture. Other examples include the bombing of Berlin (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bombing_of_Berlin_in_World_War_II), Nuremberg (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nuremberg#Nazi_era), Darmstadt (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bombing_of_Darmstadt_in_World_War_II), Cologne (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bombing_of_Cologne_in_World_War_II), Stuttgart (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bombing_of_Stuttgart_in_World_War_II), and Wurzburg (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bombing_of_W%C3%BCrzburg_in_World_War_II). Neutral Switzerland was even the target of Allied air attacks (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bombings_of_Switzerland_in_World_War_II), as was an entirely residential town in the Nazi-occupied Netherlands (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Allied_bombing_of_Rotterdam). It is still up for debate which country ordered the deliberate bombing of civilian targets first (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Strategic_bombing_during_World_War_II#The_Western_Front.2C_1939_to_June_1940; <http://forum.axishistory.com/viewtopic.php?t=199639>); at the onset of the war and even later on, German military strategy explicitly targeted only military targets.

Winston Churchill pushed for the use of poison gas and anthrax strikes on German cities, although the plans were never carried out (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chemical_weapons_and_the_United_Kingdom#Later_plans).

The US supported and worked closely with the Italian Mafia during the war. The Mafia had been repressed during Mussolini's rule, the only time in modern Italian history when this has occurred (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Collaborations_between_the_United_States_government_and_Italian_Mafia; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sicilian_mafia_during_the_Mussolini_regime).

In 1942-1946, people with Japanese ancestry living in America were forcefully relocated to concentration camps by the American government, through an executive order by FDR (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Internment_of_Japanese_Americans). Those incarcerated lost their homes, wealth, and belongings.

In the American war effort, rubber became an extremely important commodity. America had lost most of its rubber imports during the war since they came from regions that were controlled by Japan. Through an agreement between the US and Brazil, thousands of Brazilians were recruited to work in the Amazon for rubber production. Workers were given virtually nothing in terms of survival, and over 30,000 died through disease and wildlife attacks working in slavery-like conditions in order to meet America's rubber demand (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rubber_soldiers; <http://www.bbc.com/news/world-latin-america-27419567>; <http://www.returnofkings.com/63311/2-examples-of-why-you-should-be-skeptical-of-governmental-promises>).

The Allied propaganda machine against its own nations' citizens was no less powerful than Nazi Germany's, and had been in full effect since as far back as WWI.

"Good propaganda does not need to lie, indeed it may not lie. It has no reason to fear the truth. It is a mistake to believe that people cannot take the truth. They can. It is only a matter of presenting the truth to people in a way that they will be able to understand. A propaganda that lies proves that it has a bad cause. It cannot be successful in the long run."

—Joseph Goebbels (<http://www.ihr.org/other/weber2011fakequotations.html>; <http://www.azquotes.com/quote/704997>)

"The conscious and intelligent manipulation of the organized habits and opinions of the masses is an important element in democratic society. Those who manipulate this unseen mechanism of society constitute an invisible government which is the true ruling power of our country [the USA]. We are governed, our minds are molded, our tastes formed, our ideas suggested, largely by men we have never heard of. This is a logical result of the way in which our democratic society is organized."

—Edward Bernays (https://en.wikiquote.org/wiki/Edward_Bernays)

Towards the war's end, with the Allied powers closing in and eventually completely occupying Germany, German refugees were forcibly relocated and systematically murdered and raped.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Organised_persecution_of_ethnic_Germans#Soviet_Union

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rape_during_the_occupation_of_Germany

The Nemmersdorf Massacre in October 1944 was just one example of the mass rape and murder of Germans by the advancing Red Army. In Nemmersdorf, even the Allied POWs staying there were murdered (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nemmersdorf_massacre).

In the town of Swinemunde in 1945, a passenger ship full of German refugees trying to escape the Red Army's advance on the Baltic Sea was bombed by the Allies as it docked (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Golm_War_Cemetery#Air_Raid; <http://www.theguardian.com/books/2003/aug/27/londonreviewofbooks>; <http://www.holocaustianity.com/swinemunde.html>).

In a similar incident, the German passenger ship Gustloff which was overfilled with refugees and escapees from the Eastern front was sunk by Soviet submarines (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/MV_Wilhelm_Gustloff). Over 5000 children alone died from this incident.

After American troops took over the Dachau concentration camp, they systematically slaughtered German guards, POWs and civilians by, among other means, lining them up against the wall and machine-gunning them down (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dachau_liberation_reprisals).

Hellstorm: The Death of Nazi Germany by Thomas Goodrich (http://www.amazon.com/Hellstorm-Death-Nazi-Germany-1944-1947/dp/097138522X/ref=tmm_hrd_swatch_0?encoding=UTF8&sr=&qid=; <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GMCOKNCwHmQ>) is a recommended read/watch, and presents documented viewpoints from Germans at the war's end as they are bombed, murdered, raped, and expelled from their homes by the Allied powers.

Operation Keelhaul is the name given to the Allied efforts to forcibly send Axis POWs and anti-Communist fighters east to the Soviet Union, where certain death or work slavery in the Gulags awaited them. This policy was agreed to unilaterally by the Allied powers at the Yalta Conference, and kept secret from the public for decades. Millions of refugees and soldiers died as a result of these policies (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Operation_Keelhaul). These transfers were often accomplished through trickery or outright force.

The Bleiberg Massacre occurred in May 1945, when hundreds of thousands of Axis troops and civilians in Croatia and Yugoslavia marched westward to surrender to the British before opposing militias or Communist troops got to them. After they arrived in the Austrian border town of Bleiburg, the Allies would instead forcibly repatriate them to the east, where massacres and death marches to prison camps awaited them (http://en.wikipedia.org/w/index.php?title=Bleiburg_repatriations).

The Betrayal of the Cossacks occurred when Cossacks, Russians, and Ukrainians who fought for Nazi Germany were assured by the Allies that they would be taken under their protection after surrender; however, they were instead forcibly handed over to the Soviet Union (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Repatriation_of_Cossacks_after_World_War_II).

"The first to commit suicide, by hanging, was the Cossack editor Evgenij Tarruski. The second was General Silkin, who shot himself... The Cossacks refused to board the trucks. British soldiers [armed] with pistols and clubs began using their clubs, aiming at the heads of the prisoners. They first dragged the men out of the crowd, and threw them into the trucks. The men jumped out. They beat them again, and threw them onto the floor of the trucks. Again, they jumped out. The British then hit them with rifle butts until they lay unconscious, and threw them, like sacks of potatoes, in the trucks."

(Remind you of anything else?)

In order to circumvent the limitations on the treatment of German POWs dictated by the Geneva Conventions, General Eisenhower classified German POWs with the new title of "Disarmed Enemy Forces" (DEFs) instead. Thus, any legal responsibility for the Allies to treat German POWs humanely was thrown out the window. The Red Cross was barred from inspecting the status of the POWs (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Disarmed_Enemy_Forces). Eisenhower held the German POWs in crude, poorly maintained concentration camps, where the numbers of POWs who died by starvation, dehydration, and exposure to the elements remains debated to this day (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rheinwiesenberg>; <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=hbp61fOVFaE>).

Anton Webern, an Austrian composer and contemporary of composers like Arnold Schoenberg, was shot and killed while visiting his grandchildren by an American G.I. in September 1945 – five months after the war had ended (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Anton_Webern#Death_in_Allied-administered_Austria).

After the war, a group of roving Jews called Nakam traveled around Europe killing Germans (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nakam>; <http://www.jweekly.com/article/full/7899/survivor-reveals-1945-plan-to-kill-6-million-germans/>).

In France, mobs of men beat and shaved the heads of an estimated 20,000-80,000 women suspected of having relationships with Germans (<http://www.theguardian.com/lifeandstyle/2009/jun/05/women-victims-d-day-landings-second-world-war>). Americans stationed in France after the country's liberation from the Germans had a bad reputation among French people, and they committed hundreds of rapes; the vast majority of soldiers disciplined for rape were African-American (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rape_during_the_liberation_of_France).

Allied (mostly American) troops committed a number of rapes in Japan during the final months of the war and during the post-war occupation (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rape_during_the_occupation_of_Japan).

The Nuremberg Trials were unlike any other event in history – when the victors of a war imposed their will on the defeated nations through a series of demeaning show trials with obviously pre-determined judgements and sentences, using the supposed precedents of "war crimes" and "international law" (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nuremberg_trials). The rules of evidence and proof of facts were suspended for the Trials, making them essentially illegitimate as an actual court of law (Articles 19 and 21: <http://avalon.law.yale.edu/imt/imtconst.asp>; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nuremberg_trials#Criticism). The concept of "international law" is flimsy in itself, as it implies that nations like Germany or the Soviet Union ever agreed to them in the first place, that the US and the Allies were somehow the rightful creators of such laws, or that a one-world judicial system having jurisdiction over individual nations should even exist. The "defendants" were subject to torture and trickery in order to obtain confessions (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/London_Cage). So fervent were the Allies during the Trials that they had to send an expert executioner from Britain, Albert Pierrepoint, to help with the massive number of hangings (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Albert_Pierrepoint#Career).

The post-war Allied policy of trying to prevent Germany from waging war ever again, through massive disarmament, confiscation of its industry and territory, and splitting it in two with West and East Germany, originated in the Morgenthau Plan, created by FDR's Jewish Secretary of the Treasury (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Morgenthau_Plan; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Henry_Morgenthau,_Jr.). The post-WWII financial policy for the Allies was also closely overseen by Harry Dexter White, who was Jewish, and a senior US Treasury Department official. He was the senior American official at the 1944 Bretton Woods conference (to regulate the post-WWII "international monetary and financial order") (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bretton_Woods_Conference), a major architect of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank, and passed numerous secrets to and spied for the Soviet Union (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Harry_Dexter_White).

Rebuttal 3:

There are reasons to be doubtful of the current Holocaust narrative.

Reasoning:

This is admittedly a very touchy subject. The Holocaust is covered in extremely extensive detail in school. Regardless of how much a grade school or high school student in the US knows about math, science, or anything else, it's pounded into their heads that six million Jews were tortured, murdered, gassed, etc in Nazi concentration camps, trumping all other historical massacres as the most sinister and evil. Speaking from personal experience, this was a huge component of WWII coverage in my high school history classes.

The three aspects discussed below about the Holocaust make me believe further research is needed on the subject, and that every excruciating detail about it may not be 100% true. However, even historians who the media has figuratively crucified for their beliefs on the Holocaust don't deny some that some systematic murder and plundering of Jews occurred during wartime (for example, David Irving: <http://www.amazon.com/Hitlers-War-David-Irving/dp/0380758067>). Does that forgive the fact that the atrocities occurred? Certainly not. Does it make Hitler the "good guy" in the war just because there are some doubts? Certainly not. But these doubts have contributed to my beliefs that Hitler's legacy is, at least, highly exaggerated. More than anything, I'm still looking for answers to these questions I find myself asking upon scrutiny of the Holocaust's details.

Illegality of criticism:

Holocaust denial is illegal in a number of countries. Those accused are only allowed to plead insanity or guilt. This goes blatantly against free speech rights (even though governing committees have deemed that it doesn't). Many people, including politicians and historians, have faced fines and jail time under this charge (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Laws_against_Holocaust_denial).

Take David Irving as an example again. He is a British WWII historian and writer, who prides himself for thorough translations, analysis, and authentication of war records. In 2006, he was arrested and sentenced to prison for three years in Austria for the charge of "trivializing the Holocaust". He was also fined in Germany for the charge of "denying the Holocaust" (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/David_Irving; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Irving_trial; <http://www.theguardian.com/world/2006/feb/20/austria.thefarright>). In even professional interviews about his writing and opinions, he is completely unacceptably harassed and interrupted, and questions are loaded to avoid actual discussion, despite his calm and neutral behavior and his desire to explain himself. Rather than focus on research, or details, or anything worthwhile, interviewers smugly force the man to defend himself against being deemed a racist, or waste their time on similar demoralizing claims against his character ("Hardtalk - David Irving (BBC 2000)" - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JF4GFGMNm3g>). This treatment for a historian of any kind is absolutely unacceptable.

The German government even threw an 85-year-old grandmother into jail for the "crime" of denying the Holocaust (<http://www.foxnews.com/world/2015/11/13/germany-87-year-old-nazi-grandma-jailed-for-denying-holocaust/>; <http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-3317083/German-grandmother-87-sentenced-ten-months-jail-denying-Holocaust-saying-Auschwitz-just-labour-camp.html>). And we're supposed to believe that modern Germany is somehow less of an authoritarian dictatorship than Nazi Germany? (Also in modern post-Nazi Germany, singing songs not approved by the establishment can land you in prison for up to 3 years (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nazi_songs)).

Although America has so far been able to escape this blatant trampling of free speech, attempts by special interest groups and some government officials to make Holocaust criticism illegal here as well are ongoing (<http://www.sos.ca.gov/administration/news-releases-and-advisories/2015-news-releases-and-advisories/proposed-initiative-enters-circulation51/>; https://ballotpedia.org/California_Holocaust_Denial_Speech_Restrictions_Initiative_\(2016\)); <http://nationalvanguard.org/2016/01/california-holocaust-denial-speech-restrictions-initiative/>).

If the Holocaust was a tried and true fact, there should be no reason to censor the research. Research and debate would enhance the impact of the event, rather than detract from it. If the narrative and details are foolproof, Holocaust revisionists would be welcomed in open debate so that they could be proven wrong. (Similar ridiculousness is seen in the banning of Mein Kampf across many European countries, or the only releases of the book needing to be saturated with footnotes trying to denounce every claim the book makes (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mein_Kampf#Current_availability; <http://www.thejc.com/news/world-news/151794/we-made-anti-mein-kampf%E2%80%99>)).

People who promote the earth being flat, for example, are not censored and silenced; laws are not written in countries to make flat earth criticism illegal; they even have their own groups to discuss their theories (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Modern_flat_Earth_societies). The same is true with people who believe in UFOs. The Holocaust is the only event in history where acceptance is enforced by law. Why?

And if all this wasn't enough, Jews and Israeli interests are currently pushing to have anti-Semitism made illegal as an international crime as well (<http://www.algemeiner.com/2015/04/15/israel-launches-initiative-to-have-antisemitism-recognized-as-an-international-crime/>; <http://davidduke.com/israel-pushes-to-have-anti-semitism-recognized-as-international-crime/>). Lawmakers in Ottawa, Canada threatened hate crime charges against people who boycott Israel (<https://www.washingtonpost.com/news/volokh-conspiracy/wp/2015/05/11/ottawa-considering-hate-charges-against-those-who-boycott-israel/>; <http://www.cbc.ca/news/politics/ottawa-cites-hate-crime-laws-when-asked-about-its-zero-tolerance-for-israel-boycotters-1.3067497>), and a rabbi in Sacramento urged Amazon to ban books that question the Holocaust narrative (<http://sacramento.cbslocal.com/2015/07/03/sacramento-rabbi-calls-on-amazon-to-stop-selling-books-denying-holocaust/>; <http://www.latimes.com/books/jacketcopy/la-et-jc-rabbi-amazon-holocaust-denial-books-20150706-story.html>). The powers that be really don't want non-approved Holocaust details to be discussed openly.

The constant revisions of Holocaust details over time:

Atrocity propaganda is a very real phenomenon (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Atrocity_propaganda; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nayirah_%28testimony%29; <http://www.foreignpolicyjournal.com/2012/09/08/the-lies-that-led-to-the-iraq-war-and-the-persistent-myth-of-intelligence-failure/>). The details of the Holocaust and the specifics of the atrocities committed are constantly changing over time. Many atrocities that were regarded as (and legally enforced as) objective fact were found out to be exaggerations and non-truths, arising from duress during the Nuremberg Trials, popularized during Denazification after the war (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Denazification>), or claimed in imaginative Holocaust survivor stories. Who is to say what other details about the Holocaust are not actually true?

The facts are still so unclear and so undecided upon by historians, that as recently as October 2015, Germany and Israel's leaders got into comical political arguments over the Holocaust's details (<http://www.haaretz.com/israel-news/1.681525>; <http://www.reuters.com/article/2015/10/21/israel-netanyahu-hitler-germany-idUSB4N11U01120151021>). Clearly there is still much research and debate to be done.

Two specific examples include production of soap from prisoners' body fat, and the production of lamp shades from prisoners' skin, both of which have been conclusively debunked by historians (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Soap_made_from_human_corpses; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lampshades_made_from_human_skin; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Lampshade:_A_Holocaust_Detective_Story_from_Buchenwald_to_New_Orleans). Just after the war, throngs of citizens from nearby German towns were marched around and shown these supposed examples of the Holocaust in person, which included other wild claims such as shrunken heads as well (http://www.gettyimages.com/detail/video/news-footage/mr_00024883; <http://www.scrapbookpages.com/Buchenwald/Atrocities.html>).

Another example is the death toll numbers themselves. The death toll at Auschwitz was regarded as objective fact for decades to be 4 million. In the 90s, that number was revised by Holocaust researchers and scholars. The official death toll is now between 1.1 and 1.5 million victims (http://articles.chicagotribune.com/1992-05-07/news/9202100662_1_death-wall-auschwitz-memorials; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Auschwitz_concentration_camp#Death_toll; <http://www.jta.org/1992/06/18/archive/plaques-at-auschwitz-to-be-replaced-efforts-continue-to-preserve-camp>; http://articles.sun-sentinel.com/1990-01-03/news/9001170365_1_auschwitz-holocaust-victims-bauer; <https://news.google.com/newspapers?nid=2245&dat=19900718&id=-XozAAAAIAJ&sjid=eDIHAAAAIAJ&pg=2736.1882593&hl=en>). Despite this revision, the 6 million Jewish total death toll still stands seemingly unchanged. How does that make sense?

This "6 million" number had also been used for decades before WWII when describing the number of Jews in their communities. For example, searching "6,000,000 jews" in the Library of Congress newspaper archive for the years 1836-1922 brings up 126 results. Searching "six million jews" in the same search yields another 58 results (<http://chroniclingamerica.loc.gov/search/pages/results/?state=&date1=1867&date2=1920&proxtext=%226%2C000%2C00+jews%22&x=0&y=0&dateFilterType=yearRange&rows=20&searchType=basic>; <http://chroniclingamerica.loc.gov/search/pages/results/?state=&date1=1836&date2=1922&proxtext=%22six+million+jews%22&x=24&y=19&dateFilterType=yearRange&rows=20&searchType=basic>). Most of the entries involve trying to try to emphasize the plight of Jewish communities around the world (with many promoting donations and aid to said communities). Why is this six million number brought up so frequently in such a throwaway manner well before WWII even began? Did Jews constantly thrive in communities numbering exactly six million? If so, why? Were Jews who died from natural causes, disease, Allied attacks, or during the pre-war 1930s counted towards the six million? If so, isn't the 6 million rightly a massive exaggeration?

It is also important to be highly skeptical of Soviet documentation regarding the Holocaust. All six of the Nazi concentration camps classified as "extermination camps" or "death camps" (Treblinka, Sobibor, Belzec, Chelmno, Auschwitz, and Majdanek) were liberated and inspected by the Soviets, and not the western Allies (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nazi_concentration_camps#Liberation). Out of the 20+ Nazi camps said to exist, it is an interesting coincidence. The Soviets were bitter enemies with the Nazis and eager to defile them (numerous examples of Soviet atrocities against the Germans have already been described). Has proper skepticism of Soviet claims been taken into account when certain Holocaust details are taken as fact?

One wartime issue regarding life in the concentration camps that is often unspoken of was the prevalence of typhus (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Typhus>; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Epidemic_typhus). Typhus ran rampant during almost all wars in history, and WWII was no different, especially as Germany was flooded with refugees and logistical confusion by the war's end. On the Wikipedia page for Typhus, an image of a pile of dead bodies from the Bergen-Belsen concentration camp during WWII is included with a caption explaining that the corpses were typhus victims; the image would have looked equally appropriate elsewhere as an example of Holocaust victims. (The image has been removed since the time I wrote this; the most recent Wikipedia revision with the image is found at <https://en.wikipedia.org/w/index.php?title=Typhus&diff=656956859&oldid=654525707>.)

In all the pictures of dead Holocaust victims that we have seen, it's strange that typhus is rarely mentioned as a potential cause, especially since it would have affected all sides in the war. Containing typhus in concentration camps would have required measures such as replacing inmates' clothes with clean outfits, shaving hair (to prevent lice), and delousing, which the chemical Zyklon-B was originally manufactured for (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Zyklon_B).

Finally, two interesting incidents happened in 1985 and 1988: writer Ernst Zundel fought back legally when he was arrested in Canada for his Holocaust revisionism. What ensued were two legal trials where beliefs about the Holocaust itself were cross-examined and discussed in a court room, surprising many about how much (or how little) Holocaust scholars actually knew (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ernst_Z%C3%BCndel#Trials_in_the_1980s; <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=MlyPNufutfo>; http://www.amazon.com/gp/product/0970378467/ref=oh_aui_detailpage_o00_s00?ie=UTF8&psc=1). For example, Raul Hilberg, one of the first and most influential Holocaust scholars (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Raul_Hilberg: "He was widely considered to be the world's preeminent scholar of the Holocaust, and his three-volume, 1,273-page magnum opus, The Destruction of the European Jews, is regarded as a seminal study of the Nazi Final Solution."), was brought to the stand as an expert witness. "Mr. Christie [the defense lawyer] then asked for one single scientific report indicating that there were gas chambers. Dr. Hilberg said that he didn't know of one." Newscaster: "A recognized expert on the Holocaust today admitted there is no single report that shows the existence of gas chambers in Nazi concentration camps" (starting at 26:31 of <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=MlyPNufutfo>). Raul Hilberg chose not to re-appear for the 1988 trial after this cross-examination in 1985. Ernst Zundel was ultimately acquitted when the law that he was prosecuted under was deemed unconstitutional by Canada's Supreme Court.

The exploitation of the Holocaust for profit:

There are numerous instances of exploitation by Jews in order to profit from the Holocaust. Is this really the prevailing attitude of a humble group of people who suffered an injustice, and who only seek understanding and the truth? (Books like An Eye for an Eye: The Story of Jews Who Sought Revenge for the Holocaust (http://www.amazon.com/dp/0967569109/ref=wl_it_dp_o_pC_nS_ttl?encoding=UTF8) or militant Jews who murdered Germans after the war (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nakam>) demonstrate that many Jews have been anything but humble over the issue.)

Herman Rosenblat is a Holocaust survivor who faked a Holocaust love story. He received a book deal ("Angel at the Fence"), several TV appearances (including with Oprah), and even a film deal. When his story was found out to be fake, he acted unrepentant, said he would do it again, and gave excuses like: "It was real in my mind". In his story, he was supposedly scheduled to be gassed at the Theresienstadt concentration camp; Theresienstadt did not have gas chambers, and prisoners at the camp were not told that they would be gassed ahead of time (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Herman_Rosenblat; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Angel_at_the_Fence; <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=j30sWlOMlak>; <http://www.theguardian.com/books/2009/feb/15/herman-rosenblat-oprah-winfrey-hoax>).

Another example is Bernard Holstein's "Stolen Soul"; Holstein had in fact never left his home country of Australia. He offered similar non-repentant excuses upon being found out. He branded himself with a fake tattoo in order to convince people, and among his imagined experiences were Nazi masturbation machines that killed their victims (<http://www.amazon.com/Stolen-Soul-Story-Courage-Survival/dp/0646434462>; http://www.fpp.co.uk/Auschwitz/docs/fake/WA_SundayTimes_301004.html; <http://judicial-inc-archive.blogspot.com/2010/08/nazi-masturbation-machines.html>).

Yet another imaginative author, Misha Defonseca, described the fake tale of escaping from concentration camps by living and traveling with a pack of wolves; her bestselling tale was made into a film and translated into 18 languages (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Misha_Defonseca; <http://www.theguardian.com/books/2008/mar/03/news.film>; <http://www.foxnews.com/us/2014/05/12/massachusetts-woman-who-wrote-fraudulent-holocaust-memoir-ordered-to-pay-225m/>).

Benjamin Wilkomirski's bestselling Holocaust memoir, "Fragments", translated into nine languages by publishers, was also fake (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Benjamin_Wilkomirski).

In one book compiling Holocaust survivor stories, one survivor talks about a Holocaust roller coaster (Holocoaster?) that flung its riders into ovens (http://new2.fjcdn.com/comments/lts+true+though+have+you+actualy+read+any+of+those+_d07e5dc584d2a126e05bf6d929b4421c.jpg; http://books.google.com/books/about/Inside_the_Concentration_Camps.html?id=hNrqiylOhYC).

Rosemarie Pence had a biography written about her tale as a Holocaust survivor, "Hannah: From Dachau to the Olympics and Beyond". She had paid speaking engagements over her story. Her story was entirely fake. Comically, her husband who she claimed was shot down during the war, was actually living in another state and was searching for their son whom she had taken from him years ago (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rosemarie_Pence; <http://www.amazon.com/Hannah-From-Dachau-Olympics-Beyond/dp/0615128661>).

Enric Marco wrote fake stories of his supposedly being a prisoner in Nazi concentration camps (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Enric_Marco; <http://www.theguardian.com/world/2005/may/12/secondworldwar.spain>).

During an interview, former Israeli minister Shulamit Aloni said that calling detractors of Israel anti-Semitic is “a trick, we always use it”, as is bringing up the Holocaust. She also says the Holocaust “justifies everything Israel does to the Palestinians” (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Shulamit_Aloni; <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=D0kWAqZxJVE>; http://www.democracynow.org/2002/8/14/israels_first_lady_of_human_rights).

In 2013, an administrator who distributes German reparations for the Holocaust (they even get reparations in 2013!), Semen Domnitser, was arrested for running a $57 million fraud that used Russian immigrants to pose as Holocaust victims (<http://nypost.com/2013/11/04/fraudster-gets-8-years-in-57m-holocaust-scheme/>; <http://www.timesofisrael.com/claims-conference-insider-gets-8-years-for-fraud/>; <http://forward.com/articles/187001/semon-domnitser-gets--years-for-m-holocaust-cl/>).

“Schindler’s List” is a big, high-grossing Hollywood film about the Holocaust (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Schindler%27s_List) and is even shown in school classes (it was for me), despite it being a work of fiction (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Schindler%27s_Ark).

Even though the US had nothing to do with committing the Holocaust, the US government continues to give millions in taxpayer money every year to supposed Holocaust survivors. Second counterargument:

National Socialism was a racist, hateful, and evil ideology that wanted to take over the world.

Rebuttal 1:

National Socialism was a perfectly rational system of government (especially for the Germans at the time), and most of its principles are concepts most reasonable (and especially white) Americans would probably support today if given the choice.

Reasoning:

Before making judgments about National Socialism, it's important to understand what the movement stood for, how it came about, and how it differed from Communism and social democracy (the political affiliations of the Allies).

Nazi policies were squarely against the core ideology of Europe and America at the time: liberalism. Liberalism is an ambitious ideal, as we all know, aiming to spread “liberty, equality, and brotherhood”

(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Liberty%27s_Bell).

Liberalism was a crucial factor in humanity's transition out of feudalism and into the modern age. Feudal society was ruled by royalty, with a narrow layer of nobles and clergy supporting them. The common people, peasants and serfs, had little, if any, opportunity for advancement in society; for example, only those who joined the church received an education. Some groups today consider serfdom to be a form of slavery (<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Serfdom>). Feudal kingdoms provided a basis for modern central governments but contributed little else to progress.

The Renaissance and Enlightenment could be interpreted as intellectual and cultural rebellions against “absolute monarchy”. Defying religious dogma, logical reason was placed above all else.

The French Revolution and Napoleon grew out of liberal ideals. One of the major reasons Napoleon’s armies were so effective (and how other nations eventually came to resist them) was through a more liberal military structure. Field marshals and lesser commanders were given more leniency and responsibility on the battlefield instead of needing to wait for commands from higher-ups, as had always been done in Europe before. Soldiers and commanders were recruited based on ability, rather than nepotism, royalty, or other criteria.

But liberalism and democracy are not perfect political systems when left unchecked. It is important to note that both Hitler and Mussolini were democratically elected in their governments before securing total power. After WWI, when the victorious Allies had established democratic governments throughout Europe, democracy became nearly extinct within a few decades; Germany, Italy, Russia, Hungary (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kingdom_of_Hungary_\(1920%E2%80%931946\))), Lithuania (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History_of_Lithuania#Authoritarian_period), Austria (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Federal_State_of_Austria), Poland (<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sanation>), Greece (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/4th_of_August_Regime), Spain (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Francoist_Spain), and Slovakia (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Slovak_Republic_\(1939%E2%80%931945\))) all adopted authoritarian regimes in that time.

One common argument is that liberal/democratic ideals are the only way to further science, technology, and standard of living, but that doesn’t necessarily seem to be the case. The Scientific Revolution began in the 16th-17th centuries, well before any notable liberalization in European governments (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Scientific_revolution). Many scientists from that era including Newton and Euler were devoutly religious. Carl Friedrich Gauss supported the monarchy (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Carl_Friedrich_Gauss#Personality). Antoine Lavoisier was branded a traitor and beheaded during the French Revolution (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Antoine_Lavoisier#Final_days_and_execution). The Nazis were well-known for their scientific advancements, to the point that the US secretly had Nazi scientists brought overseas to work for them after WWII (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Operation_Paperclip). Hitler’s Germany in the 1930s wiped out unemployment and improved standards of living and the economy, as the much of the West was still reeling from the Great Depression. The 1959-1974 economic “Spanish miracle” occurred during Franco’s rule (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Spanish_miracle).

Liberalism and democracy have often been forced upon nations artificially through war and violence. The Reign of Terror after the French Revolution, overseen by the Orwellian-named Committee of Public Safety, ensured that dissent was quickly and brutally suppressed (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Reign_of_Terror; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Committee_of_Public_Safety). Despite nations in Europe (including Nazi Germany) forging their own path in terms of government before WWII, the liberal democratic nations of the UK, America, and others, forced their style of government onto them through the most brutal war in human history, as Soviet Russia did the same in Eastern Europe based on communism. American rhetoric regarding today’s violent and unsuccessful wars in the Middle East is based on bringing “freedom” and “democracy” to the victim nations, even though the usual result is utter destabilization and chaos inflicted on formerly-stable countries such as Iraq, Libya, and Syria. Democracy hardly seems like a natural goal for a modern-day government when such violence and force is required to maintain it.

And America today, despite being a liberal democracy, seems more like an oligarchical (<http://www.washingtontimes.com/news/2014/apr/21/americas-oligarchy-not-democracy-or-republic-unive/>; <http://www.princeton.edu/~mgilens/Gilens%20homepage%20materials/Gilens%20and%20Page/Gilens%20and%20Page%202014-Testing%20Theories%203-7-14.pdf>; http://www.nytimes.com/2015/04/16/upshot/big-money-from-super-pacs-is-eroding-the-power-of-parties.html?_r=0; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Special_purpose_entity; <http://www.usatoday.com/story/money/2015/05/20/billions-in-bank-fx-settlements/27638443/>) and authoritarian nanny state. Despite having the best economy in the world, huge proportions of our population are poor, hungry, and jobless. We can’t walk safely in many of our own cities and neighborhoods at night or trust our own countrymen anymore. Unchecked capitalism has allowed multinational corporations to outsource jobs overseas and exploit workers, placing profit at a higher priority than the welfare of their workers or the nations they operate in. Wall Street, the Federal Reserve, and our banking system have twisted our currency into one based on speculation, usury, and debt slavery, allowing profiteers to grow rich without any meaningful contributions or work. In one of the only times in American history, children are now expected to lead less successful and comfortable lives than their parents. We discuss government corruption without batting an eye, as if it is a completely normal phenomenon in our supposedly great nation. Politicians have never cared less about their constituents, as their entire existence is more to perpetuate their own careers and sculpt a popular image than to actually get any work done. The only time when politicians might make an attempt to care about the populace is during elections, and the majority of the populace hardly knows anything about politics, finances, or guiding a nation. The NSA illegally collects and monitors every iota of personal data from every American. The media is corrupt, and lies to us and distracts us from real issues. Our country operates in a state of perpetual war against countries that have nothing to do with American national security, including outright support of terrorist regimes (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Covert_United_States_foreign_regime_change_actions; <http://levantreport.com/2015/05/19/2012-defense-intelligence-agency-document-west-will-facilitate-rise-of-islamic-state-in-> order-to-isolate-the-syrian-regime/; <http://www.washingtonsblog.com/2015/05/newly-declassified-u-s-government-documents-the-west-supported-the-creation-of-isis.html>; <http://www.judicialwatch.org/wp-content/uploads/2015/05/Pg.-291-Pgs.-287-293-JW-v-DOD-and-State-14-812-DOD-Release-2015-04-10-final-version11.pdf>; <http://www.cnn.com/2015/12/08/politics/amnesty-international-isis-weapons-u-s-/>). Mass third-world immigration is permanently warping our country's demographics (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Non-Hispanic_whites#Historical_population_by_state_or_territory; <http://www.pewresearch.org/fact-tank/2014/05/27/a-shift-from-germany-to-mexico-for-americas-immigrants/>; <http://www.fredoneverything.net/Secession.shtml>; <http://www.fredoneverything.net/CaliforniaVoice.shtml>), as welfare, affirmative action, and forced multiculturalism hinder native American citizens from succeeding. Political correctness stifles free speech and vilifies people based on the whim of hyperactive social justice warriors. This political correctness results in our cities (most recently, Ferguson and Baltimore) being burned, looted and turned into ghettos before our very eyes, as the media and public encourage it. In countries like Britain, this political correctness even results in more than one thousand young white girls being kidnapped and groomed as sex slaves, while the police and public are forcibly silenced on the matter because the perpetrators are Muslims (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rotherham_child_sexual_exploitation_scandal; <http://www.thestar.co.uk/news/crime/rotherham-dads-were-arrested-after-tracking-down-abusers-1-6807187>; <http://www.telegraph.co.uk/news/uknews/crime/11057622/Rotherham-child-sexual-exploitation-Victims-raped-beaten-and-doused-in-petrol-if-they-threatened-to-tell.html>; <http://www.breitbart.com/national-security/2015/05/22/the-uks-rape-jihad-a-survivors-tale/>; <http://www.breitbart.com/london/2015/05/06/child-rape-victims-deemed-willing-prostitutes-by-south-yorkshire-police/>; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rochdale_sex_trafficking_gang).

And worst of all; these are the policies that our countrymen and our family members fought for and died for during WWII.

In our supposedly great democratic nation, why do problems like these persist? Are democratic governments, and liberal politics based on "liberty, equality, and brotherhood" truly the ideal conditions for a country? To an increasing number of people, it certainly doesn't seem that way. In principle, a democracy is easily corruptible (the mass media and lobbyists hold the most power), and liberal policies can easily lead to universal mediocrity.

"Mediocrity rises over the horizon of a dying race as its last great ideal; total mediocrity, renunciation of all greatness and distinction of any kind whatsoever; also mediocrity of the racial blood-stream — anyone can come in now, not only on our terms, for there are no more terms, and there are no racial differences, everything is one, dull, eventless, mediocre. The weakening of the will is not hard put to find an ideology which rationalizes it as 'progress,' everything desirable, the aim of all previous history. The democracy-liberalism complex lies to hand, and it acquires in such times the meaning of Death — of race, nation and Culture. There are no human differences, everyone is equal, men are women, women are men, 'the individual' is everything, Life is a long holiday whose main problem is devising new and more stupid pleasures, there is no God, no State, off with the head of anyone who says there is a mission, who wishes to resurrect Authority. These symptoms, or similar ones, will be found present at the demise of every upper stratum whose will is weakened."
—Francis Parker Yockey, from Imperium in 1948 (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Francis_Parker_Yockey)

Just like any other form of socialism, National Socialism requires authoritarianism to maintain itself. A truly free society with a limited central government is always vulnerable to corruption by globalists, greedy business interests, or social justice warriors. Politicians can always promise more than they can deliver to get votes, especially with welfare, immigrant benefits, section 8 housing, affirmative action, Social Security and Medicare, etc, all funded through the labor and money of citizens who are able to independently support themselves. The majority of our populace is eager to vote away their liberty for perceived security and safety. It's nice to think that a government could stand for the causes that National Socialism did without the authoritarianism, but without strict leadership to maintain the system and prevent the aforementioned influences from degrading it, the system would not last.

If our government is going to be authoritarian and restrict basic liberties, wouldn't it at least be nice to have a government with a primary goal of a strong, united, and proud nation that benefits its citizens, its own culture, and its native populace first, instead of what we're getting now?

Moving on, National Socialists were also vehemently against Communism. During the Industrial Revolution, Gilded Age, and beyond, workers often lived and worked in horrid conditions, for long hours, with low pay. As a result, communism arose as a popular movement throughout Europe at the time (and as mentioned before, was strongly supported by influential Jews, many of whom (including Karl Marx) were very well-off financially and never had to work a day in their life). Both National Socialism and Communism believed in workers' rights and the negative effects of unchecked capitalism, and both movements achieved much of their popularity from common workers.

However, there were significant differences. The Nazis claimed that Communism's core focus on a proletariat vs. bourgeoisie mentality was unconstructive for a nation's well-being. Both the Nazis and Communists believed in a classless society; the Nazis claimed that all people of a nation should work together for the good of that nation, by utilizing the talents and wealth of the bourgeoisie rather than destroying them.

To Hitler, Marxism was an unwanted by-product from the Industrial Revolution, which came about as a result of neglect of the working class by the government and by society. Society's failure to nurture and accept the working class divided a nation; but according to the Nazis, the violent destruction of the bourgeoisie was not the solution. It's also important to note that bourgeoisie in Soviet Russia (mostly anyone with any kind of intelligence, imagination or talent) were treated more harshly than common workers in the Industrial Revolution ever were; systematic mass starvation, imprisonment, and execution in Soviet territory took the lives of millions upon millions of people. According to the Nazis, those most intelligent, productive, and talented individuals were immensely valuable to a nation.

Two examples of quotes from Hitler regarding differences in his philosophy from Communism:

"We don't say to the rich 'Give to the poor', we say 'German people, help each other'. Rich or poor, each one must help thinking, there's someone even poorer than I am, and I want to help them as a fellow countryman."
(<http://m.imdb.com/name/nm0386944/quotes>)

"While now in Soviet Russia the millions are ruined and are dying, Chicherin - and with him a staff of over 200 Soviet Jews - travels by express train through Europe, visits the cabarets, watches naked dancers perform for his pleasure, lives in the finest hotels, and does himself better than the millions whom once you thought you must fight as 'bourgeois.' The 400 Soviet Commissars of Jewish nationality - they do not suffer; the thousands upon thousands of sub-Commissars - they do not suffer. No! All the treasures which the 'proletarian' in his madness took from the 'bourgeoisie' in order to fight so-called capitalism - they have all gone into their hands. Once the worker appropriated the purse of the landed proprietor who gave him work, he took the rings, the diamonds and rejoiced that he had now got the treasures which before only the 'bourgeoisie' possessed. But in his hands they are dead things - they are veritable death-gold. They are no profit to him. He is banished into his wilderness and one cannot feed oneself on diamonds. For a morsel of bread he gives millions in objects of value. But the bread is in the hands of the State Central Organization and this is in the hands of the Jews: so everything, everything that the common man thought that he was winning for himself, flows back again to his seducers."
(<http://history.hanover.edu/courses/excerpts/111hit1.html>; <http://www.solargeneral.org/wp-content/uploads/library/hitler-speeches-collection.pdf>)

National Socialism was also a nationalistic and racially-charged ideology. Communism had no such beliefs; Communism promoted a world revolution of the proletariat, such that workers of the world would rise up in revolution regardless of national borders or regional groups. Concepts like the preservation of culture and traditional ways of life had no importance in Communism; Russia and China among other Communist nations did everything in their power to destroy old tradition and culture (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Cultural_Revolution; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Four_Olds; <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VITZ-Oyy9Os>; https://en.wikipedia.org/w/index.php?title=Cultural_Revolution&diff=672520619&oldid=670566451)

Communism was also staunchly against private ownership. The mantra of the brain surgeon and the peasant getting the same pay and the same benefits in a Communist society, stifling personal improvement and motivation, was well understood by the Nazis. "You pretend to pay me, and I will pretend to work" became a Soviet joke about the Communist system (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Russian_political_jokes#Communism).

Economically, what kind of policies did National Socialism utilize in terms of running a country? What allowed Nazi Germany to make its miracle economic turnaround, despite ruthless exploitation from the WWI victor countries, and the economic effects of the Great Depression?

Obviously, it is important to note that National Socialism is still a form of socialism; it is highly left-leaning financially and allows for powerful control of the national economy, business, and finances by the government. Money is paid out to certain groups of people based on national policies and social engineering goals. In that sense, it is similar to Communism, FDR's New Deal, or even the policies of the US government today. It is interesting to research how National Socialism might have affected German economics and society in the long-term, and to compare and contrast the effects with other countries that followed socialist policies, but unfortunately there seems to be little material on the subject; my research on the topic is still ongoing.

Hitler himself had little interest in economics; he believed that work and the people were the lifeblood of a country, not money (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Economy_of_Nazi_Germany; chapter 2 of <http://www.amazon.com/Hitlers-revolution-Richard-Tedor/dp/0988368226>). Planning and strategy for the Nazi economy fell largely in the hands of Fritz Reinhardt, the state secretary for the German Finance Ministry (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fritz_Reinhardt).

An overarching premise of the Nazi economic policies was that it was better to pay people to work than to pay them for unemployment benefits. Initially, the Nazi government widely funded public works and construction projects to put the populace to work and improve infrastructure. The Autobahn was one of the results of these efforts (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Autobahn#History>). Grants and loans were also given to homeowners and business owners for renovations. Work weeks were capped at 40 hours (Germany is one of the first countries in history to do this (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Eight-hour_day#Europe)). The laws stipulated that German construction materials be used for all of these projects.

Unions were made illegal; the government and businesses themselves were to be the sole entities for enforcing workers' rights. To some extent, Hitler believed that many unions were headed by Communists who could promote strikes to undermine an entire nation's industry. The German Labor Front, the government organization that replaced unions (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/German_Labour_Front), promoted a way of thinking that avoided strict employer/employee relations, and instead promoted cooperation among all German workers as providers for the nation. The German Labor Front improved working conditions and provided benefits for German workers across the country, including paid vacation (including government-paid cruises overseas: (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Strength_Through_Joy)), a minimum wage, and more safe, spacious, and hygienic working environments. Factories became legally required to provide workers with restrooms, cafeterias, and other amenities.

The German farmer was an especially important centerpiece of Nazi financial programs. Autarky or self-sufficiency was a major goal of the Nazis (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Autarky#Modern_examples), especially since British naval blockades prevented food imports during WWI and because Germany could not expect to strongly rely on trade with any other country. Most of Germany's farmers were poor and in debt after WWI, and the families of farmers often left their rural homes to seek opportunities in cities. The Nazi government fixed prices on food and increased it gradually over time; this measure was not popular with the public but it greatly assisted food producers. Property taxes were reduced or even wiped out for farms. The government financed temporary employment for young people to live and work on farms, and provided interest-free loans and grants for the purchase of farm equipment.

Newlywed couples were given loans at low interest in order to buy furniture, appliances, clothing, etc. To be eligible for these loans the bride had to agree to leave the workforce (which also opened job positions in industry). For every child born to the couple, the loan was reduced by 25%; if the couple had four children then the loan was forgiven. The debts could also be forgiven if the family owned and worked on a farm for ten years. No property tax was imposed on couples purchasing homes. Single men and women had additional taxes imposed on them. These marriage laws increased demand for home construction and other German products. (Sources on all the above: chapter 2 of <http://www.amazon.com/Hitlers-revolution-Richard-Tedor/dp/0988368226>; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/National_Socialist_Program#German_Party_program)

Hitler was a strong proponent of nature conservation and animal rights. The current animal welfare laws in Germany are modified versions of the laws introduced by the Nazis (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Animal_welfare_in_Nazi_Germany).

Nazi Germany was the first to identify links between smoking and lung cancer, and implemented the first anti-tobacco movement in world history (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Anti-tobacco_movement_in_Nazi_Germany).

The government helped to reduce or make up for the costs of its programs by wrangling in the influence of banks and speculative lending practices (<http://www.nber.org/chapters/c9477.pdf>; <http://www.webofdebt.com/articles/bankrupt-germany.php>; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Louis_Nathaniel_de_Rothschild), more efficient tax collection, increased tax revenue from the stronger economy, and reducing unemployment payments. Hitler broke out of the gold standard, since there was no gold left in Germany after WWI. The currency that was printed by the Nazi government and not by banks, was backed by the value of labor instead of gold. For foreign trade, Germany used direct bartering, which cut out the banks and relied solely on German quality instead. I am still researching whether or not Nazi Germany's financial policies balanced out, but even if there was debt or inflation along the way, Nazi Germany was in debt to no one but itself; its debt was not owed to international banks or external groups because its currency was its own, unlike the complicated fiat currency system that America uses today (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=iFDe5kUUyT0> – actual content starts at 1:20).

"Of course we have recognized clearly that the enemy is taking up international residence on the backs of the European nations. There are barely any national kinds of capital left in Germany: the railways, mines, factories, money, gold, the National Bank – everything has been converted into stock papers, which repose in the safes of Jewish banks in London and New York. But papers in and of themselves are worthless – they don't roll on railway tracks, they don't yield any coal, don't produce any bread or goods and don't create or maintain value. They only serve to skim off the interest. If we had a real German State, it would declare all German stock stashed in Jewish banks null and void, it would treat them as the scraps of paper they are, and would proclaim a government of national labor in Germany. Since we don't have such a State, we must instead put up with the blessings of the Dawes Colony [Charles Dawes led the international committee that dictated Germany's post-WWI reparations]. There's no national wealth and no national capital, that is, wealth and capital belonging to the people, to the nation; instead, everything is under the management of an international syndicate of banks. National capital does not work for us on the international scene; rather, hyenas of international finance work with it internationally."

–Selection from Nazi-Sozi: Questions and Answers for National Socialists by Joseph Goebbels (<http://www.amazon.com/The-Nazi-Sozi-Questions-National-Socialists/dp/1880881071>; https://archive.org/stream/NaziSozi/Nazi-Sozi_djvu.txt)

The economics of National Socialism were also accompanied by a cultural shift spearheaded by the Nazis. Cultural Marxism (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Frankfurt_School#Conspiracy_theory) gave way to cultural Fascism (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fascism>). Elevating mediocrity was replaced with elevating greatness; tolerance was replaced with high standards; enforced equality was replaced with a recognition of differences; hatred of the elite was replaced with noblesse oblige (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Noblesse_oblige); "modern art" was replaced with aesthetic beauty and detail; ethnic diversity, whether you like it or not, was replaced with ethnic solidarity, whether they like it or not; and ego gratification was replaced with putting higher ideals above ego. Concepts like family, self-sufficiency, and honor were considered the lifeblood of a country, rather than money or consumerism.

Obviously not all of these measures would find widespread support today, and Hitler's National Socialist government operated on different overarching principles than the modern American government (which is - or at least is supposed to be - limited by the Constitution). But the results of the programs are undeniable; while the rest of the world was suffering from the Great Depression and exploitative banking, Germans were generally thriving and united (except for Jews, hardline Communists and those who profited from the old government), the country was largely self-sufficient, there was a resurgence of pride in German culture and art, families were having more children, and Germany's economic position in Europe was rising dramatically.

However, George Lincoln Rockwell, founder of the American Nazi Party in 1959 (and an interesting character in general), shows that there is no reason the beliefs of National Socialism can't be adapted into American politics, and without having to resort to anything radical like changing the structure of the American government or the Constitution (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/George_Lincoln_Rockwell).

(<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FaCHBmGWcBc> without the music and graphics, the original speech is contained in https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=x1tUFx_StSo; <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Rli3a3OMJEU>)

Even Amazon has been focusing on Nazi-ism in America with their 2015 original series "The Man in the High Castle". Their portrayal of a fictional America that lost WWII and was annexed by Germany includes proud families, respected workers, safe neighborhoods, and a racially homogeneous population (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Pjs8xVaAC98>; <https://twitter.com/TheDroggin/status/654132273982406657>; https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Man_in_the_High_Castle_\(TV_series\))). Are they trying to associate those qualities, now considered old-fashioned and bigoted in 2015 America, with evil Nazis? Based on the trailer, apparently the only downsides are having to recite a Pledge of Allegiance filled with just as much falsehoods as the one recited today, some Swastikas and Imperial Japan flags plastered about where normally there would be giant annoying ads, oppressive police & government forces not unlike the ones we see today, and some misguided people here and there who consider "before the war", i.e. the Great Depression and being drafted, as "free" (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zzayf9GpXCI>). This is hardly solid history here, but it just goes to show how even TV by the mass media makes one wonder if National Socialism in America might be an equal or better alternative to the current system.

National Socialism is strictly centered on improving the nation and its race. One of Hitler's most-used descriptions was to imagine the nation as a human body – in order to keep it healthy, all of its parts must be kept healthy and strong in order to function to its fullest.

"Germany's economic recovery, which was complete by 1936, did not rest on rearmament; it was caused mainly by lavish expenditure on public works, particularly on motor roads, and this public spending stimulated private spending also, as [John Maynard] Keynes had said it would. ...while nearly everyone else in Europe expected a great war, Hitler was the one man who neither expected nor planned for it."

—A.J.P. Taylor, English historian (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/A._J._P._Taylor), from From Sarajevo to Potsdam (<http://www.amazon.com/From-Sarajevo-Potsdam-Percivale-Taylor/dp/0155781200>)

"After visiting these places, you can easily understand how that within a few years Hitler will emerge from the hatred that surrounds him now as one of the most significant figures who ever lived. He had boundless ambition for his country which rendered him a menace to the peace of the world, but he had a mystery about him in the way that he lived and in the manner of his death that will live and grow after him. He had in him the stuff of which legends are made."

—John F. Kennedy, 1945 (http://en.wikiquote.org/wiki/John_F._Kennedy#Quotes)

"[Hitler is] the greatest living German."

—David Lloyd George, British prime minister 1916-1922, upon visiting Germany in 1936 (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/David_Lloyd_George#Appeasement_of_Germany)

"In fifteen years that have followed this resolve, he has succeeded in restoring Germany to the most powerful position in Europe, and not only has he restored the position of his country, but he has even, to a very great extent, reversed the results of the Great War.... The vanquished are in the process of becoming the victors and the victors the vanquished.... Whatever else might be thought about these exploits they are certainly among the most remarkable in the whole history of the world."

—Winston Churchill in 1935 (https://en.wikiquote.org/wiki/Talk:Adolf_Hitler#Famous_Quotes_on_Hitler)

Rebuttal 2:

National Socialism's focus on race supported all races propping themselves up in a similar way to the Germans; it did not support total world domination of the German/Aryan race.

Reasoning:

A quote from one of Hitler's most loyal men, Leon Degrelle (who claimed that Hitler told him "If I had a son, I would want him to be like you.") (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/L%C3%A9on_Degrelle), puts it best:

"German racialism has been deliberately distorted. It never was an anti-"other race" racialism. It was a pro-German racialism. It was concerned with making the German race strong and healthy in every way. Hitler was not interested in having millions of degenerates, if it was in his power not to have them. Today one finds rampant alcohol and drug addiction everywhere. Hitler cared that the German families be healthy, cared that they raise healthy children for the renewal of a healthy nation. German racialism meant re-discovering the creative values of their own race, re-discovering their culture. It was a search for excellence, a noble idea. National Socialist racialism was not against the other races, it was for its own race. It aimed at defending and improving its race, and wished that all other races did the same for themselves."

The oft-told story of when during the 1936 Olympics in Berlin, Hitler refused to shake black athlete Jesse Owens's hand, has been discredited as a myth. In Germany, there was no racial segregation for the Olympic athletes (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jesse_Owens#Berlin_Olympics: "Owens was allowed to travel with and stay in the same hotels in Germany as whites, while at the time African Americans in many parts of the United States had to stay in segregated hotels while traveling."); but this was pre-Civil Rights era in the US, where Owens was still segregated upon his return home, and where racial laws were still in full enforcement. Of the Berlin Olympics, Owens said:

"Hitler had a certain time to come to the stadium and a certain time to leave. It happened he had to leave before the victory ceremony after the 100 meters. But before he left I was on my way to a broadcast and passed near his box. He waved at me and I waved back. I think it was bad taste to criticize the 'man of the hour' in another country."

"Hitler didn't snub me – it was our president who snubbed me. The president didn't even send me a telegram."
(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jesse_Owens#Berlin_Olympics; <http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-1205901/Forget-Hitler--America-snubbed-black-Olympian-Jesse-Owens.html>)

Owens even got along very well with the German long-jumping competitor Luz Long, who reportedly gave advice to Owens during the preliminary rounds. Long was the first one to congratulate Owens on winning the gold medal in the long jump, and the two regularly posed together for photos. About Long, Owens said: "It took a lot of courage for him to befriend me in front of Hitler... You can melt down all the medals and cups I have and they wouldn't be a plating on the twenty-four karat friendship that I felt for Luz Long at that moment." (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Luz_Long; https://www.google.com.ph/search?q=luz+long&es_sm=122&source=lnms&tbn=isch&sa=X&ved=0CAcQAUoAWoVChMI7sCu3YTuyAIV4ammCh1pNA4t&biw=1536&bih=744).

Speaking about East Asia, Hitler said:

"Pride in one's own race – and that does not imply contempt for other races – is also a normal and healthy sentiment. I have never regarded the Chinese or the Japanese as being inferior to ourselves. They belong to ancient civilizations, and I admit freely that their past history is superior to our own. They have the right to be proud of their past, just as we have the right to be proud of the civilization to which we belong. Indeed, I believe the more steadfast the Chinese and the Japanese remain in their pride of race, the easier I shall find it to get on with them."

–(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Germany%E2%80%93Japan_relations#Consolidation_of_cooperation)

The international goal of Nazi policy was separate nationalistic countries, not world domination:

"The fight against [international banking/Jewry] does of course have to be fought internationally, and it would be very short-sighted indeed of us if we were not to support, in all countries, each and every movement which fights on the same front line as we do. But the goal of this fight is never, by any means, a World Republic of Socialism – there has never been any such thing and there never will be; it exists only in the minds of Jewish traitors to the working class [Communists], and of misled German workers. The true goal is the establishment of new nationalistic Socialist states. We also place little or no stock in a united international struggle of nations against the International of finance. There are far too many barriers to such international communication and cooperation."

Donald Tusk's (prime minister of Poland 2007-2014) grandfather served in the Wehrmacht SS
(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Donald_Tusk#Early_life_and_education).

The 14th Waffen SS Grenadier Division consisted largely of Slavs from across Eastern Europe
(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/14th_Waffen_Grenadier_Division_of_the_SS_\(1st_Galician\))).

The 13th Waffen Mountain Division was the first non-Germanic Waffen-SS division, and was made up primarily of Bosnian Muslims and Croat Catholics, who fought Communist forces in the Baltic (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/13th_Waffen_Mountain_Division_of_the_SS_Handschar_%281st_Croatian%29).

The 30th Waffen Grenadier Division was made up of up of Belarusians, Russians, and Ukrainians (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/30th_Waffen_Grenadier_Division_of_the_SS).

Defectors from the Soviet Union and former White Russians were integrated into the Wehrmacht (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Russian_Corps).

The supreme commander of Cossack troops in the Wehrmacht, Helmuth von Pannwitz, declared that any executions or rapes of civilians by troops under his command were punishable by death. Although he had the opportunity to make a legal escape after the war, he stayed with his men as they were forcibly sent east during the Betrayal of the Cossacks, where he would be executed (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Helmuth_von_Pannwitz; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/XV_SS_Cossack_Cavalry_Corps).

Around 150,000 Jews fought in the German military during WWII, many of them highly decorated servicemen and commanders (<http://www.amazon.com/Hitlers-Jewish-Soldiers-Descent-Military/dp/0700613587>; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mischling#Prominent_Mischlinge; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Werner_Goldberg; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Walter_Hollaender).

The Jewish Emil Maurice was one of the first members of the Nazi party, a close friend of Hitler's, and one of the founders of the SS (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Emil_Maurice).

An SS commander blamed for having a leading role in the Holocaust, Odilo Globocnik, is Slavic (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Odilo_Globocnik).

Hitler's chauffeur, who consistently worked with Hitler until his final suicide, was Polish (<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-1245511/I-Hitlers-chauffeur--I-bunker-hurl-flaming-rag-petrol-soaked-corpse.html>; http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Erich_Kempka).

"More than thirty years have passed since 1914 when I made my modest contribution as a volunteer in the First World War, which was forced upon the Reich. In these three decades love and loyalty to my people have guided all my thoughts, actions and my life. They gave me the strength to make the most difficult decisions ever to confront mortal man. In these three decades I have spent my strength and my health.

It is untrue that I or anyone else in Germany wanted war in 1939. It was wanted and provoked solely by international statesmen either of Jewish origin or working for Jewish interests. I have made too many offers for the limitation and control of armaments, which posterity will not be cowardly enough always to disregard, for responsibility for the outbreak of this war to be placed on me. Nor have I ever wished that, after the appalling First World War, there would ever be a second against either England or America. Centuries will go by, but from the ruins of our towns and monuments the hatred of those ultimately responsible will always grow anew against the people whom we have to thank for all this: international Jewry and its henchmen."
